Just how the Interstate Commerce Commission defends this peculiar and sectional policy in dealing with Atlantic ports it is difficult to understand. From Chicago and Buffalo the rates on barley, corn, oats, rye and wheat—the ballast cargoes—a higher rate is paid to Boston than to Philadelphia and Baltimore; and it is no secret that the amount of the "differential" has been paid to the alien steamship companies in addition to their ocean rates as a sort of subsidy to hold them to the ports.

The question of distances from interior shipping points raised by Philadelphia and Baltimore appears to have no weight except as applied to Boston. Let us illustrate by a few instances in the matter of distance.

Distances not Factors.

From Detroit to Boston, 712 miles, the rate on first-class export commodities is $1.23 per 100. From Detroit to Jacksonville, 1,106 miles, and to New Orleans, 1,098 miles, the rate is $1.17½ per 100. Newport News, in the Atlantic zone and 805 miles from Detroit, gets a rate of $1.20 per 100.

From Cincinnati and Indianapolis to the coast the same treatment is given, for while the distances are relatively the same Boston has to pay a higher rate of from 7 to 8 cents.

Let us take the following ports whose initial shipping point is Chicago for certain first-class freight and which radiate from that center to the sea. Distances are given and rates stated; but who outside of the Interstate Commerce Commission can explain the logic of the differences, or say why Boston constantly carries the discriminatory rates?

Port.	Distance from Chicago. (Miles.)	Rate per 100 Pounds.
St. John, N. B.	1,309.2	$1 57½
Boston	983.6	1 57½
Philadelphia	836.4	1 55½
Baltimore	802.2	1 54½
Jacksonville	1,133.6	1 50
New Orleans	911.8	1 50

This relative rate is observed in all classes of freight.

A difference of 300 miles is no injury to the alien port of St. John as against New England Boston; but a difference in distance between Boston and Baltimore of 180 miles gives the latter a preference of 3 cents per hundred.

Why and wherefore? What is the explanation? We know the result, but we can get no reason that satisfies.

INDORSE MAYOR'S PROPOSAL.

Mayor Curley received the following indorsement from the Kiwanis Club of Lynn, upon the 15th instant:

Kiwanis Club,
Lynn, Mass., November 14, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston, Boston, Mass.:

Dear Mr. Mayor,—We take this opportunity to thank you for your courtesy in coming to Lynn today as our speaker.

It is the sentiment of the members that it was the best constructive address that we have heard this year. If the business men of every city and town in Massachusetts could hear the same address that we heard today, we feel sure that it would awaken among New Englanders desire to revive the Port of Boston and might bring about constructive efforts to rebuild New England.

Thanking you again for your courtesy in coming to Lynn, we remain,

Very sincerely yours,
Edward Pearson,
Secretary Lynn Kiwanis Club.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston, Boston, Mass.:

Dear Mr. Mayor,—At a meeting of the Kiwanis Club today noon, it was unanimously voted that the Kiwanis Club of Lynn indorse the brief that you are about to submit to President Harding relative to differentials in freight rates and the whole attitude of the Interstate Commerce Commission towards the Port of Boston. Lynn and other cities and towns in metropolitan Boston are directly affected by the unfair discrimination made by the Interstate Commerce Commission against the Port of Boston.

Trusting that you will be successful in your efforts to get Boston back to its former position in the commercial life of the country, we remain,

Very sincerely yours,
Henry O. Silsbee,
President Lynn Kiwanis Club.
Edward Pearson,
Secretary Lynn Kiwanis Club.

Public Works Department (Sewer Service).

Upon November 5 the Mayor approved a contract with the C. & R. Construction Company for building about 190 feet of 10-inch pipe sewer in North Mead street, Charlestown. A communication from Commissioner Joseph A. Rourke of the Department of Public Works was as follows:

Boston, September 28, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Your approval is respectfully requested of the awarding of a contract, without advertising, to the C. & R. Construction Company on a cost plus 15 per cent on labor basis, for building about 150 feet 10-inch pipe sewer in North Mead street, Charlestown.

This award is occasioned by an emergency arising out of the failure of the builders of a parochial school for St. Francis de Sales Parish to see that they were provided with drainage for their heating system before the time arrived when fires had to be started.

As this work must be done without delay, in order to protect the health of those occupying the school, this form of contract is in my opinion an advisable one in this instance.

Estimated cost approximately $1,500.

Respectfully yours,

Joseph A. Rourke,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Public Works Department (Water Service).

Upon November 11 the Mayor approved a contract with John Williams & Co. for relaying water pipes in Brighton. A communication from Commissioner Joseph A. Rourke of the Department of Public Works was as follows:

Boston, November 11, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—I respectfully request your permission to award a contract, without advertising for bids therefor, for laying and relaying water pipes in Hillsboro road, Dorchester, and Faneuil and Harriet streets and Kilsyth road, Brighton, to John Williams & Co., 58 Wales place, Dorchester, at an estimated cost of $2,058.

Bids for doing the above work were opened on the 3d instant, John Williams & Co. making a bid of $2,675, which is an excessive figure. This company now offers to reduce the first item in its bids for laying 850 feet of 8-inch pipe from $2,125 to $1,499.50, the latter amount being a fair figure for the work. The other nine items in the original bid, amounting to $570.50, are reasonable. The need for prompt execution of this work is urgent, as new houses are approaching completion, and to readvertise would cause an unwarranted delay under the conditions. The work is to be completed on or before December 2, 1922.

Respectfully yours,

Joseph A. Rourke,
Commissioner of Public Works.

CONSERVATION MEETINGS.

At the public conservation rally held in the Municipal Building, South Boston, upon the evening of the 14th instant, the Boston Conservation Bureau, in co-operation with the Massachusetts Safety Council, began a new plan of presenting safety problems of local importance in the community in which the meeting is held.

Traffic Officer F. S. Langille, in his five-minute talk, stated that the street accident prevention problem in South Boston involves automobilists, women and children. The police in that section are trying to cut down traffic on Broadway to reduce the number of collisions, and are asking automobilists to co-operate with them. Police officers report that many women step from the sidewalks into the street, paying too little attention to approaching traffic.

He said that children had no right under the law to play in the street, a fact that was not generally understood by mothers.

The same program was repeated at Michael Angelo School Center, North End. Motion pictures, mass singing and visual educational features are included. The health part of the program relates to cancer prevention and the advantages of fresh air, exercise and rational living.

In conformity with an order adopted by the City Council, under date of October 30, requesting that his Honor the Mayor recommend the adoption of such ordinance as may be necessary in connection with the licensing of theaters and public amusements, to prohibit speculation in tickets where the same are sold on the premises, other than at the box office, and where an advanced price is charged by ticket speculators acting in collusion with the proprietor, manager or any employee, the entire matter was discussed at a conference at the office of the Mayor upon the 16th instant.

The management of the various enterprises declared that the sale of tickets for a performance other than at the box office is never permitted, and that there is no justification for this allusion, and that the reference to the sale of tickets by speculators in the vicinity of the theater, or elsewhere, other than through the legitimate theatrical agencies is objectionable, and that they are in favor of the adoption of such ordinance or regulation as will prohibit such sale as may constitute an abuse of the license under which they operate.

His Honor the Mayor accordingly recommended to the Corporation Counsel the drafting of such ordinance or regulation as might be deemed necessary to prohibit the sale by speculators of tickets of admission to any theatrical amusement enterprise in Boston.

ATTENDED CONVENTION.

Matters of importance were discussed relative to citizenship. This committee is composed of some of the ablest exponents of Americanism in the United States.

ARRANGING FOR CHRISTMAS.

A committee of the Public Celebration Association, Charles L. Burrill, chairman, is already making plans for a City of Boston observance of Christmas. The Christmas committee has had a conference with Director of Public Celebrations J. Philip O'Connell. With the sanction of Mayor Curley, it will proceed to develop details.

The central feature of the Christmas observance by the city will be focused around the great illuminated tree to be erected on Boston Common, with carol singing and other suitable features at the Parkman Bandstand on Christmas Eve. The co-operation of groups of carol singers and other musical groups is expected. Leaders of such groups have been requested to communicate at once with Director O'Connell at City Hall or Chairman Burrill.

The committee hopes to arrange a plan of co-operation by which the usual picturesque singing of carols on Beacon Hill streets may be systematized.

Local trees and exercises may be arranged in Dorchester, Hyde Park and Independence square, South Boston.

It is proposed that an official city of Boston Christmas card with holiday greetings be delivered to every guest at the hotels of the city on that day as a reminder that Boston remembers the strangers within the municipal gates. The same form of greeting will go to the members of theatrical companies that are playing here that day. With each card will go an invitation to join Bostonians in the Christmas Eve festivities on the Common.

The members of the committee, besides Chairman Burrill, are Frank Chouteau Brown, Edward L. Curran, Frank Leveroni, E. B. Mero, William Carroll Hill, James H. Phelan, John J. Morgan.

It is contemplated that the Christmas Eve program be repeated on Boston Common on New Year's Eve, with changes to meet the spirit of that occasion.

PROCLAMATION FOR ARMISTICE DAY.

The fourth anniversary of the military armistice, Saturday, November 11, 1922, commemorates the suspension of hostilities of the World War and by arresting the slaughter and destruction that were threatening the civilization of the earth restored peace to a world weary of war and its waste and wickedness.

The day and event should be remembered with gratitude and its anniversary honored, that the sacrifices made by the nation may not be forgotten and that the names and deeds of those who served and suffered and those who made the supreme sacrifice that freedom might live and the American Republic endure may be kept green in the memory of a grateful people.

As Mayor of Boston I request that the national flag be displayed from every schoolhouse and public building of the city on Armistice Day, and I invite the citizens of Boston to unite with the city in honoring the day and ask that they observe the historic anniversary by displaying the stars and stripes on homes, churches and halls and by such evidences of patriotism as they may deem appropriate.

FIRE DEPARTMENT EXTENSION.

Mayor Curley announces the Fire Department will have an unexpended balance of upward of $125,000 with the end of the city fiscal year, January 31, 1923. He hopes to apply this sum, with whatever remains in his Reserve Fund, to the erection of a $250,000 central fire station at the junction of Shawmut avenue and Tremont street overhead the old Tremont Street Subway entrance area at that point.

Mayor Curley is enthusiastic relative to this idea, which, he thinks, will give the administration a chance not only to assemble in this accessible quarter a good portion of the downtown fire apparatus, but will permit it to dispose, at generous profit, of the various properties where several companies are now quartered.

The houses to be abandoned, if the plan goes through, are those now occupied in Harrison avenue by Ladder 17, in Church street by Chemical 2 and in Mason street by Engines 26-35. Mayor Curley suggests that it may also be found possible to secure adequate quarters for the city Printing Plant on one of the upper floors of the three-story building planned.

The new station would have a 40-foot frontage on the square at that point, which now links Warrenton street, and would extend back over the subway incline about 85 feet, with a 90-foot width at its rear.

The School Committee is soon to vacate the old Mason street schoolhouse, which has so long been its headquarters, and move to its new offices at 15 Beacon street, which entire building is now city property.

Mayor Curley's estimate is that both the schoolhouse and the abandoned firehouse in Mason street could be sold at a figure somewhere about $750,000. Whatever sum is received from the sale of municipal realty or buildings goes into the city treasury, to be used only for the purpose of reducing the city debt.

Within the next few months the Mayor will request of the City Council concurrence in his proposal to proceed along the plan indicated.

IMPROVEMENT OF ZOO.

Mayor Curley has instructed the Park Commission to communicate with Karl Hagenbach, famous keeper of Berlin's Zoological Garden, in the hope that some of the German capital's collection of rare animals and birds may be acquired for the Franklin Park Zoo.

The German Government cannot longer provide funds for the maintenance of a public zoo. It is about to auction off its collection to the world's highest bidders.

Daniel J. Harkins, keeper of the Franklin Park animals for the past ten years, will probably be certified by the Massachusetts Civil Service Commission to be practically in charge of the entire collection, although he will not have the rating of curator, which post George F. Morse is to leave on December 1. Harkins will then be nominated to take up these duties.

Mayor Curley proposes to transfer Dr. Patrick J. Cronin, Public Works Department veterinarian, to care for the animals and birds.

INDORSE MAYOR'S PLAN.

Mayor Curley has received a strong indorsement from representative Boston physicians of his proposal to remove the inmates of the Institutions Department from Long Island to West Roxbury.

A communication of the physicians, signed in mutual indorsement, was as follows:

133 Newbury Street, Boston,
November 8, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—At the meeting held last night by the medical staff of the Long Island Hospital there was a unanimous expression of appreciation of your interest in the welfare of the Long Island Hospital and particularly your belief that the only way to obtain the best medical attention for the inmates of this institution is to have it on the mainland.

It was the desire of the meeting to express to you our willingness to coöperate with you in any way possible to bring about the transfer of the inmates of the Long Island Hospital from the island to the mainland, it being our sincere belief over a period of many years that by this action only can they receive the sort of attention which we have always felt they deserve.

There is no necessity of an argument in favor of transferring the hospital from the island to the mainland, as you seem to appreciate the matter in the same light as we do.

It is our desire to emphasize our willingness to co-operate with you in any way we can to effect this change.

We subscribe ourselves,

Yours most respectfully,

James J. Minot,
E. W. Taylor,
Robert Soutter,
John M. Little,
John H. Cunningham,
Executive Committee,
Staff of the Long Island Hospital.

INCORPORATION OF BOSTON.

Boston was incorporated as a city February 23, 1822, this being the date when the Act of incorporation was passed by the Legislature. On March 4 following, the voters of Boston accepted said Act, viz. Chap. 110, 1821-22, as its first City Charter by a majority of 916 in a total vote of 4,678. Ten futile attempts had previously been made to incorporate as a city, viz., in 1650, 1659, 1667, 1708, 1744, 1762, 1784, 1791, 1804 and 1815. Revised charter adopted in 1854. Charter again revised in 1885 and amended in 1909.

MAYORS OF BOSTON.

In its 99 years of existence as a city Boston has had 36 elected Mayors and five ex officio Acting Mayors. Of the 36 men who have held the office for other than one year or more, five were elected for other than consecutive terms and 25 were re-elected one or more times. Those born within the present limits of Boston numbered 21; in towns near Boston, 8; in neighboring New England States, 5; in Ireland, 2. The Mayor longest in office was Mayor Lincoln, who served 3 years ending 1860 and then 4 years ending 1866. Next in length of service were the first Mayor Quincy and Mayor Fitzgerald, who served 6 years each. Those who served 4 years were Mayors Prince, O'Brien, Mathews, (third) Quincy, Hart, Curley and Peters. Mayor Collins was in office nearly 4 years, his death occurring 3½ months before his second term expired. Those serving 3 years were Mayors Otis, Eliot, Chapman, (second) Quincy, Bigelow, Shurtleff and Cobb; 2 years, Mayors Wells, Lyman, Brimmer, Seaver, Smith, Rice, Wightman, Gaston, Pierce (22 months) and Hibbard; 1 year, Mayors Phillips, Armstrong, Davis, Norcross, Green, Palmer, Martin and Curtis. The five Acting Mayors were Chairmen (Board of Aldermen) Parker, Leavitt, Allen, Cutter and Whelton.

Mayor Otis was Speaker of Massachusetts House of Representatives, President of Senate, United States Representative and United States Senator before becoming Mayor. Mayor Armstrong was Lieutenant-Governor and at times Acting Governor before serving as Mayor. Mayors Rice and Gaston served 3 years and 1 year (respectively) as Governor, after their terms as Mayor. Mayors Collins, Curley, Fitzgerald, Peters, Pierce and Rice have represented Boston in the lower house of Congress, Mayor Peters having also served as Assistant Secretary of the Treasury.

Ex-Mayor Curtis was appointed Police Commissioner in 1919 for term of five years. Ex-Mayor Quincy died in 1919, and Ex-Mayor Green in 1918. (See annual City Doc., Boston Municipal Register, for full list of Mayors from 1822 to 1921, with place and date of birth, years of service and date of death.)

VETO—MOTOR BUSES, EAST BOSTON.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, November 6, 1922.
To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I beg to return herewith, without my approval, the petition passed by your honorable body under date of October 30, 1922, granting a license for the operation of two motor buses on Bennington street, East Boston.

The Boston Elevated Railway Company has today in operation five-cent fare zones on some ten lines and it is desirable that this extension be continued until it may ultimately become the prevailing rate of fare on the entire system.

The granting of the proposed bus franchise in my opinion, might prove an entering wedge, which, while not injurious in the proposed case, might be exceedingly destructive to the movement for a five-cent fare, provided the policy it is here proposed to inaugurate be followed elsewhere.

Respectfully,
James M. Curley, Mayor.

Referred to the Executive Committee, on motion of Coun. WATSON.

VETO—TRANSIENT VENDORS' LICENSES.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, November 6, 1922.
To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I beg to return herewith, without my approval, the ordinance passed by your honorable body under date of October 30, 1922, concerning transient vendors' licenses.

The adoption of this ordinance would legalize the business of itinerant vendors devoid of responsibility to the public with whom they may have dealings and who, because of the very nature of their business, would enjoy an advantage over legitimate concerns who conduct their enterprises during a full twelve months' period and whose property represents taxable income to the city in addition to providing employment for inhabitants of the city.

Recognition through legalizing by ordinance, as it is proposed, merchants not only whose goods but whose character may be questionable is an injustice to legitimate concerns and, in my opinion, should not only be discouraged, but, if possible, permanently prohibited.

Respectfully,
James M. Curley, Mayor.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, before that matter is placed on file I desire as a matter of record to say a word. I do not hesitate to disagree with the Mayor at any time when I think he is wrong, even though perhaps I am not backed up by any considerable number in my view. I regret exceedingly that his Honor before vetoing that ordinance failed to consult with those who favor it. I don't think he could have known when he vetoed it that under the pending ordinance the City of Boston has received not one cent in revenue, and there have been just as many fly-by-night concerns doing business in Boston as there would have been if we had no ordinance whatsoever. I don't think the Mayor knew that there had been but one prosecution, and that unsuccessful, under the old ordinance, and that the Retail Board of Trade branch of the Chamber of Commerce, while they are making a lot of noise, shooting guns and throwing rockets in the air, are doing absolutely nothing to protect the purchasing public of Boston. I have enough confidence in the Mayor's judgment to know that if he knew all the circumstances he would not have vetoed the ordinance. Furthermore, I believe he would not have vetoed it if he knew that the propaganda in opposition to the proposed ordinance came from a fly-by-night organization, like the organization behind these drive movements. They come here to Boston and organize a bigger, better, busier business organization to protect the public from being robbed by these unreliable and criminal outsiders, but the fact is that today there are in Boston concerns called legitimate that are doing an illegitimate business advertising with great flourishes in the newspapers, saying for instance, that they will sell an upright Chickering piano in A1 shape for $50, things that on the face of them mean positive highway robbery, and that certain markets in Boston advertise choice cuts of beef at 22 and 23 cents a pound, when you can't buy dog meat for that. I think if the Mayor knew that those behind the propaganda against this proposed ordinance were simply fly-by-night people, who come here and carry out work on a pro rata basis, he would have taken a different stand in the matter. In the same way, taking the great drives, while he probably does not know this, there is an organized movement through a chartered organization, which started out on the Pacific coast, and which has worked east as far as Eastport and north to the Canadian line. They organize these drives and carry them through on a 25 to 30 per cent revenue basis—getting it in advance, too. The public furnish the money, but they get their payments forthwith. The action on this matter is unfortunate. The Mayor knows me well enough to know that, irrespective of friendship, political or personal, when I disagree with him I don't hesitate to say so. I regret exceedingly that the facts were not more generally known in connection with the presentation here by a member of the Board or letters from business men. The fact was that many of those who signed the letters did not know the purport of the proposed change in the ordinance and did not know the meaning or force of the present ordinance. I knew that. I interviewed seven of those men. They had received a communication from Mr. Greene, who has come into this city from outside representing a so-called better business organization here, and there was also a man named Peters, who lives in Needham and who is secretary of the Retail Board of the Boston Chamber of Commerce. They both refused to state their salaries, and they were the men who were responsible for this propaganda through letters. I have here a letter given to me by Mr. Hagan, sent to him from Felix Vorenberg, indorsing Coun. Hagan's attitude on the proposed change of ordinance; but I am willing to wager that Mr. Vorenberg did not know that the present ordinance is absolutely null and void; that under it but one concern has been prosecuted, and that one of the biggest and most responsible concerns in the United States; that no revenue has been received under the ordinance, while that responsible concern would have paid $200 to do business here, which $200 would have gone into our treasury and would have put us in a position where we could give an additional $100 each to two laborers in our city, to say nothing of the amounts that would be received in all probability from a number of other concerns. I think the Mayor has erred simply because he did not give an opportunity to the proponents of the ordinance to be heard. Personally, I am of the same mind as before, that when Boston merchants cannot stand up shoulder to shoulder and face to face with outside merchants, goods for goods, they are not entitled to any of the best of it. What is the use of talking Coun. Hagan made a very fine presentation of his side of the case, with his letters, but what I would like to have here would be the signers, so that we could find out whether they really knew anything about the proposed ordinance and its effect. As I say, I am satisfied that the Mayor has erred, and grievously erred, in not giving the proponents of the proposed ordinance an opportunity to be heard. I think it may be partly our fault through not asking that he give them such an opportunity, but I do think he acted rather hastily. I do think the merchants of Boston should get together and try to do something workable in this matter. We are now proceeding under an unworkable ordinance. While there seems to be a law on the statute books, nothing is done under it. The Retail Board of the Chamber of Commerce has never made any prosecutions, and with one or two exceptions nothing has been done and what has been attempted has been without effect. The fact is that at the present time, through misleading advertisements and one thing and another, the poor men and women of Boston are being robbed through columns of the papers, by criminal advertising by criminal and unreliable business men. Of course, the great body of the merchants here don't want that. But here is what happens. These men who are doing this sort of thing, men who advertise in this way and deceive the public will join and belong to the Retail Board of the Chamber of Commerce, pay their assessments each year, and you will find that they are not touched, while they get after other people. Of course, many will say that this is Jerry Watson's blather, that he tells these stories, and they will try to pass it off at that. But, Mr. President, there has got to be a reckoning in this fake business, in city, state and national affairs, as well as in business matters generally. The people are waking up. Last Tuesday showed it. LaFollette of Wisconsin, who has been abused worse than a criminal by the entire press of the United States, with a few exceptions, is returned to the United States Senate from Wisconsin by 200,000 plurality; Hiram Johnson of California has won by 200,000; Newberry has been repudiated by the election of Ferris in Michigan, the first Democrat elected to the Senate by the state of Michigan in fifty-odd years; they have repudiated DuPont in Delaware, both for the short and the long term; they have defeated Pomerene in Ohio, a Democrat being elected. The people are waking up, and we may as well appreciate the fact. Republican leadership has gone, so-called reform leadership by organizations who are attempting reforms of others and not of themselves. That sort of thing has gone by the board. We know the dissatisfaction there is with the political situation, both in the Democratic and the Republican parties today, and the talk of a so-called new party. If business men don't change their methods, in two or three years from now there will be a brand new political party, which will supplant both the Republican and Democratic parties. Men like Borah, a Republican—I am a Democrat—men like LaFollette, men like Bayard of Delaware and like Zill of Washington, a Democrat, like Johnson of California, will make the nucleus of a new party, and there will be a reckoning with the business men. The people of Boston are not getting a square deal from the merchants. There are honest people from the outside who will be glad to come here and give us the benefit of low prices on good goods, as against high prices on poor goods handled by some of our Boston men, and they are now to be denied an opportunity by an ordinance that has no effect as far as protecting the people is concerned. But outsiders will come in under that ordinance just the same, good and bad, and will dodge between the lines of this present ordinance, accomplishing what they wish, and the city will get no return from it. We would have an opportunity to put into the treasury of the city, in my opinion, at least $10,000 under this proposed ordinance, besides having an ordinance that would be in the interests of our people. Now, Mr. President, $10,000 is not a small thing in these days. I certainly very much regret that his Honor the Mayor has seen fit to veto an ordinance which, in my opinion, is much superior to the one in force.

The veto message of the Mayor was placed on file.

EXTENSION OF RENT AND HOUSING COMMITTEE.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, November 13, 1922.
To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—Under the provision of chapter 555, Acts of 1920, as amended by chapter 357, Acts of 1922, a Rent and Housing Committee for the City of Boston was created.

At the time of the adoption of this legislation it was not anticipated that housing conditions would necessitate the continuance of the committee beyond a period of six months. However, the daily average of cases presented to the Rent and Housing Committee has been in excess of one hundred and it is desirable, in my opinion, that the tenure of the committee be extended.

HEARING ON SCHOOL HISTORIES.

A communication was received from the School Committee stating that a hearing would be given on Wednesday, November 15, at eight o'clock p. m., relative to certain books in history in use in the public schools.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, for the information of the members I desire to say that the School Committee has already removed from use in the public schools the book of Prof. C. F. Ward, one of the books that we asked to have removed, and that there will be a hearing Wednesday next at eight o'clock p. m. on the question of removing the other two books. I want to say that I have received a letter which I think I should read at this time, as a matter of record. It is from the Patriot League for the Preservation of American History, and is signed by the organizing director, Charles Grant Miller. It is as follows:

November 10, 1922.

Hon. James A. Watson, Boston, Mass.:

My dear Mr. Watson,—I am delighted to have from you the good news that Ward's book has been thrown out of the Boston schools. This is a fine victory for you at the start.

Hart, because of his high connection at Harvard, will no doubt be harder to dethrone there, and Ginn & Co., publishers of the Muzzey book, are strong with the Boston school authorities, I am told.

Your invitation to me to come up to the hearing next week is noted; but it looks just now as if I shall be unable to get away from here at that time. If possible, I will come. Any way, I should like to attend any later hearing.

There is now in press a new edition of the booklet, "Treason to American Tradition," which has been the effective document everywhere, because it gives direct quotations, with page references, etc., from all of the accused books. Copies will go to you as soon as they are ready.

With highest regard and best wishes,

Yours sincerely,
CHARLES GRANT MILLER.

I want to state that the Knights of Columbus, through their historical board and the state president of the Knights of Columbus, William C. Trout, Esq., representatives of the Spanish War Veterans, national and state, representatives of the G. A. R. veterans, national and state, the Americanization Bureau of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, through the chairman of the Americanization committee in the City of Boston, Mr. McDonald, and also the national organization through William C. Joyce of New York city, will be represented. The Legion will be represented, and many of the patriotic organizations—Sons of the Revolution, Daughters of the American Revolution, Descendants of the Signers of the Declaration of Independence, and others—will be present at the hearing Wednesday evening upon the question of the removal of these books. I want to say at this time that I realize the task that is before us. I realize the influence of Ginn & Co., publishers. The members will remember that the late Mr. Ginn founded a sort of perpetual peace organization, a peace foundation. He left a lot of money for it. But the organization which he was formerly the head of, which is doing business under his name is perfectly willing to print and distribute histories that are detrimental to the memory of the early patriots. I said at the last meeting that it might be considered by some who are unfriendly to me and those who don't know me that my purpose in talking here on the Edison light proposition and on this history matter and other matters that I consider call for reform, is for personal laudation. It is unfortunate that I cannot impress upon such people that that is not my purpose. My purpose is to waken the people up to the fact that there is something rotten in Denmark, both in the conduct of the public schools of our country, in the matter of permitting unAmerican histories and books in their index, and with regard to the influence of vicious, selfish corporations, such as the Edison and other public service corporations that are run, not as it was intended that they should be run under their charters granted by the Commonwealth, for the good of the public and also for the benefit of their stockholders, as a fifty-fifty proposition, but for the purpose of enriching the few at the expense of the many. My effort in this agitation, I want to tell you frankly, Mr. President and fellow members, has been pretty costly to me. I have been in business for some years, eight years with one concern, and six years as sales manager of another concern. I have actually lost in the matter of business, as a salesman and as a partner in the business, through loss of business contracts, $80,000 because of my standing up and calling a spade a spade. So it has not been profitable to me from a financial standpoint, and I am only sorry that I cannot impress those who are unfriendly towards me and who are prejudiced as far as I am concerned, that my intention in talking here and taking the position I do is not for self-praise, self-laudation, or self-seeking, but in order to keep the fires going, fanning the smouldering flames of lethargy, in this movement to right wrongs that exist. You know this, fellow members, that when we are sleeping and when the great population is sleeping, not only in Boston but the country at large, the other men who represent special privilege are propaganding all the time. When you hit a snake a blow with a stick and you walk away, thinking you have killed him, because he is apparently dead, you are quite apt to find you have not finished the snake. To do that requires several attacks with the stick or with the heel. Otherwise the snake crawls away and the work has to be done all over again. Now, my purpose is to do all in my power to helping to kill the snake. I am propaganding in my way, and I trust that next Wednesday night the public will prove to be as jealous of their Americanism during peace times as in war time. During the great World War, if one spoke in heat or anger, or even in a slightly disparaging way, of anything American. he was immediately brought up to the bar of the Federal Court and stood a chance of being interned, locked up during war time, or losing his citizenship. Now, that is very good and proper, but it is just as essential and proper to keep our eyes open and protect American institutions in peace times as in war times. Therefore, I trust that Wednesday night not only those whom I have mentioned will be at the hearing, but that the public at large will be well represented there, impressing upon the School Board by their presence at least the fact that they will not stand for unAmerican propaganda financed indirectly by the Carnegie foundations of libraries and pensions, the Cecil Rhodes foundations and the propaganda which is distributed through the late Lord Northcliffe, the editor of the "Thunderer" in London. It is all propaganda to bind America to England, and I am opposed, as one citizen of this country, to tieing America up to any other foreign country. The doctrine laid down by George Washington and later indorsed by Monroe through the Monroe doctrine, is good enough for me. We don't want any entangling foreign alliances, don't want to be drawn into the meshes of such proposed alliances through the effect of propaganda on weak-kneed men in high office. I trust that my continued talk will have some effect. I am going to continue, any way. Every time I find something wrong in the literature which is given to our people, I am going to mention it. This is a public forum, and I am beginning to talk pretty well. I know that it does not please some officials, but I am going to go on with American propaganda until I get out. I will be here until the first Monday in February, and if the people use good judgment I will continue. I have no doubt that they will do so, as they always use good judgment concerning me. I am satisfied that we have got to keep up this pro-American propaganda, and my eight colleagues here are all standing shoulder to shoulder with me in favor of the removal from the schools of at least two books published by Ginn & Co., affiliated with the Carnegie foundation, and another book, I think published by the American Book Company, the book trust. There is a book trust as well as a beef trust, and it is represented by the American School Book Company and by Ginn & Co. I think I have said enough to impress upon my auditors the importance of appearing at the hearing and backing me up in my efforts.

JURISDICTION AS TO TRACK LOCATIONS.

Coun. DONOGHUE offered an order—That the Corporation Counsel be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to inform the City Council as to whether or not the granting of track locations and extensions in the City of Boston comes under the jurisdiction of the City Council.
Coun. DONOGHUE—Mr. President, I merely want to say in connection with that order that it has recently come to the attention of the City Council that the agreement between the Elevated railroad and the city whereby the Elevated road was to pave between the tracks has expired. Whether or not any action has been taken since then, between the officials of the city and of the Elevated trustees, I don't know; but I think that previous to the incoming of the next legislature, in some manner or another, the city ought to protect itself in so far as having the Elevated attend to paving between the tracks is concerned. I understand that Chelsea street, over in Charlestown, has been paved, but that the expense of the same has been borne by the city. I feel that in connection with the granting of track locations and extensions to the Elevated by the Street Commissioners, before any further extensions or track locations are granted we ought to have some agreement with the road for the paving and repairing of the streets between the rails. I would like to get this opinion, because I understand that there has been some sort of decision at one time, rendered by former Corporation Counsel Babson, to the effect that the tracks constitute an obstruction. I personally do not feel that that ruling is right, and I would like to know how the present Corporation Counsel will rule on the matter. If the tracks are not in the nature of an obstruction, that will have an important bearing upon dealing with this whole question of the granting of locations, in my opinion, because I feel then that under the charter the City Council can and should retain its control in the matter instead of its being delegated to the Street Commission. Further than that, I think the City Council has been rather lame, to use a slang phrase, in delegating their authority to various appointed boards, one particular instance to my mind being the matter of claims against the city. The procedure here has been of late, where a citizen brings a claim against the city, to refer it to the Law Department, when by right it should be heard by the City Council. We refer to the claim to the Law Department, and unless the person who has the claim against the city follows the matter up through an attorney or by running up to the Law Department every twenty-five minutes, the claim stays in the archives of the Law Department indefinitely. I don't think that is as it should be. I think each claim should be treated individually and in its turn, and I think the City Council is very weak in sending to the Law Department claims against the city. I think we are elected here for the purpose of taking care of the interests of the citizens. That is part of our job, and those claims that come before the City Council, instead of being referred without any investigation whatever to the Law Department, should in the future, in my opinion, be heard by the City Council, who can then make some recommendation in the matter. I believe, too, that a person who has not sufficient funds to hire a lawyer should be able to appear individually and have an equal chance of getting a fair show, instead of feeling that he must get in touch with some one who has influence with the Law Department. I think that those claims rest too long. I am told that unless some decided kick is made by a person who has a claim against the city, the case will never be taken up. I think the people are entitled to a fair deal, that any one who has a moral and legal claim against the city has a right to have that claim adjusted without being obliged to go to the expense of hiring an attorney.

The order was passed under suspension of the le.

CROWDING OF STREET CARS.

Coun. DONOGHUE offered an order—That the Health Commissioner be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to investigate from a hygienic standpoint as to the crowding of cars, both surface and elevated, by passengers, and to take whatever steps may be necessary to protect the health of the passengers.

Coun. DONOGHUE—Mr. President, I just want to say a word in connection with that order. For years there has been a great deal of agitation with regard to the overcrowding of both surface cars and Elevated trains, but nothing has ever been done by the Legislature in any way to relieve the intolerable conditions which always prevail, particularly during the cold weather months. The season is about to come upon us when Elevated trains and surface cars are going to be packed to their utmost capacity by the city, and people will be crowded and herded into those trains and cars worse than cattle are packed into freight trains. There are laws on the books saying that only so many cattle shall be allowed to be packed on a freight train, but there is no legislation I know of, and we have not been able to get any passed by the Legislature, to prevent the overcrowding of street cars and elevated trains. I think if we cannot get any legislation or any relief from the Legislature we have the remedy in our own hands, through the Health Department. I think the Health Department ought to station a health inspector in every one of those subway stations and see to it that only a certain number of passengers are allowed to be placed on any one of those trains and compel the trustees of the Elevated road to put more trains on. That is what we need, more cars and more trains. The service is intolerable, as it is, and is going to be a great deal worse unless something is done. I hope the order will pass.

The order was passed under a suspension of the rule.

CITY CHARTER CHANGES.

In 1854, 1885 and 1909 important changes in the original City Charter of 1821 were effected for the purpose of improving the methods and efficiency of the City Government. The revision of 1854 (Chap. 448, Stat. 1854) referred to the voters for acceptance, gave the Mayor a qualified veto over the action of the City Council, also the power of removal of appointed officials, besides providing for his election by a plurality instead of a majority vote. The amendments of 1885 (Chap. 266, Stat. 1885) were not submitted to the voters for approval. They transferred all the executive powers to the Mayor, prohibiting the City Council from interference with the executive and administrative business of the City. This was done in order to end the inefficiency resulting from an excessive number of joint committees, a municipal development conforming to the traditions of the outgrown town government.

The amendments of 1909 (Chap. 486, Stat. 1909) cut down the number and powers of the legislative branch of the government to a minimum, the Board of Aldermen (13 members) and the Common Council (75 members) being abolished. For these was substituted a single City Council of nine members to be elected at large for 3-year term. The Mayor's position was further strengthened by giving him a 4-year term, subject to recall at end of two years, but requiring a majority of the registered voters to make the recall effective. The Mayor's power over appointments was no longer subject to check by aldermen but by a State board, the Civil Service Commission, and City elections were removed from all connection with national and State politics, no primaries nor caucuses being permitted, all candidates for office to be selected by means of nomination papers. The only question in this Act of 1909 which was submitted to the voters was contained in section 35, i. e., whether Plan 1 or Plan 2 should be adopted, the first providing for a term of two years for Mayor and a City Council of 36 members to be chosen in primaries. Plan 2 was adopted by a majority of 3,894. Charter of 1909 amended later as follows: (1) By Chap. 437, Acts of 1910, exempting loans issued for Rapid Transit construction from the prohibition of the establishing of sinking funds, as contained in sec. 26. (2) Chap. 730, Acts of 1914, fixing date of annual municipal election on the sixth Tuesday after the state election instead of in the following January, as in sec. 32; changing the requirement as to signatures on nomination papers to 3,000 for Mayor and 2,000 for City Council and School Committee instead of 5,000 for all, as in sec. 53, also limiting the number of nomination papers issued to 300 for a candidate for Mayor and 200 for other candidates, referring to sec. 54. (3) Chap. 37, Special Acts of 1918, annulling the jurat at end of nomination papers. (4) Chap. 94, Special Acts of 1918, abolishing recall of Mayor, and making him ineligible for re-election, i. e., establishing a single term of four years, but not prohibiting the election of any Mayor for other than consecutive terms.

UNDERGROUND RAPID TRANSIT IN BOSTON.

The Boston Transit Commission, consisting of five members, two appointed by the Governor and three by the Mayor, began its official existence July 1, 1894, and ended it July 1, 1918, after seven extensions of the original term. It constructed, under the authority of Acts of the Legislature, the following subways and tunnels, the ownership of which is vested in the City of Boston, and all costs to be covered by revenue from same, not by taxation; Tremont Street Subway from Broadway and Tremont st., South End, to North Station and from Boylston st., near Charles to Park st., 1.68 miles, opened to Park St. September 1, 1897, and to North Station on Sept. 3, 1898, costing with subsequent alterations, $4,416,000, the first municipal subway in the United States; East Boston Tunnel, from Maverick square, E. Boston, under Boston Harbor and State st. to Scollay square, Boston Proper, 1.42 miles, opened December 30, 1904, costing $3,336,000; Washington Street Tunnel, from Ash st. opp. Nassau, South End, to Traverse st., near North Station, 1.16 miles, opened November 30, 1908, costing $8,496,700 (including $2,850,000 land damages); Cambridge Connection Subway, from under Park st. station of Tremont St. Subway to Grove st., near Cambridge Bridge, 0.47 miles, opened March 23, 1912, costing $1,465,000; Boylston Street Subway, from Commonwealth ave., near Kenmore st., Back Bay, to Tremont St. Subway, near Charles st., 1.5 miles, opened October 3, 1914, costing $5,327,000; East Boston Tunnel Extension, from Scollay square to North Russell st., 0.41 miles, opened March 18, 1916, approximate cost, $2,450,000; Dorchester Tunnel, from Park st., Boston Proper, to Andrew square, South Boston, 2.26 miles, opened December 3, 1916, as far as South Station, on December 15, 1917 to Broadway, South Boston, and on June 29, 1918, to the Andrew Square terminal; trains of four or six cars are run in the Washington St. Tunnel, continuing on elevated track to Forest Hills, also in Dorchester Tunnel and connecting Cambridge Tunnel from Andrew sq., So. Boston to Harvard sq., Cambridge, while only single or double street-cars are run in the other tunnels and subways; amount borrowed to 1921 for the Dorchester tunnel, $10,750,000. Total cost of all subways and tunnels, about $36,995,000, incl. loan of $825,000 for new Arlington Station, against which a sinking fund of $5,818,710 has been accumulated from the revenue, payable mostly in 40 years from date of each loan (loans since 1911 payable in 45 years), annual interest averaging 3.8 per cent. These underground ways about 8.9 miles in all with total of 19.27 miles of single track were leased to the Boston Elevated Railway Company (which furnished the equipment) for term of 25 years (except Tremont Street 20 years) at annual rental of $4\frac{1}{2}$ to $4\frac{7}{8}$ per cent of net cost (except East Boston Tunnel which was at $\frac{3}{8}$ of one per cent of all annual gross receipts of said company). In accordance with Chapter 741, Acts of 1911, the various leases were extended to July 1, 1936, the rental to be $4\frac{1}{2}$ per cent of net cost after expiration of the first-term leases.

By Chap. 185, Special Acts of 1918, the powers of the Transit Commission, whose term expired that year, were transferred to the Mayor, Commissioner of Public Works and City Treasurer, or such person or persons, not exceeding three, as the Mayor might appoint. By Chap. 3, Ordinances of 1918, the Transit Dept. was established as a regular City department, to be in charge of three commissioners.

New York, $183.87; Cincinnati, $169.13; New Orleans, $117.56; Boston, $113.72 (i. e. with population wrongly estimated at 738,901. Should be $106.39 with population estimated at 789,817 on Feb. 1, 1919); Baltimore, $100.54; Cleveland, $95.75; Pittsburgh, $91.44; Los Angeles, $87.61; San Francisco, $86.24; Philadelphia, $79.60. Figures are approximate, as population had to be estimated. (See U. S. Census Bureau's Financial Statistics of Cities, 1919, page 297.)

The per capita figures are high for New York, Boston and Cincinnati, as compared with other cities, because of their extensive investments in public service enterprises. Boston's debt for subways and tunnels being 38 per cent of the whole debt and the interest and sinking-fund dues payable from the revenue earned, it should be classed as investment-debt and kept separate from the debt for non-productive outlays met by taxation. Hence the per capita net general debt of Boston in 1919 was $67.32, not $106.39, assuming that the population was 789,817 on Feb. 1.

SETTLEMENT OF BOSTON.

Boston was settled in the latter part of August, 1630, by Puritan colonists under Governor John Winthrop. The name of the original settlement was changed to Boston from Trimountaine by order of the Court of Assistants on September 7 (O. S.), 1630. This date was moved forward by the New Style calendar in 1752 to September 17, the recognized date of the founding of Boston. The name, Trimountaine, had been given because of the three peaks of the most prominent hill, afterward called Beacon Hill, much higher then than now. By the Indians the place was called Shawmut. The name, Boston, was derived from the English town of Boston in Lincolnshire, the home of some of the leading colonists and promoters of the enterprise.

CITY GREETS CLEMENCEAU WITH ACCLAIM.

Hon. Georges Clemenceau, distinguished war premier of France, was a guest of the City of Boston, and attended a reception arranged by Mayor Curley in his honor, on Thursday, 23d instant.

The city's reception was held in the Old Aldermanic Chamber, with Mayor Curley presiding. Music was furnished by the 101st Regiment band, and the band of the United States Navy Yard, the latter through the courtesy of Rear Admiral McCulloch, U. S. N. A magnificent assembly greeted the famous French statesman, who received a thunderous welcome.

Mayor Curley delivered the following address of welcome:

The citizenship of Boston in common with all Americans recall that in the trying hour in the movement for the establishment of free government on this continent France proved both friend and ally. Boston boasts many monuments commemorating events inseparably linked with the movement for liberty, but the one monument more enduring than metal or stone is the monument of love and affection which all hold in common for the contribution of 144 years ago through which free government became possible. Without the aid of France the ideal for which good men and women in every generation had suffered and sacrificed would never have become a reality. When the fate of France was suspended in the balance America had opportunity to express appreciation for the obligation incurred in 1778. Like your ancestors they crossed 3,000 miles of ocean to serve and be of service to join an allied army, which, though greatly outnumbered, was nevertheless fighting with that indomitable spirit that obtains alone in a democracy whose inspiration is centered in a leadership that refuses to accept other than victory. We recognize how predominant the trait of democracy is typified in you. Your acceptance of the city's invitation in your own handwriting and on your personal card, and your presence in America without imposing retinue, coupled with your plea for our sister republic, the love for which you hold more sacred than all else in the world, heightens the respect in which we hold you. Republics may be ungrateful but the children of the republics have always memories and do not forget. We welcome you in the name of this city where memories endure and services are not forgotten and assure you that in the extension of this welcome we are mindful of the France which you represent, that has ever been our friend and whose friend we are and hope to continue until the end of time.

M. Clemenceau in response delivered the following address:

My Friends,— I am ashamed owing to my deep emotion that I am not capable of responding in a fitting manner to your greeting.

I came to America because of a great message, which is the message of peace in the world, and for all the democracies of the world, that we may know how to unite. If I had come earlier it would have been right for America not to listen to me, because it was only when America herself understood what was at stake in this European war, then, without anybody calling for you, you decided to come and you came and here are your men whom I see associated with one of my own dear countrymen.

Americans had not been prepared for the war, and although everybody thought they could fight and fight splendidly, which they did, we thought that they might lack the experience in military art. America lacked nothing. As you read in your histories, "They came, they saw, they conquered." I know because I saw your young men on the battlefields, and there they were, fresh, buoyant and good; good to the vanquished, good among each other, good to the poor peasants who had been so cruelly afflicted, good with the American goodness which makes no distinction between men, inspired by that most extraordinary adventure in the history of the nations, the great achievement of independence.

When America made that fight for independence, you understood it was not only the cause of America that was at stake; you understood that it was good for all men, and you fought the same fight for all: and you made that declaration of independence that will remain so long as there is one man living to look for the good of the country. You said, "We are going to be free." I say, my friends, that this liberty is still good for all mankind, and we of France said in this war, "We are going to be free, and we call upon mankind to help us, and if they don't, we will fight on."

Now America had the friendship of all nations before she entered the war and I fully understand what you meant when you came into this terrible fight. I am not going to expand upon the deeds of the American army. If you want to know about them, take a boat and go to France and the story will be told to you by any man or woman there.

As for France, I knew that the history of France did not depend upon one battle, though it is hard to die with the thought that we should see this France of ours crushed under the heels of the Germans. Nor did the French accept the possibility of defeat, but the fact was there—England was not prepared, America was not prepared, Belgium was not prepared, and the French themselves were not altogether prepared. We had to give the youths of our country, we had to mobilize 8,500,000 men, and we had 5,000,000 killed and disabled. We saw great devastation—with 20,000 manufactories destroyed by the Germans because they wanted to handicap us in the future. Now peace has been made, peace has been conquered, and the question comes, What are we going to do? How shall we behave among ourselves?

It is a question that has been before the human mind ever since it appeared upon this earth. The answer is, "Love each other." I hope that nothing but love shall prevail, and now that the question has at last been submitted to such an experience, the time has come—I am not so ambitious as to say for us to love each other, but to behave, to be good if we can, to do better and better.

Now say, "What about the allies?" Germany employed against us the very people she had enslaved; they had to fight and when they tried to escape they were shot on the spot. You saw how that happened in Poland.

Then, is it really so hard to bring peace and good feeling and good actions between the allies? Certainly not, only men must work and men must proceed. Progress, we must admit, brings selfishness, and internal peace and national questions come in.

When you in America fought for your freedom, you fought a strong fight, a joyous fight, Washington and his Frenchmen against the English. You had immense territory behind you; you were fighting for new ideas which you could apply here in this great rich new country—good men, with good hearts, free instruction, liberty for all and good will.

After the war America went too soon because she ceased to interest herself. The war was nothing without the treaty and the treaty was nothing without the league, and then America went away. It was her right, there is no dispute about that, and I don't blame her for not having done it earlier, but I do regret her going away when she did. We were given no warning when America went away; nothing was said to us; no message came from America, and you were gone.

Now, we were old friends, and we might have been patient; but in the meantime, Germany began its military reaction, and what remains of the treaty now? Fifty-seven of our debts have been canceled and so many concessions have been made that now the treaty is of little value. Russia worked with the Germans.

I don't say that they are preparing war, that war will come tomorrow, although every week and every day, I might say, we find machine guns concealed in some places. In the last month—that doesn't mean that war may come tomorrow—they have found these German guns concealed. Look at Russia, in a state of anarchy.

If you continue to keep aloof and allow England and France to discuss and perhaps sometimes quarrel, in a very short time, much shorter than we may foresee, we may see something that may at once bring us to our senses. That must not come. The established conditions of peace which entered into the liberation of Europe must be continued.

The peace that was established by the treaty was in accordance with the American theory. It was not as in the days when Frederick of Prussia and Austria agreed to scratch away the name of Poland from the map. You are the people of liberty, and if you go back to America before the execution of the treaty, you go back upon your own viewpoint. You must remain even if you don't want to remain.

You are the prisoners of your own nobleness, and I say that a great people like the people of this nation, cannot be grand on one day and weak and small on another. You must remain what you are. That is why the French people look upon you with so much hope, for it must be said that you brought with you when you came to France, peace and justice for all. That is what you brought with you when President Wilson came to Paris, and if you could have seen the way that he was received, well, I don't know whether you would understand it—understand how deeply the French people felt this about America. You said then that the world is coming to enter into an era of prosperity and peace. We still think so on the other side of the water. Our attachment and our admiration and our love for America has not changed for one moment. We have remained toward you what we have always been, and we felt confident that it was the same on your side.

Now the moment has come for disillusion, and it is to show it to America that I came here. Peace has been proclaimed, but it has not been applied in its chief conditions. Germany has advanced more and more while the allies have quarrelled. She was to pay her reparations. That has been promised by the Americans themselves in a solemn engagement, that they would be paid. We spent $97,000,000,000 which was advanced to Germany. The German taxpayer pays $13 while the French pays $45, and the treaty says that at least there must be equality for all.

I just want to make you understand. What do we want from you? I should say, almost nothing. Just a word, something to make Germany understand that the United States, without coming back in arms in Europe, does not disassociate this from the peace question. The moment it is done France and Germany must understand that they must live as good friends as ever, and then Germany must understand that the time has come to pay. I do not come to speak, I come to act. I want you not to forget that little France.

Incident to the award of this contract, Superintendent Frank P. Rock of the Supply Department made the following statement:

Boston, November 21, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Attached please find list of bids on proposals for furnishing three Ford trucks to the Water Service, Public Works Department, which were publicly opened and read at this office under date of November 10, 1922. Two old trucks were to be taken as part payment for the three new Ford trucks, one of the new trucks to be equipped with a body.

Permission is respectfully requested to award a contract for these trucks to Coombs & McBeath, Inc., at a price of $1,359. While apparently the bid of Stanley Harlow, Inc., is low, they have quoted on three Ford trucks without self starters, and they have informed me that the price of these self starters would increase their bid $216, making the total $1,410.57, which is higher than the bid of Coombs & McBeath, Inc., who is really the low bidder on the equipment desired by the Public Works Department.

Trusting that the permission will be granted, I am,

Yours respectfully,

Frank P. Rock,
Superintendent of Supplies.

Incident to the award of this contract, Superintendent Frank P. Rock of the Supply Department made the following statement:

Boston, November 16, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Attached please find list of bids on dental supplies for the Health Department, which were publicly opened and read at this office under date of September 22, 1922. After the bids were received they were referred to the Health Commissioner in accordance with his request, and he has informed me that the total amount available for the purchase of dental supplies and equipment is $2,420. We therefore reduced the number of items on the original bid and selected those recommended by the authorities at the Forsyth Dental Laboratory.

The lowest bidder on the original bids, J. J. Crimmings Company, have agreed to deliver supplies and materials needed at the prices quoted on their original proposal of September 22, and I therefore recommend that the contract be awarded to them for furnishing the inclosed list of supplies and equipment for the sum of $2,420.

Trusting that this permission will be granted, I am,

Yours respectfully,

Frank P. Rock.
Superintendent of Supplies.

NEW TRAFFIC RULES.

As a result of a series of conferences between Fire Commissioner Theodore A. Glynn and chief officers of his department with Deputy Superintendent of Police Thomas F. Goode and the Street Commissioners, new traffic rules for the downtown district will be issued within a few days.

Under the present rules parking of automobiles and teams is allowed on one side of one-way streets. Under the changes which have been discussed "no parking" will be the order on West street and a number of other streets which apparatus of the Fire Department is forced to use in responding to alarms of fire.

On these streets automobiles will be permitted to stop to allow passengers to alight for the purpose of entering stores or theaters, but they will not be allowed to wait for the passengers to return.

A number of times within the past year it has been necessary for the firemen to push automobiles down the streets in order to get trucks near enough to buildings to raise the ladders. In some instances it has been necessary that the big ladders be placed against buildings at dangerous angles because the truck could not be set in proper position.

That operators of large closed cars set the brakes, leave the cars in gear and lock the doors, making it impossible for the firemen to release the brakes without using an ax or iron bar to open the cars, is one of the chief complaints of the Fire Department officers.

Parking of cars in narrow streets, which would make it necessary for the firemen to locate a ladder truck in the middle of the street in order to raise a ladder, would block the street against the movement of engines to hydrants in case of fire.

Another complaint is against parking along the curbs where an extra wide sidewalk is between the roadway and building.

As a result of these conditions and the fact that it has taken the crew of Engine 26 ten minutes to get from the station on Mason street to the corner of Summer and Washington streets, a distance of but a few hundred yards, owing to the congested streets has caused Commissioner Glynn and Chief John O. Taber to demand a change.

It is expected that parking on Boylston street, between Tremont street and Park square, will be stopped, and that all parking on West street, Mason street, Avery street, near Tremont, and on a number of other streets will be prohibited.

Fire Commissioner Glynn said: "I do not want to do anything that will in any way interfere with shopping or other business, but means must be arranged for the firemen to do their duty.

"Another thing that will soon be called to the attention of the police and a request made for a strict enforcement, is the attitude of persons driving vehicles through the streets of this city toward fire apparatus.

"I have received a number of complaints that men driving cars will get in front of a piece of apparatus and, despite the yells of the men and the ringing of the bells and blowing of the horns, will attempt to race the engines.

"Apparently some of these drivers wish to be struck and have their cars damaged, but if they know that the municipality is in no manner responsible for damage done, and they find nobody financially responsible for their loss, more care may be used.

"It is a serious offence to delay fire apparatus and a few jail sentences and the loss of the driver's license and car registration may be an object lesson."

PROCLAMATION BY THE MAYOR.

The retirement of the Greek Army from Asia Minor before the military forces of the Turkish Nationalist Government, the expulsion of the Christian population of the reconquered regions, and the terrible physical sufferings of the thousands who have fled and found a refuge in the adjacent European mainland and islands, have created conditions so calamitous that a crisis has arisen that is a call to the humanity and charity of the world, a call to save the homeless, helpless and hopeless from the disaster thrust upon them by the misfortunes of war and the cruelty of conquest.

In view of this crisis in the affairs of humanity in the distant regions of Asia Minor and Southeastern Europe the President of the United States has requested governors of states and mayors of cities to set apart Sunday, December 3, 1922, as a day of special appeal for funds to be used in relieving the destitution and suffering of these hapless people.

In accordance with the Presidential request, I ask the citizens of Boston to observe Sunday, December 3, 1922, as a day of remembrance and charity and give from their bounty something towards the relief of the houseless and homeless of the Far East, calling for help.

James M Curley, Mayor.

FIRE DEPARTMENT INSPECTION.

Fred W. Sykes, M. E., Fire Prevention Engineer, 403 West Lake street, Chicago, Ill., has filed the following report relative to his inspection of the Boston Fire Department with Arthur F. Seyferlich, Fire Marshal of Chicago:

Chicago, November 15, 1922.

Mr. Arthur F. Seyferlich, Fire Marshal, Chicago, Ill.:

Dear Sir,—I respectfully submit the following report of my trip as your representative to the Fiftieth Anniversary observance of the great Boston fire of 1872, at Boston, November 9.

On Thursday, the 9th, at 1 o'clock, a parade was held in which about twenty units of the Boston department and about seventy-five units of immediately contiguous cities and towns turned out. This was the most imposing Fire Department parade that I ever saw, there being altogether over 100 pieces of apparatus of various kinds represented. I certainly think that Boston has a very up-to-date department in every respect and which at the present time is about eighty-five per cent motorized.

After the parade a banquet was tendered the visiting chiefs at the State Armory, where over 150 visitors were entertained and were addressed by the Boston Fire Commissioner and several other department heads with responses from a number of the visitors.

In the evening a realistic remembrance of the day was pulled off by an alarm being sent in from Box 1431, which replaced Box 52 which was in service in 1872 at the time of the fire. On the roofs of all the buildings in the first block burned at that time numerous installations of red fire were installed and bonfires with red fire in the square. These were touched off four minutes before the pulling of the box at 7.24 p. m., the starting time of the '72 fire. This was responded to by four engine companies, one high pressure company, two trucks, one squad, water tower and three chiefs, who went to work in streets adjacent to the location of the box.

Later in the evening three fireboats worked in the harbor under searchlights, and the fireboat headquarters was illuminated with colored lamps.

I attach an official program of the observance, also numerous clippings from the Boston press regarding the fire, which relate in detail to what I am reporting herein. These papers include statistics regarding area of Boston and interesting features in connection therewith of the physical equipment of the department, and some interesting data regarding what is called the "Boston Metropolitan Fire System," in which is embraced not only the City of Boston but a total of ninety-five cities and towns within a twenty-five mile radius of the Boston City Hall, thirty-nine of which are within a ten-mile radius of same. All of these cities have the most modern equipment with hose standards, the same as Boston, and in case of emergency they could supply within one hour's notice, depending on the distance from Boston, over 150 motor pumpers. Thirty-nine of these cities are in direct contact with the Boston Fire Alarm office, and six of them, in addition to their own fire alarm instruments, have Boston equipment in the houses for the reason that one side of a street may be in Boston and the other side in one of the towns or cities above referred to; this being exactly the same relation to Boston that Evanston or Oak Park is to Chicago.

In one thing Boston is far ahead of Chicago. They have a very excellent high pressure system covering a large part of the city and several motorized high pressure hose wagons with double turrets similar to the one recently built for Chicago. They also have three water towers, something else we should have in Chicago. Their fire alarm system is excellent, and they are blessed with having enough money to have plenty of men in the companies, not less than six men on each watch. Their off system, to all practical purposes, is one day in three.

Thanking you for the honor in commissioning me to attend this anniversary, I remain,

Yours truly,

Fred W. Sykes, M. E.,
Fire Prevention Engineer.

FIRE DEPARTMENT ORDERS.

General Order No. 85.

I. Corrections.

The general order issued to the department under date of November 15, 1922, and numbered 83, should have been numbered 84.

The promotion and transfers referred to in sections 2 and 3 of the above-mentioned general orders should read "to take effect at 9 a. m., Friday, November 17, 1922," instead of "9 a. m., November 10, 1922."

Commanding officers will see that these corrections are made in all general order books.

II. Retirements.

The following retirements are hereby announced to take effect at 9 a. m., Friday, November 24, 1922:

Hoseman John H. Barutio of Engine Company 36. Hoseman Barutio was appointed to this department as a call member on November 19, 1886, and was made a permanent man on October 7, 1887.

Hoseman William Pease of Engine Company 11. Hoseman Pease was appointed to this department December 22, 1893.

Ladderman Patrick J. Darcy of Engine Company 45. Ladderman Darcy was appointed to this department October 31, 1902.

Hoseman John T. Conley of Engine Company 11. Hoseman Conley was appointed to this department October 5, 1917.

III. Donation to Boston Firemen's Relief Fund.

The Fire Commissioner has received from Mr. Francis J. Moors a check for $50, in appreciation of the services of the Fire Department at a fire at his residence, 61 Bay State road, November 3, 1922. The check has been turned over to the treasurer of the Relief Fund.

IV. Acknowledgment.

The following letter has been received by the Fire Commissioner and is published for the information of the department:

November 20, 1922.

Theodore A. Glynn, Esq., Fire Commissioner, City of Boston:

My dear Sir,—Mr. Phelan recently gave me a chance to see your very sympathetic letter accompanying a check as a contribution to the fund of the Children's Hospital.

Absence from Boston up to now has prevented my writing you a few lines myself to express the sincere thanks of the managers for the great generosity of the members of the Fire Department.

I have been surprised during the course of the appeal to find out how many people with whom I have come in contact have either been inmates in the past of the hospital or have had children there. I have been even more interested and touched by the feeling of gratitude which they all had for the work of the hospital, and their eagerness to subscribe according to their means when once they understood the real need.

Very sincerely yours,

Gordon Abbott,
Chairman, Executive Committee,
The Children's Hospital.

By order of the Fire Commissioner.

John O. Taber,
Chief of Department.

CONSTRUCTION WORK.

The Mayor has approved the request of Commissioner Joseph A. Rourke of the Department of Public Works for the following construction work:

A sanitary sewer of 12-inch earthen pipe in Cushing avenue, between Rowell street and Sawyer avenue, between existing sewer and a point 35 feet southeasterly, in the Dorchester district, at an estimated cost of $450.

A sanitary sewer of 10-inch earthen pipe in North Mead street, between a point 293 feet northeast of Bunker Hill street and a point 137 feet southwesterly, in the Charlestown district, at an estimated cost of $1,600.

CITY LEGISLATIVE PROGRAM.

Mayor Curley held an extended conference with department chiefs in the Old Aldermanic Chamber, City Hall, upon the 21st instant, when it was determined to appeal to the Massachusetts Legislature, upon the convening of the 1923 session in January, for legislation seeking authorization to raise funds outside the city debt limit, to assure important municipal improvements, and for legislation in behalf of the general betterment of the City of Boston.

The proposed legislation includes:

For a $7,000,000 loan, outside debt limit, to construct a memorial bridge, with Charles river island and campanile, to replace the present Harvard Bridge.

To abolish the tax limit covering current municipal expenditures and give Boston the same freedom in financial self-government that all other Bay State municipalities now enjoy. For six or eight years the present tax limit has been too low, and successive mayors have had to appeal to the Legislature for supplemental funds each year to meet requirements.

To amend the pension act covering city and county employees, so that the minimum pension for these employees shall be raised from the present $360 to $500 and the maximum reduced from present half pay to $12,00.

To amend the act covering extension of downtown high pressure fire service, so that more than the currently permitted two miles per year may be laid, and thus the required ten miles of pipes be put down inside a two-year period.

Petition suggesting a legislative resolution to Congress favoring repeal of the Dallinger Act, by which property owners along the upper Charles river may collect damages in case of building of the proposed drawless bridges, the amount fixed by the arbitration board from which the city cannot now appeal.

To transfer the burden of metropolitan and park police support from the metropolitan district, so called, to the entire state. Boston now shoulders 56 per cent of this district burden annually, and its share would be reduced to 30 per cent if the measure were adopted.

To widen Exchange street to 54 feet at $1,700,000 estimated cost.

To cut through and lay out an 80-foot thoroughfare from Tremont street, near Shawmut avenue, diagonally to Washington street, which would bring the new highway out on Washington street a little to the south of the prospective emergence at that point of the new Stuart street, which latter improvement means in this vicinity only the widening of Eliot street. Thus two radial highways would center right there, tending to relieve retail section congestion.

To provide for uniform hours of voting in all precincts over the state, both in primary and election — the new period to be from 10 a. m. to 8 p. m.

To change the mayoral term so it will begin on the first Monday in January, instead of the first week of February as now. This is designed to give a new mayor a chance to arrange a month after election and get his legislative program under way instead of missing much of it as now.

To borrow $500,000 within the debt limit for fireproofing and otherwise remodeling Fire Department houses.

To borrow $1,000,000 to build new police headquarters, taking all structures on northeasterly Pemberton square beyond Barristers' Hall and to the City Prison, for that purpose, by eminent domain.

To apportion upon other cities and towns of the Commonwealth their fair share of supporting courts and other county institutions — thus trimming down another Boston burden.

To create a Greater Boston by further annexations — such as Hyde Park and Brighton.

To make registries of deeds and probate in Suffolk more nearly self-supporting by increasing their fees.

To apportion automobile fines, now usurped by the state, to the county where a case is tried, each county to sustain all litigation costs originating there.

To relieve cities and towns from paying to the state 20 per cent of poll taxes, which is about the uncollectible percentage.

To raise from $3 to $15 the fee for filing a petition for divorce, and to $100 if contested, and for $100 per day for each day the case is contested in court. Mayor Curley is a fiery antagonist to divorce and deems this the most scientific sociological way to stop the well-known but still popular "evil."

To make unpaid water bills a lien on property and to impose interest rate on such unpaid bills.

Said lands are in that part of Boston formerly West Roxbury and are bounded as follows:

A parcel of land, owners unknown, being part of the private way known as Atlantis street, bounded:

Southeast by land hereinafter described as taken from owners unknown (Lasell street), ten and 4–100 feet; southwest by another part of Atlantis street, one hundred eighty-eight and 81–100 feet; northwest by the same, ten feet; and northeast by the same, one hundred eighty-seven and 94–100 feet; containing eighteen hundred and eighty-four square feet, more or less.

RULING UPON STRAY ANIMALS.

Hon. E. Mark Sullivan, the Corporation Counsel, submitted an important ruling to Mayor Curley upon the 20th instant, relative to the proposal that the medical schools of the City of Boston may obtain stray dogs and cats for scientific purposes.

The opinion of Mr. Sullivan was as follows:

City of Boston,
Law Department,
November 20, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

My dear Mr. Mayor,—Re letter of secretary of the Harvard Medical School, addressed to the Health Commissioner, Dr. Francis X. Mahoney, under date of November 9, 1922.

In this letter the secretary of the Harvard Medical School in part says:

" . . . It is proposed by the medical schools of the City of Boston . . . that the stray dogs and cats of the city be placed at the disposal of those engaged in promoting the welfare of man and beasts by medical teaching and research. . . ."

I assume by the reading of this letter that the writer proposes that the City of Boston give to the medical schools of Boston, by delegation and appointment under the statute, whatever authority now reposes in the Animal Rescue League with respect to stray dogs and cats.

The difficulty with the suggestion is that the seemingly extensive and effective work done in this field by the Animal Rescue League is not dependent, to any great extent, upon its authority as the official, so-called "dog-catcher of the City of Boston."

As a matter of administrative economy, the City of Boston discharges its statutory obligations, as defined by section 151, chapter 140, General Laws, by appointing as constables thereunder certain members of the Animal Rescue League. This section of the General Laws provides that:

"Such constables shall forthwith kill or cause to be killed all dogs within the city which are not licensed and collared as required by chapter one hundred and forty of the General Laws and to enter complaint against the owners or keepers thereof. . . ."

This same section provides:

". . . any person may and every police officer shall kill or cause to be killed all such dogs (unlicensed and uncollared) whenever and wherever found. . . ."

If the Animal Rescue League annually comes into possession of the very considerable number of cats and dogs mentioned in the above letter, it is not because of their authority as dog-catchers of the City of Boston, but because they are well advertised in this community for their preparedness to dispose of cats and dogs and have the facilities not only for disposing of them but for collecting them.

It is apparent, therefore, that if the medical schools of the City of Boston were to equip themselves for the gathering of cats and dogs as efficiently as the Animal Rescue League has equipped itself, and extensively advertise its readiness to receive such beasts, they would stand a better chance for obtaining the specimens they desire.

From what knowledge I have of the work of the Animal Rescue League, I assume that the greater number of cats and dogs disposed of by them are voluntarily turned over to them by owners who. believe that in this way a humane disposition will be made of such animals.

The authority of the city in the matter is extremely limited and, if imparted to either one of the medical schools under the statute above quoted, would be of very little assistance to them. To effect the purpose the medical schools have in mind there should either be a change in the statutes relating to dogs and cats or possibly in their own methods of gathering them.

Respectfully submitted,
E. Mark Sullivan,
Corporation Counsel.

The following letter was submitted by the secretary of the Harvard Medical School:

Dr. Francis X. Mahoney,
Health Commissioner:

Dear Doctor Mahoney,—In following up my interview with you this morning I am now writing to ask if you can bring before the proper authorities the matter of the Harvard Medical and other Schools securing stray cats and dogs for experimental purposes. In this connection I beg to submit the following statement.

Lower animals are used in medical laboratories to learn how the parts of the body work, to teach students about the activities and control of the heart and other organs, to give students skill in surgical operations, to learn about disease as it appears in man and lower animals and to devise means of preventing or treating disease.

For these purposes cats and dogs are needed in considerable numbers. At the Harvard Medical School alone during the past year about 1,200 cats and about 70 dogs were used, but this number was entirely inadequate. This is a relatively small number, however, as compared with the great host put to death every year at the Animal Rescue League, merely to clear the streets. In 1921, according to the League's report, the number of dogs killed was over 5,000, and the number of cats killed was over 44,000.

The animals used in medical laboratories for teaching and investigation are treated in a thoroughly humane manner. All over the United States rules governing the care of animals have been adopted—rules providing for the comfort and sanitary surroundings of the animals and requiring all operations to be approved by the laboratory director, who is held responsible for the problems studied and the methods used in studying them. Further, the rules require all operations likely to cause greater discomfort than anesthetization itself to be done under anesthesia and to be followed by a painless death. Only the director is permitted to make exceptions to these last provisions, and he can do so only in the rare cases in which anesthesia or death of the animal would defeat the object of the experiments. So satisfied are the directors of laboratories that the condition of animals and their uses in medical investigation are in a thoroughly defensible state that all the medical schools and medical research institutions in the country have declared that representatives of humane societies may come at any time and see what is going on. It is interesting to note that Boston has taken the lead in these policies, and that the Rev. F. H. Rowley, president of the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, has testified in writing that he has visited the laboratories of the Harvard Medical School unannounced, that he has never been refused admission to any room, and that he has never seen any cruelty there.

In spite of the great need for dogs and cats for necessary teaching and research and in spite of the exercise of scrupulous precautions against the infliction of pain, it has been increasingly difficult to secure the animals required for praiseworthy medical pruposes. The result is the remarkable situation in which thousands of animals are put to death merely to kill them, while two miles away these same animals would be humanely used on their way to death to teach medical students to be more intelligent and more skillful doctors or to learn the nature and treatment of diseases which are still baffling.

It is proposed by the medical schools of the City of Boston that this extraordinary state of affairs be changed and that the stray dogs and cats of the city be placed at the disposal of those engaged in promoting the welfare of man and beasts by medical teaching and research. Last year in St. Louis a similar appeal was made to the governing authorities. It was supported by the clergy, the local and state medical societies, the Chamber of Commerce and by women's clubs. When the aldermen voted, after a full hearing, the proposal was passed 22 to 4. It is hoped that the City of Boston may be as ready as St. Louis to support the efforts of medical science.

I should appreciate very much if you would make arrangements for me to take this matter up with the proper officials and to discuss with them the details of any arrangement that might be entered into.

Very sincerely yours,

HENRY THOMPSON,
Secretary, Harvard Medical School.

OIL GRANT NULLIFIED.

Mayor Curley nullified, upon the 18th instant, the grant made by the City of Boston, under the administration of Mayor Peters, to the Terminal Wharf and Warehouse Company for an oil license upon their premises, 381–431 Medford street, Charlestown.

Commissioner Theodore A. Glynn of the Fire Department addressed the following communication to Mayor Curley upon the 17th instant:

CITY OF BOSTON,
FIRE DEPARTMENT,
November 17, 1922.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston:

SIR,— On July 8, 1920, the Terminal Wharf and Railroad Warehouse Company was granted a license by the Board of Street Commissioners to keep, store, manufacture and sell 500,000 barrels, or exceeding 25,000,000 gallons crude petroleum in tanks above ground on premises 381–431 Medford street, Charlestown. This license covered a period of one year and expired July 8, 1921.

In July of this year a request was made for an extension of this license for the further period of one year, and as the original grant had been given by your predecessor in office and approved by the former Fire Commissioner I felt it my duty to acquaint myself fully with the facts before lending my approval to a certificate extending this license for another year.

I find that the Terminal Company in addition to keeping, storing and selling crude petroleum is to manufacture the products of petroleum and in so doing would of necessity operate a distillation plant as shown on its plans, for the purpose of extracting from crude oil highly volatile inflammable fluids such as gasoline, naphtha, benzine, benzole, etc., and the various other commercial by-products of petroleum. The products manufactured would not be used as a part of, or in conjunction with the business in which the company is engaged and therefore are not a necessary part of this business.

I find that the property on one end abuts the Revere Sugar Refinery, a plant valued in the millions, and on the other end Dewey Beach, a public bathing beach for women and children maintained by the City of Boston at great expense to its taxpayers. The pollution of the waters at this point occasioned by the unloading of crude oil from steamers and barges would rob the women and children of the district of the right to bathe and deprive the city of a property intended for such a purpose.

I find that the proposed location of this distillation plant is adjacent to great railroad terminals, wharves and warehouses, and in the event of a fire assuming any grave proportion, with a distillation plant and 25,000,000 gallon storage of oils above ground, a conflagration hazard would unquestionably ensue. The size of mains and lack of water pressure in this vicinity would not function to great advantage with the workings of the Fire Department.

I find also that this is a tenement house district of tinder box construction, over 90 per cent third-class wooden dwellings built over fifty years ago, the homes of honest, hard-working men and women. Adjacent to the location is a number of dilapidated wooden structures, formerly in use as dwellings, now beyond repair and in a state of decay and boarded up on complaint of the Fire Department.

With these facts before me, which I feel it my duty to submit for your Honor's information, and with the added knowledge that no building or structure has been erected in conformity with the General Laws, chapter 148, section 14, which provides that

"any building or other structure once used under a license and permit, or any building or other structure lawfully used for any of said purposes (keeping, storage, manufacture or sale of crude petroleum, or any of its products, or explosives or inflammable fluids or compounds), may be continued in such use from year to year if the owner or occupant thereof shall annually while such use continues file with the Fire Commissioner of the City of Boston [section 30] where such building or other structure is situated a certificate reciting such use and occupancy,"

I am of the opinion that a renewal certificate should not issue.

Respectfully,

THEODORE A. GLYNN,
Fire Commissioner.

Mayor Curley sent the following reply:

CITY OF BOSTON,
OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,
November 18, 1922.

THEODORE A. GLYNN,
Fire Commissioner, Boston, Mass.:

DEAR SIR,— I beg to acknowledge receipt this day of you communication with reference to the permit granted under date of July 8, 1920, to the Terminal Wharf and Railroad Warehouse Company to store, manufacture and sell 25,000,000 gallons of crude petroleum in tanks above ground on premises 381–431 Medford street, Charlestown.

I have conferred with the Corporation Counsel and have been informed by him that failure of the Terminal Wharf and Railroad Warehouse Company to comply with the provisions of the General Laws, chapter 148, sections 14–30, and failure to comply more particularly with section 30, nullified the grant made under the administration of my predecessor, Hon. Andrew J. Peters, and by the then Fire Commissioner, your predecessor, John R Murphy.

The establishment of an oil refinery with authority to manufacture and sell 25,000,000 gallons of crude petroleum in this section of the city would be more disastrous than a conflagration or flood and how a fire commissioner familiar with the hazardous conditions that obtain in Charlestown or a high public official informed as to the national disgrace and nuisance created by the Bayonne, New Jersey, refinery, could approve such a grant is inconceivable.

I beg to assure you that it has been a very great pleasure for me to instruct the Corporation Counsel this day to take the necessary steps to prevent operation under the licenses granted on July 9, 1920, to the Terminal Wharf and Railroad Warehouse Company.

Respectfully yours,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

The Mayor also sent the following letter to the Corporation Counsel:

CITY OF BOSTON,
OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,
November 18, 1922.

HON. E. MARK SULLIVAN,
Corporation Counsel, Boston, Mass.:

DEAR SIR,—I am in receipt of the inclosed communication from the Fire Commissioner and you are hereby directed to take such steps as in your opinion may be necessary to nullify the grant made by the officials of the City of Boston under date of July 8, 1920, to the Terminal Wharf and Railroad Warehouse Company.

Respectfully yours,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

LAND-TAKING IN BRIGHTON.

The Mayor has approved the order of the Board of Street Commissioners for the taking of land, bounded by Faneuil, Oakland and Beechcroft streets, Brighton, containing approximately 52,000 square feet, for school purposes.

The property is as follows:

A parcel of land, supposed to belong to Edward J. Finley, bounded:

North by Faneuil street, by three measurements, forty-three and 56–100 feet, fifty-three and 29–100 feet and fifteen and 20–100 feet; northeast by Oakland street, one hundred eighteen and 46–100 feet; east by Breck street, by two measurements, ninety-three and 59–100 feet on a curve of two hundred twenty feet, and one hundred twenty-six and 55–100 feet; south by other land of said Finley, ninety feet; west by the same, thirteen feet; again south by the same, ninety feet, and again west by Beechcroft street, three hundred ten and 77–100 feet, containing fifty-two thousand and sixty-five square feet, more or less.

LIBRARY LECTURE.

On account of the unusually large number of persons who failed to gain admittance to the lecture on the "Passion Play of 1922," on November 16, Dr. John C. Bowker, F. R. G. S., has kindly consented to repeat the lecture on Wednesday evening, November 29, at eight o'clock. Doors will be open at six o'clock.

HEALTH DEPARTMENT ACTIVITIES.

Dr. Francis X. Mahoney of the Health Department has submitted to Mayor Curley a report of the special activities of the Health Department for the month of October, 1922.

The report is as follows:

Medical Division.

Although there was an increase in the cases of common communicable diseases during October, it was only the increase seasonably occurring. Diphtheria increased from 154 to 223 over the previous month, and was the largest single increase for October. Incidentally it exceeds reported cases for the corresponding month of 1920 and 1921.

Whooping cough, which caused some concern in the early fall, decreased from 208 to 186 cases, with 11 deaths.

Three cases of trichinosis were reported, one being in a local hospital and two in the same family, man and wife, who reported eating pork chops in an adjoining city. The eating of these chops may have been the cause of the infection in these two individuals.

Anti-rabic treatment was prescribed in three cases of dog bite brought to the attention of the department.

Although lobar pneumonia cases increased from 29 to 69 over September, it is but the seasonable increase expected in diseases of this character.

Of 14 cases of typhoid fever, 7 of which were nonresident cases in local hospitals, one adult case was forcibly removed to the Boston City Hospital as a precaution.

The work started under existing contract for alterations at the Detention Hospital is going steadily toward completion, but it will be another month before the work contracted for will be finished.

Food Inspection Division.

In accordance with the law requiring at least two inspections a year of all manufacturing bakeries, the work of examination of these bakeries was completed. The completion of this examination places on record a recent inspection report of every registered bakery, and where necessary corrective measures were applied.

With a view to ascertaining the methods of handling and selling cold storage eggs, several conferences were held with the heads of well-known chain store systems, in order that proper attention might be given to the situation.

Court action has been instituted against a sausage manufacturer who was found to be using an added coloring adulterant.

Schick Toxin–Antitoxin Administration.

The testing of pupils in the parochial schools and immunization against diphtheria is being energetically carried on by the corps of nurses and medical inspectors engaged with the epidemiologist.

Laboratory Division.

As compared with September's total of 3,863, there were 4,276 routine diagnostic examinations performed in the bacteriological laboratory during October; 3,554 of this number were in duplicate and 724 in quadruplicate. In connection with the work of examination of swimming pools, a special report was made to the Park and Recreation Department on the condition of water at North End Beach at low and high tides.

Since the trapping examination of rats has been temporarily discontinued as an intensive function, one man, permanently assigned, has been engaged in inspection of waterfront establishments for the purpose of eliminating breeding places for rats. He is also urging that the owners of such waterfront property keep the premises clean and free from debris so that there will be a minimum of harboring places for rodents. It is contemplated that one week a month be spent in trapping and examining, for the present.

Vital Statistics.

During October, as compared with September, 1922, increases were noted in reported cases of diphtheria, measles, scarlet fever, pulmonary tuberculosis, chicken pox and lobar pneumonia. Decreases were noted in anterior poliomyelitis, typhoid fever and whooping cough.

The total deaths reported from all causes showed slight increase during October over September, 1922, and for the same comparative period the total deaths of children under one year decreased. There was an increase in the deaths from diphtheria, pulmonary tuberculosis and lobar pneumonia, while the deaths from whooping cough decreased.

Appointments.

Two permanent nurses, two temporary medical inspectors, one stenographer, temporary, were appointed during October.

MOTOR AMBULANCE PROVIDED.

Mayor Curley provided for a long stride of progress in South Boston when two new motor vehicles arrived at the South Boston Ambulance Station, in National street, South Boston, upon the 21st instant, to replace the horse-drawn vehicles which have been at this station for the past twenty-three years. The two new ambulances were placed in service immediately and the familiar horse-drawn ambulances were discarded. In a very short time there will be another motor ambulance, making three in service at the new station.

For years this improvement has been agitated through South Boston organizations, but never has there been any progress made until this past year when John A. O'Connor, a prominent business man of the district, became interested. He held a conference with the Mayor and pointed out the necessity of improvement.

Mayor Curley promised Mr. O'Connor that he would install modern ambulances in the station and the promise has now been fulfilled.

The passing of the horses is much regretted by the drivers. These horses have been at the station so long that they know the drivers, and the drivers loved them almost as much as if they were human beings. The horses, Tom, Jim and Nancy, will be placed on a farm for a much needed rest. Nancy was at the station twelve years, Jim ten years and Tom nine years. Nancy has won two blue ribbons in the workhorse parade.

Much of the efficiency of the station is due to the work of John L. Devereaux, superintendent. Mr. Devereaux has been at the station since its opening in 1899. Closely associated with him during all those years is Uranus Young, who came in August, 1899, a few months later than Mr. Devereaux. John A. Jennings has worked ten years at the place, Peter J. Curley eight years and Joseph Kelly three years.

LAND-TAKING IN ROXBURY.

The Mayor has approved the order of the Board of Street Commissioners for the taking of land for sewerage works in Gertrose street, Roxbury.

The right and easement is taken to lay and maintain sewerage works in the following described lands, exclusive of any interest in trees, buildings or other structures standing thereon, reserving to the owners thereof the right to use the lands for any purpose except such as may injure or obstruct said works, and except for placing or maintaining any structure on said lands not authorized in writing by the Mayor of said city; trees, buildings or other structures standing upon or affixed to the land in which an easement is hereby taken are to be removed therefrom within sixty days following a notice of the city's intention to enter upon said taking for the purpose of constructing said sewerage works. Said lands are in that part of Boston formerly Roxbury and are bounded as follows:

A parcel of land, owners unknown, being part of the private way known as Gertrose street, bounded:

Northeast by Webber street, twelve feet; soutueast by another part of Gertrose street, two hundred thirty-four and 65–100 feet; southwest by Mall street, twelve and 2–100 feet; and northwest by another part of Gertrose street, two hundred thirty-five and 13–100 feet; containing twenty-eight hundred and nineteen square feet, more or less.

The sewerage works to be constructed are as follows: 235 linear feet of 12-inch pipe sanitary sewer in the above-described premises, being part of the private way known as Gertrose street, from Webber street to Mall street.

Betterments are to be assessed for the making of the improvement ordered herein.

The Board determines that no person sustains damages in his estate by the taking of the aforesaid easement and construction of said sewerage works and awards no damages therefor.

Ordered, That this Board estimates that the lots of abutting land on the northwesterly and southeasterly sides of Gertrose street, from Webber street to Mall street, will receive benefit or advantage, other than the general advantage to the community, from the improvement ordered herein, each of the particular lots within said limits to the amount respectively set against it herein:

"THE DOCKING OF MAJESTIC."

Mayor Curley addressed the following communication to Hon. A. D. Lasker, Chairman of the United States Shipping Board, upon the 22d instant:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor,
November 22, 1922.

Hon. A. D. Lasker, Chairman, United States Shipping Board, 1706 Eighteenth Street, Washington, D. C.:

My dear Sir,—I take pleasure in mailing you, under separate cover, three photographs of the White Star liner, "Majestic," in dry dock in Boston Harbor.

This dry dock is the only one in the world capable of handling this vessel and incidentally the United States steamship "Leviathan."

The ease with which the "Majestic" has just been handled here confirms the statements made to your Board some time ago, when the "Leviathan" was in the market for reconditioning.

Had the "Leviathan" been sent here instead of Newport News for her complete overhauling approximately $1,000,000 would have been saved to the United States Government. This for your information.

Yours very truly,
James M. Curley, Mayor.

THE NECESSITY OF SHIP SUBSIDY.

Mayor Curley made a strong plea in behalf of a substantial ship subsidy in an address delivered at the annual banquet of the High School of Commerce Alumni Association at the Boston City Club upon the 21st instant.

The Mayor declared that without the ship subsidy this country is hopelessly lost among the nations of the world as long as the others have it, and as long as we impose strictures and obligations which are not imposed by the other nations of the world.

We have developed our railroad system to be the greatest in the world, we have also developed great highways, and made advances in other directions, and we are allowing the most important arm of America to lay dormant, and will continue to do so unless we support President Harding on the ship subsidy.

The association went on record unanimously in favor of the ship subsidy bill.

The section of the statute under which the city is permitted to engage in the purchase and distribution of coal provides that it shall not be handled at a loss. Consequently it has been deemed advisable to require cash payment in advance on all orders received.

The Fuel Department in charge of Col. Thomas F. Sullivan, Chairman of the Distribution Committee, is located at Room 24, City Hall, Boston, and will be open for the receipt of orders for coal each day from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m., Saturdays included.

In view of the fact that the coal is to be sold without profit to the city, a price of $14.50 per ton, which covers actual cost of everything, including delivery, has been established.

In view of the low price and the high grade of the coal, the probability is that the present supply of 6,000 tons will be speedily disposed of.

RESTORATION OF FANEUIL HALL.

Mayor Curley has addressed the following communication to Mr. Ralph Adams Cram, the noted architect:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor,
November 29, 1922.

Mr. Ralph Adams Cram,
248 Boylston street, Boston:

Dear Mr. Cram,—I am desirous that you complete the restoration of Faneuil Hall to original Colonial lines and I would appreciate your conferring at once with Mr. Fred J. Kneeland, Superintendent of Public Buildings, 802 City Hall Annex, Boston, so that the work may proceed at once and the completion of the same may be possible during the year 1923.

Sincerly yours,
James M. Curley, Mayor.

Steel and glass awnings are to be placed upon all four sides of the buildings, in place of the cloth and battered wooden awnings now there, which are unsightly as well as a fire hazard. The roof girders are to be fireproofed. Sprinkler pipes are to be installed in the auditorium and in the Ancient and Honorable Artillery rooms upstairs, to guard against fire.

Bricks in the face of the building that have become damaged and apertures now filled with putty or cement will be mended by specially made new bricks, after the 100 coats of paint have been removed by a special chemical process and the old face of the building subjected to a vigorous sand blast scrubbing. Some minor repairs will be made in the hoary structure's belfry.

Ralph Adams Cram has agreed to take the post of architect of the restoration without fee. He was of the committee which studied the restoration idea in the first Curley administration.

Mr. Curley's present course is in keeping with a campaign promise he made. In his first term he provided $65,000 for restoration work, which was not touched then and is available now. The Mayor assured Fred J. Kneeland, Superintendent of Public Buildings, he will somewhere find an additional $90,000. The restoration work will begin in the early spring.

PROCLAMATION.

The President of the United States, Hon. Warren G. Harding, has requested that Sunday, December 3, be observed by the people of the United States as the Near East Emergency Relief Day, the purpose being the raising of funds to assist those rendered destitute.

The American Relief headquarters report that, despite the emergency aid already furnished, thousands of women and children will die of disease and starvation during the present winter season unless immediate aid is rendered by the people of the United States of America. American relief furnished subsequent to the Smyrna disaster has resulted in the saving of many lives, and the same generous response and speedy action is today the sole hope of the Christian population of Turkey. It is the desire of the Massachusetts Near East Relief Committee, of which the firm of Kidder, Peabody & Co. are acting as treasurer, with headquarters at 1218 Little Building, Boston, Mass., that contributions to this most worthy cause be forwarded without delay. In view of the fact that there is to be no organized individual solicitation for funds, I sincerely trust that everyone in a position to do so, will in a spirit of gratitude for the blessings which we in America enjoy as a consequence of the peace and prosperity that Almighty God has granted us, aid those desperately in need in whose behalf the President of the United States now appeals.

James M. Curley, Mayor.

LETTER OF CONGRATULATION.

The Mayor has approved, with the indorsement of the Corporation Counsel, the following claims:

REJECTION OF CLAIMS.

Hon. E. Mark Sullivan, the Corporation Counsel, states the Law Department has disapproved thirty-three claims against the city, in twenty-three of which no amounts were specified, and the other ten aggregated $935.25, and are classified as follows:

Against the Fire Department, two, in one of which no amount was specified, and the other one amounted to $40.51; against the Hospital Department, three, amounting to $88.50; against the Park and Recreation Department, one, in which no amount was specified; against the Police Department, two, in one of which no amount was specified, and the other one amounted to $12; against the Public Buildings Department, one, amounting to $6; against the Public Works Department, twenty-two, in eighteen of which no amounts were specified, and the other four amounted to $795.24; against the Schoolhouse Department, two, in which no amounts were specified.

INCORPORATION OF BOSTON.

Boston was incorporated as a city February 23, 1822, this being the date when the Act of incorporation was passed by the Legislature. On March 4 following, the voters of Boston accepted said Act, viz. Chap. 110, 1821-22, as its first City Charter by a majority of 916 in a total vote of 4,678. Ten futile attempts had previously been made to incorporate as a city, viz., in 1650, 1659, 1667, 1708, 1744, 1762, 1784, 1791, 1804 and 1815. Revised charter adopted in 1854. Charter again revised in 1885 and amended in 1909.

SMALLPOX — A WARNING.

BY FRANCIS X. MAHONEY, M. D., COMMISSIONER OF HEALTH.

For over twenty years the prevailing type of smallpox in this country has been mild and not highly contagious. Out of thousands of cases that have occurred every year the deaths have been comparatively few. History shows that as time goes on a mild type of smallpox may tend to become virulent. Apparently this is now taking place with respect to the type of the disease which has been prevalent in this country. Last year in certain localities smallpox showed a marked increase in mortality.

For twenty years Boston has been fortunate in escaping a serious smallpox epidemic. During this time the disease has prevailed now and then in neighboring states. Practically every winter the Boston Health Department has found some cases of smallpox in Boston for which it has had to provide hospital care.

On the discovery of such a case the Health Department has made strenuous efforts to prevent the spread of the disease. It has carefully traced, vaccinated and kept under observation hundreds of people whom a person with smallpox had possibly exposed to infection. The energetic measures taken by the Health Department in such cases have undoubtedly been effective to a certain extent in preventing the spread of smallpox in the city, but the futility of depending on such procedures when a case of smallpox is discovered is apparent when the manner in which cases actually come to the attention of the Health Department is considered.

The following actual instances will serve as examples:

We are notified that it has just been discovered by the health authorities in an adjoining town that a resident of that town has smallpox and has been sick at least a week. It is characteristic of smallpox that after feeling sick enough probably to stay at home for twenty-four or forty-eight hours a remission occurs in the disease. The temperature falls and the person feels so much better that he goes back to work or, worse yet, proceeds to take a little recreation by traveling about, visiting, or going to the theater. The smallpox pimples begin to appear at this stage, but it may be a day or two or longer before he begins to pay serious attention to the pimples, or feels sick enough to remain at home. In the specific case to which we are referring the patient went out as usual to seek recreation during this stage of remission. He rode in street cars, visited friends in several towns around Boston, came into Boston and had a haircut and shave in a first-class barber shop, and had dinner in a hotel restaurant in Boston. A remarkably large number of people with whom he came in contact were actually located and kept under observation by the various municipal health authorities concerned, but it was of course impossible to locate them all.

Another man was discovered to have smallpox after he had been sick with the disease for two weeks. He lived in a boarding house and had been receiving visitors freely and, his remission occurring during Holy Week, he took advantage of the abatement of symptoms to visit seven crowded churches in one evening.

Another instance is that of a practising physician called to attend a child. He suspects smallpox and notifies the Health Department. Investigation shows that not only the child but the mother also has smallpox and that both had contracted the disease from the husband and father, who was home for a few days about two weeks before with what was a mild, unrecognized case of smallpox. The man had returned to his place of employment, a prominent hotel, where his duties had brought him in contact not only with fellow employees but with guests from all over the country.

Neither of these cases gave rise to any serious outbreak of smallpox. To what extent they may have given rise to cases which we never discovered we do not know. It has not, however, been an unusual occurrence for the Health Department to discover in Boston a case of smallpox in an individual who must have contracted the disease from some unknown person whom the Health Department has never been able to locate.

From what has been stated above it might be inferred that smallpox is not a highly contagious disease, but here is another experience. Within a few years a Boston hospital admitted a patient suffering from a complication of diseases. Among them was a beginning case of smallpox which was not immediately recognized, and as a result ten employees and patients in the hospital came down with smallpox.

A sailor suffering from a severe form of smallpox was removed from an arriving ship to the contagious department of a general hospital in a Canadian seaport. The case was recognized as smallpox before removal from the ship and it was supposed that the case was being handled with precautions sufficient to prevent the spread of the disease. Through an accident, however, infection got into the general population of the city and as a result, while no other cases occurred at the hospital, there were over eighty cases in the city and of these about forty were fatal.

While it is undoubtedly true that the severer forms of smallpox are more highly contagious than the milder type, it is safe to say that the only reason why Boston and other eastern cities have not in the last twenty years been afflicted with smallpox epidemics like those from which our western cities have suffered is because of the higher percentage of people in the eastern United States who have been successfully vaccinated at least once in their lives. An outbreak of smallpox never has been and never can be controlled except by vaccination. The likelihood that a person sick with smallpox will travel about in public conveyances while in perhaps the most contagious stage of the disease shows the futility of trying to control smallpox by the isolation of the sick and by attempting to round up those whom he may have exposed to infection. On the other hand, every vaccinated person in the population effectively breaks a possible chain of infection.

The open season for smallpox is now at hand. There is every reason to believe that persons in a contagious stage of smallpox will be found riding in our street cars, dining in our restaurants, and patronizing our barber shops this winter. The chances that you will sit alongside a smallpox case or follow one into a barber's chair appear now to be small. If your chances of exposure are greatly increased, you will of course know of it from the Health Department, but do not be misled by an idea that smallpox contagion is any respector of persons or of a sanitary environment. You may be exposed to smallpox infection here tomorrow. Our stray cases of smallpox in Boston do not occur among the "poorer classes." They are more likely to be protected by vaccination than others. If you are protected against smallpox by vaccination you need not care if you do ride home with an active case of smallpox tomorrow night. Your family need not care either. The chances of your taking the disease home in your clothes are hardly worth taking into account. If you are protected by vaccination you not only protect yourself but protect even the unvaccinated members of your household by not transmitting the disease to them. If you are unvaccinated and do come down with smallpox, the disease in all probability will not be recognized until you have exposed your family to possible infection.

If you are not sure you are protected against smallpox why not get vaccinated now as a duty not only to yourself but to your family and the public?

SHORTAGE OF TURKEYS.

Mayor Curley addressed the following telegram to Attorney General Daugherty at Washington, relative to the shortage of turkeys, upon the 28th ultimo:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor,
November 28, 1922.

Hon. Harry M. Daugherty, Attorney General, Department of Justice,
Washington, D. C.:

Dear Sir,—An investigation by the Boston Superintendent of Markets and the Boston Health Commissioner discloses the fact that apparently an absolute shortage of turkeys has been artificially created until within the last seventy-two hours with the result that the price of turkeys at retail ranges from 60 cents in the case of cold storage to 80 cents for fresh killed Northern turkeys.

The market price in the case of this product is unquestionably determined by the Big Four, so called, Western packers, and it is inconceivable that this price would be possible to maintain in view of the reduction of more than 30 per cent in the price of corn as against last year, unless the maintained price was due to an agreement which is clearly in violation of the Sherman Anti-Trust Act.

With a view to providing some measure of protection to the people from further raids, this matter is referred for your attention.

James M. Curley, Mayor.

DEDICATION OF AMBULANCE STATION.

The South Boston Ambulance Station on National street which has been thoroughly renovated and equipped with three new motor vehicles, replacing the horse-drawn machines at this station since 1899, was dedicated by Mayor Curley upon the 28th ultimo. Hundreds of residents of the district visited the station. The new vehicles caused much favorable comment. The progress in this direction had been agitated many years and Mayor Curley succeeded in putting through the appropriation.

The station is owned by the City and the activity of the ambulances is not restricted to South Boston. They will go anywhere to convey persons who are ill or injured to hospitals or institutions.

The Mayor was met at Dorchester street and West Broadway by a group of leading residents of the district. At the station he was accorded an ovation. The bells on the ambulances were sounded. The Mayor referred to the value of the ambulances. He took occasion to pay tribute to the Carney Hospital directors for the wonderful assistance it is giving to the city.

Later he went to the out-patient department of the institution, where he met hundreds of local residents, including many women. He spoke in praise of the Sisters of Charity. He said that if the hospitals and schools provided by the Catholics were taken over by the city they would aggregate about $57,000.000.

Dr. Edward J. Denning, the master of ceremonies, thanked the Mayor for his interest in South Boston and characterized him as the best Mayor Boston has ever had. Daniel Lyons, assistant district attorney, eulogized the Sisters of Charity. Dr. Daniel Mahoney was also a speaker.

Among those in attendance were John A. O'Connor, chairman for the celebration; City Councilors James T. Moriarty, George Gilbody and James A. Watson; Senators John W. McCormack and John J. Carey; representatives Joseph D. Toomey and Maurice E. Foley; Dr. William H. Griffin, Dr. William T. Flynn, Dr. Paul J. Jakmauh, Dr. Frank G. Miniter, Dr. Joseph V. Lyons, Hon. Edward D. Collins, Capt. John J. Lydon, Edward G. Lennon, Alfred J. L. Ford, Walter Donovan, Dennis Collins, John L. Devereaux, Timothy J. Shea, Joseph Kelly, Alfred Tucker, Thomas O'Rourke, Uranus Young, Peter Curley, Thomas Ryan, Mr. and Mrs. John J. Curley, Fred J. Kneeland, Dr. William P. Cross, Walter Nolan, Dr. P. V. Brunnick, Dr. Paul Bruning, Dr. B. Odient, Brig.-Gen. John H. Dunn, Dr. John C. Seymour, John Kalinauskas and Dr. E. T. Harrington.

The program was continued in the evening. There was an excellent concert in Bethesda Hall, West Broadway, by talent from theaters of the city.

DEMAND FOR GAS PROTECTION.

Mayor Curley addressed the following communication to Hon. Henry C. Attwill, chairman of the Department of Public Utilities, State House, relative to the necessity of a gas investigation in Boston, upon the 29th ultimo.

City of Boston.
Office of the Mayor.
November 29, 1922.

Hon. Henry C. Attwill, Chairman, Department of Public Utilities, State House, Boston:

Dear Sir,—The frequency with which deaths due to gas poisoning have been occurring in Boston during the past year, in fact throughout the entire state, and to which the attention of our Building Department was directed earlier in the year with a view to the adoption of such measures as would protect the public from the menace contained in the form of gas that is being distributed and the methods of distribution of the same, namely, meters and methods of connection, etc., prompts me to suggest an investigation by your Board as to ways and means of providing adequate protection for the consumers of gas. I beg to say further that I have this day directed the Corporation Counsel to prepare the necessary legislation for the licensing of all gasfitters by state authorities, so that the responsibility for loss of human life may be centered where it properly belongs, in an agency beyond the control of the municipality.

With very kindest wishes,

Sincerely yours,

James M. Curley, Mayor.

LAND=TAKING IN DORCHESTER.

VETO MESSAGE.

Mayor Curley believes in the eventual adoption for Boston of the Federal Government system of thirty-day leaves of absence, with pay, for all city and county employees of whatever rating, this period to embody the regular two weeks' vacation and, when necessary, sick leaves of varying length, but the total sick leave not to exceed two weeks in any year.

The Mayor vetoed the City Council resolution asking that he petition the Legislature for power enabling the city to pay wages of all day laborers, clerks and other employees for a period not exceeding thirty days a year, in case of absence due to illness.

Mayor Curley's veto message was as follows:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor,
November 27, 1922.

To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I beg to return herewith without my approval order of your Board adopted under date of November 13, requesting that I petition for legislation which would enable the city to pay the wages of all employees on a per diem basis for not exceeding thirty days in any one fiscal year in case of absence due to illness.

I beg to state that all persons in the service of the city now enjoy a two weeks' vacation without loss of pay and likewise leave of absence on all holidays and Saturday afternoons without loss of pay. The adoption of the recent pension act which becomes operative in February provides a pension equivalent to nearly 40 per cent of the annual wages paid to all persons in the employ of the city when through physical disability or advancing years they become eligible for retirement. A guaranty of permanent employment coupled with a protection against old age or physical disability and the privileges which are enjoyed by persons in the employ of the city, while rendering that service extremely attractive, has never been sufficient to offset the rule which requires that overtime work on the part of an employee receive additional compensation.

I am as greatly interested in the maintenance of a day labor system in the city service and as bitterly opposed to the introduction of the contract system as any member of the government, yet I recognize that the best way to safeguard the present day labor system lies in a refusal to impose additional obligations upon the taxpayer and thereby compel the substitution of the contract system with all its inequities for the genuine and highly desirable American system which at present obtains.

Respectfully,
James M. Curley, Mayor.

MEDALS FOR BRAVERY.

REPORT OF CREDIT UNION.

Mayor Curley received a report relative to the service of the City of Boston Employees' Credit Union, upon the 27th ultimo:

109 City Hall Annex, Boston,
November 27, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—At the annual meeting of the City of Boston Employees' Credit Union, held November 21, reports were made by the supervisory and credit committees and board of directors on the activities of the Credit Union for the year ending October 31, 1922.

The reports showed the Credit Union to be in excellent condition, as will be seen from the following:

There are at present 1,064 members, of whom 514 are borrowers at the present time. The amount loaned during the year to members was $78,377, at an average of $152.50 to each borrower. There are outstanding, but not due, loans to the amount of $38,557. The total amount loaned since incorporation, November 15, 1915, is $336,049. The total lost since organization is $421, plus $1,600 borrowed by police officers who because of the loss of positions due to the police strike were unable to meet their obligations.

This exceptional record is a tribute to the character and honesty of men and women in the city service and is a splendid proof of the appreciation which all have for a service rendered by a Credit Union, the real test being a total loss of less than ⅛ of 1 per cent in a period of seven years. That the thrift habit has been encouraged and developed as a consequence of the creation of the Credit Union, which was established in 1915, on the initiative of the then Mayor, Hon. James M. Curley, is evidenced by the fact that there are 514 borrowers at the present time and apparently no city employee in the hands of the sharks, as against a total of 3,200 victims of the loan shark practice in 1915.

There is at present in the guaranty fund $1,667, and in undivided earnings account $4,795. In addition, $4,000 in cash is deposited in banks as a reserve fund for emergencies.

Dividends have been declared annually at the rate of 6 per cent per annum. Interest on deposits is allowed at the rate of 6 per cent per annum, and as proof that this rate of interest is appreciated there is in the deposit account $29,300, which is evidence of thrift on the part of many city employees.

No reasonable request for a loan is refused and the officers have no knowledge of any employee having occasion to apply for a loan to the so-called loan sharks.

Thomas Jordan, Vice President.
Christopher I. Fitzgerald, Clerk.
J. George Herlihy, Treasurer.

ENFORCEMENT OF BUILDING LAW.

Mayor Curley received a communication from Hon. E. Mark Sullivan, Corporation Counsel, relative to the enforcement of the building law, upon the 27th ultimo.

Mr. Sullivan's letter was as follows:

CITY OF BOSTON,
LAW DEPARTMENT,
November 27, 1922.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston:

HONORED SIR,—Because of a suggestion from your office that some report be made to you regarding the enforcement of the building law requiring fire escapes upon certain buildings within the city, I respectfully submit the following report:

For a long time there have been pending both in the Building Department and in this department a great number of reported violations of the egress laws, mainly with respect to the neglect of property owners to build fire escapes for their buildings. At the suggestion of your Honor I took up with Building Commissioner Mahony the consideration of these cases. Though easily susceptible of neglect in the rush and almost imperative demand of other matters, there is no denial that an adequate enforcement of this law is essential to the protection of human life. Upon investigation, it is clear to me that the average owner regards the fire escape law such as might be observed in the breach only, for many notices from the Building Department are only ignored by them. Upon the appointment of Leo Schwartz, Assistant Corporation Counsel, I assigned him specially to the duty of the enforcement of the fire escape law. This was in August of this year. He immediately conferred with the Commissioner and began a vigorous prosecution of all pending cases against offending property owners. These owners were brought into court, with the result that in 90 per cent of the pending cases fire escapes were built or the actual building of these fire escapes has been commenced.

My purpose in writing your Honor is that you may fully appreciate the disposition of this department to co-operate with you in your resolution to protect the lives and safety of the citizens of this city, and to assure your Honor of our determination to give practical application to this part of the building law, and by giving it the sanction of actual enforcement to gain for it the respect of the people.

Respectfully submitted,

E. MARK SULLIVAN,
Corporation Counsel.

PAROLE OF INMATES.

Dr. D. J. Johnson, Institutions Commissioner, paroled thirty-two inmates at Deer Island House of Correction and Charles Street Jail, upon the 29th ultimo in keeping with the annual act of clemency by the city administration, that they might rejoin their families for Thanksgiving

Most of those released are short-time prisoners or men who have served the greater part of their sentences. Two were charged with stabbing and several with larceny.

Turkey was served in both institutions for Thanksgiving Day dinner. There were concerts in all city institutions during the dinner or afterward.

COMMENDS INSTITUTIONS SERVICE.

Mayor Curley received the following letter upon the 29th ultimo.

56 Chambers Street,
Boston, November 28, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—I saw by the morning papers that fault is being found with the food at Long Island. I fail to see who can find fault with the treatment that the people are getting down there at present. Every time I go down the old ladies are all praising the treatment they are getting and the nourishing food. If I saw anything wrong I certainly would go to you, knowing that it would be rectified at once.

If these people who see these things know it to be true, you are the one that they should go to instead of the press.

I have given thirty-seven years of my life in public work to help those who cannot help themselves. We haven't any woman in Boston who has been to Long Island as many times as I have, and each time everything is all right and the old ladies say, "God bless Mayor Curley for all the kindness he has shown to us." I sincerely regret that anything has been given to the press finding fault with the administration at Long Island during your term, and if in any way I can contradict it I will be only too glad to do so.

Yours very truly,
Maria E. Bateman.

CLEMENCEAU APPRECIATES COURTESY.

Mayor Curley received the following communication from Col. Edward M. House of New York upon the 27th ultimo.

112 East 74th Street,
New York City,
November 26, 1922.

Dear Mr. Mayor,—It will please you to know that M. Clemenceau was delighted with his reception in Boston, and he was particularly pleased with what you said in your welcoming speech.

I thought you would like to know how he feels and of his appreciation.

Sincerely yours,
E. M. House.

Hon. James M. Curley, Mayor, Boston, Mass.

CONSERVATION BUREAU SERVICE.

Mayor Curley received a report from M. Douglas Flattery, chairman of the Boston Conservation Bureau, relative to the service of the organization, upon the 28th ultimo.

The report of Chairman Flattery was as follows:

Boston Conservation Bureau,
November 27, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

My dear Mr. Mayor,—In order that you may be informed as to the progress being made with the plan for free public "conservation rallies" under the auspices of the Boston Conservation Bureau in municipal buildings and school center auditoriums, the following schedule of places, dates and attendance (to date) is submitted:

November 1, municipal building, Roslindale, 250.
November 3, municipal building, Hyde Park, 300.
November 8, School Center, East Boston, 450.
November 9, Municipal Building, Roxbury, 200.

December 5, municipal building, Roslindale.
December 7, municipal building, Hyde Park.
December 8, Dorchester High School Center.
December 13, Charlestown High School Center.
December 15, Roxbury High School Center.

We helped the City Planning Board arrange and present the program at Franklin Union, the evening of Wednesday, November 21. A similar program presented in each section of the city would help much toward creating the needed public sentiment favorable to a Boston city plan, and toward a metropolitan Boston plan. We hope this can be arranged for January and February.

Experience gained in arranging and conducting the meetings so far held will enable us, we expect, to secure a larger attendance at the meetings to follow.

Publicity for the plan in general and for the different meetings has not been as satisfactory as we hoped for, but this point is receiving special attention in a way which we expect will overcome this difficulty. The Metropolitan Life Insurance Company is co-operating in the personal distribution by its agents of invitations to meetings.

It is our present plan to present a monthly program at a public meeting in each of several sections of the city, in municipal buildings or school centers, to include Hyde Park, Roslindale, Dorchester, Roxbury, East Boston, South Boston, Charlestown.

We are also planning to present the program for health, safety and civic information before organizations of men and women in the city and to audiences of school children if successful in securing the co-operation of the School Department.

The reaction of the people who have attended the meetings so far has been very satisfactory, and apparently indicates that this form of service by the city to the people is appreciated and beneficial.

Very truly,

M. Douglas Flattery,
Chairman Boston Conservation Bureau.

CHRISTMAS SEAL SALE.

Mayor Curley in addressing the Christmas seal sale workers of the Boston Tuberculosis Association gathered in City Hall upon the 28th ultimo expressed the greatest interest in the Christmas seal sale and hoped it would meet with the success that it merits.

The Mayor outlined recent progress in various ways tending to make the city more healthful. He spoke of the demolition of unsanitary houses, of which some 4,500 have been razed without great cost to the city. He next outlined the movement for more breathing places and instanced how an area, probably the most densely populated in the world, had given way to form the Morton Street Playground. Another playground is now in prospect in the North End and the Mayor expressed the hope that public opinion could be so formed as to insist in the future on more of these open spaces.

Mayor Curley expressed himself as in favor of a "saving wage," with the belief that it might help in the solution of the tuberculosis problem. He complimented his audience by asserting the value of the voluntary health agency. "These organizations," he said, "have effected excellent results by co-ordinated, intelligent, progressive effort."

Mayor Curley met Miss Bertha B. Connors of East Boston, one of the workers in Ward 1, who sold to him "the first seal."

Following Mayor Curley, came Health Commissioner Mahoney, who in a brief and direct address, emphasized two things. First, the importance of looking after the health of children, and, next, the value of the demonstration work of unofficial health agencies.

LETTER OF THANKS.

Mayor Curley received the following letter of thanks upon the 29th ultimo.

Of the twelve leading American cities, six are larger in land area than Boston, viz., New York (326.9 square miles), Chicago (199.37), Philadelphia (129), Detroit (75.62), Cleveland (56.6) and St. Louis (61.37). The only city in Massachusetts with larger land area is Taunton (50 square miles).

If Boston should expand by annexations as New York, Chicago and Philadelphia have expanded, its total area, in case of including the 39 cities and towns within the 15-mile radius, would exceed the largest, viz., New York, the present land area of "Greater Boston" being 409.5 square miles.

To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—The Superintendent of Public Buildings, in a recent advertisement for the construction of the proposed Police Station 2, Milk and Sears streets, received bids ranging from $498,000 to $648,999, which bids it was necessary to reject owing to the fact that the total appropriation for this structure is but $500,000, and the architects fees would approximate $30,000.

The Superintendent of Public Buildings, in conference with the Police Commissioner and architects, advises that there are no items which can be eliminated while certain extra work may be necessary in order to complete the building.

I accordingly recommend the adoption of the accompanying order providing an additional appropriation of $60,000, and also the adoption of an order providing for an additional transfer of $11,000, a copy of which is herewith submitted, and making a total available for the construction of Police Station 2 of $571,000.

Ordered, That the City Clerk be directed to give notice of said meetings by advertising the same as required by law.

PAYMENT OF WAGES TO PER DIEM EMPLOYEES.

Coun. HAGAN offered an order—That his Honor the Mayor be authorized and requested, in the name and behalf of the city, to petition the General Court for the enactment of such legislation as may be necessary to enable the city to pay the wages of laborers, and other employees who are on a per diem basis, for not exceeding thirty days in any one fiscal year, in case of absence on account of sickness.

Coun. HAGAN—Mr. President, I am going to ask a suspension of the rule for the passage of this order today, unless there may be some objection to that action on the part of other members. If so, I will have no objection to having it go over until the next meeting. I am anxious, if possible, to see it pass today, for I want to have the matter receive proper thought and consideration on the part of the Chief Executive, so that the legislation asked for will be presented early to the incoming Legislature. This is a matter that has been talked about for a number of years. At budget hearings at various times and at Council meetings in the past few years it has been threshed out more or less, but there has been no action taken. At a recent hearing here, I think about the pension matter, the chairman of the Finance Commission was present and this matter was brought to his attention, and he agreed with members of this body that the system now in use and in existence was unfair. I don't believe the City of Boston means to be unfair to its laborers, but, nevertheless, in this case it has been so for all time, and it must continue that way until we have legislative sanction for changing the system. In past years I have tried to interest members of the Legislature in the matter so that they might take the initiative and present a bill there which might be enacted into law, so that it would have its effect here upon city officials. Again, I received promises but no action. I am trying to get action from proper authorities, this body and the Mayor of the city jointly, petitioning the Legislature for the enactment of this legislation which makes an unfair condition of things fair and equitable. Under the law as it exists today the head of a department getting $9,000 a year, or any subordinate who is on a salary basis, who is out sick for a reasonable length of time is permitted under the law to draw his salary. It is not so with a man in the laboring divisions of the city, in janitor service, or any of those who draw down a day's wages. Unless they work, there is no pay. Of course, a laborer may be sick as well as the head of his department, and when he has a sick day off he needs the money even more than the head of his department. But the head of the department and others on a salary basis may under the law get thirty days' sickness. So I say that under proper restrictions, so that there will be no evasion and no abuse of the law, the same privilege now extended to heads of departments and to everybody on a salary basis should be extended by the City of Boston to those people who work for a daily wage. I am anxious to see this bill presented to the incoming Legislature early in the session, so that there will be no delay by reason of pressure of other affairs. If the Mayor of Boston takes kindly to this thought, as I think he will,—and I think so because I want to think so,—the bill can be presented immediately upon the convening of the Legislature. I feel confident that the members of this body, having all given their assent to the ideas in the past when this matter was considered, will have no objection to the passage of the order under suspension of the rule today. Therefore, I ask for suspension of the rule, if there is no objection.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, I heartily agree with Coun. Hagan in all he has said. I think this is a very proper order and I hope that it will pass unanimously under suspension of the rule. But I would like to ask him with regard to the other employees who are on a per diem basis. I would like to ask him if the employees on annual salary, when they are out for illness, receive a salary now?

Coun. HAGAN—I understand that all those on annual salary do receive a reasonable period of sick leave out of every twelve months. In the case of those who are on day wages, the list must be sent to the Civil Service Commission, and any head of a department who puts a man's name down on that list as having worked when he is not working is making a false statement. The heads of departments hesitate about making false statements. Consequently, only those to whom great favoritism is shown can by any possibility get sick leave, no matter how urgently it may be needed and no matter how great the demands of the moment may be in the household. Does that answer the gentleman's question?

Coun. WATSON—Yes, provided I am assured of the ground for the statement he has made. I think—and I am only making a rough guess at it—that the matter of swearing to a pay roll by a civil service clerk applies to per annum as well as to per diem men. I think I am correct. I would like to know whether I am correct or not, but I believe I am. Now, there are clerks in the Public Works Department, in the paving yard and the sanitary yard, and in the Board of Health, who are on a per diem basis. We ought to take care of them as well as these others, not overlooking anybody. I will probably get information shortly. [Confers with an official present.] I have received information from a source which I consider very authentic, that per annum men clerks may receive a benefit or leave of absence because of illness upon the approval or permission of the head of a particular department. So Coun. Hagan is correct in his position concerning the matter. I am heartily in sympathy with his order, and I trust that some good will come from it. I believe that will be the case.

The order was passed under a suspension of the rule.

MONEY FOR STREETS AND SIDEWALKS.

Coun. GILBODY offered an order—That his Honor the Mayor be requested to recommend in the budget for next year double the amounts appropriated in the municipal year 1922 for new street and sidewalk construction.

Coun. GILBODY—Mr. President, I move a suspension of the rule that this order may be put upon its passage. This order is getting as early a start as Coun. Hagan's order. I think it is about time that something should be done in the matter. I think the members of the Council, who are daily being besieged by their different constituents in the outlying sections of the city to assist them in getting their streets laid out, will agree with me that we ought to attempt to double the appropriation this year, in view of the great number of streets in the outlying sections which need improvement and which are on the list over here in the Street Commissioners' office for acceptance. I think the idea is agreeable to the Mayor, because I hinted it to him some few weeks ago. I move a suspension of the rule, Mr. President.

(The order was read for the information of Coun. Donoghue.)

The rule was suspended and the question came on the passage of the order.

Coun. HAGAN—I would like to ask if Coun. Gilbody means the reconstruction of existing streets or the construction of new streets?

Coun. GILBODY—The acceptance of new streets.

The order was passed.

GENERAL RECONSIDERATION.

Coun. MORIARTY moved a general reconsideration on all business transacted at the meeting, hoping that the same would not prevail. Lost.

Adjourned at 4.08 o'clock p. m., on motion of Coun. GILBODY to meet on Monday, November 27, at two o'clock p. m.

EXHIBITIONS IN THE PUBLIC LIBRARY.

In the Exhibition Room, third floor of the Central Library, in Copley square, there is on view a unique exhibition of small models of artistic stage settings. This exhibition is in charge of Miss Eva Thomson Purdy and is intended to arouse public interest in the organization of a Dramatic Museum Association in the United States.

These models, several of them the work of students in local art schools, show the modern tendency towards simplified detail and large masses of strong color, made familiar in the work of Gordon Craig and other modern stage artists.

With the models are shown stenciled fabrics designed by Daniel O. Brewster, assisted by Miss S. Coffern, for the production of "Alladin" and of the "Holy Grail." The back drop for the latter incorporates motives from the Abbey paintings in the library.

The east side of the room is devoted to a special exhibition of artistic photographs by the English actor, Hamilton Revelle. The majority of these photographs are remarkably beautiful outdoor views in European and American cities but there are included a number of striking stage tableaux.

BOSTON AS A TOWN.

From its foundation until 1755, or a period of 125 years, Boston was not only the most outstanding but the most populous town in the American colonies. In 1760, Philadelphia's population was ahead, viz. 18,756, Boston's then being 15,631 and New York's about 14,000. In the last year of town government, viz., 1821, Boston's population was about 45,000 and its public debt $100,000, all incurred for new county buildings.

The history of Boston as a town during a period of nearly two centuries surpasses in civic interest that of Boston as a city because of the untiring zeal and successful efforts of its townsmen to realize more of true democracy than had ever been attained before. Their obligations were held as sacred as their liberties.

CITY CHARTER CHANGES.

In 1854, 1885 and 1909 important changes in the original City Charter of 1821 were effected for the purpose of improving the methods and efficiency of the City Government. The revision of 1854 (Chap. 448, Stat. 1854) referred to the voters for acceptance, gave the Mayor a qualified veto over the action of the City Council, also the power of removal of appointed officials, besides providing for his election by a plurality instead of a majority vote. The amendments of 1885 (Chap. 266, Stat. 1885) were not submitted to the voters for approval. They transferred all the executive powers to the Mayor, prohibiting the City Council from interference with the executive and administrative business of the City. This was done in order to end the inefficiency resulting from an excessive number of joint committees, a municipal development conforming to the traditions of the outgrown town government.

The amendments of 1909 (Chap. 486, Stat. 1909) cut down the number and powers of the legislative branch of the government to a minimum, the Board of Aldermen (13 members) and the Common Council (75 members) being abolished. For these was substituted a single City Council of nine members to be elected at large for 3-year term. The Mayor's position was further strengthened by giving him a 4-year term, subject to recall at end of two years, but requiring a majority of the registered voters to make the recall effective. The Mayor's power over appointments was no longer subject to check by aldermen but by a State board, the Civil Service Commission, and City elections were removed from all connection with national and State politics, no primaries nor caucuses being permitted, all candidates for office to be selected by means of nomination papers. The only question in this Act of 1909 which was submitted to the voters was contained in section 35, i. e., whether Plan 1 or Plan 2 should be adopted, the first providing for a term of two years for Mayor and a City Council of 36 members to be chosen in primaries. Plan 2 was adopted by a majority of 3,894. Charter of 1909 amended later as follows: (1) By Chap. 437, Acts of 1910, exempting loans issued for Rapid Transit construction from the prohibition of the establishing of sinking funds, as contained in sec. 26. (2) Chap. 730, Acts of 1914, fixing date of annual municipal election on the sixth Tuesday after the state election instead of in the following January, as in sec. 32; changing the requirement as to signatures on nomination papers to 3,000 for Mayor and 2,000 for City Council and School Committee instead of 5,000 for all, as in sec. 53, also limiting the number of nomination papers issued to 300 for a candidate for Mayor and 200 for other candidates, referring to sec. 54. (3) Chap. 37, Special Acts of 1918, annulling the jurat at end of nomination papers. (4) Chap. 94, Special Acts of 1918, abolishing recall of Mayor, and making him ineligible for re-election, i. e., establishing a single term of four years, but not prohibiting the election of any Mayor for other than consecutive terms.

UNDERGROUND RAPID TRANSIT IN BOSTON.

The Boston Transit Commission, consisting of five members, two appointed by the Governor and three by the Mayor, began its official existence July 1, 1894, and ended it July 1, 1918, after seven extensions of the original term. It constructed, under the authority of Acts of the Legislature, the following subways and tunnels, the ownership of which is vested in the City of Boston, and all costs to be covered by revenue from same, not by taxation; Tremont Street Subway from Broadway and Tremont st., South End, to North Station and from Boylston st., near Charles to Park st., 1.68 miles, opened to Park St. September 1, 1897, and to North Station on Sept. 3, 1898, costing with subsequent alterations, $4,416,000, the first municipal subway in the United States; East Boston Tunnel, from Maverick square, E. Boston, under Boston Harbor and State st. to Scollay square, Boston Proper, 1.42 miles, opened December 30, 1904, costing $3,336,000; Washington Street Tunnel, from Ash st. opp. Nassau, South End, to Traverse st., near North Station, 1.16 miles, opened November 30, 1908, costing $8,496,700 (including $2,850,000 land damages); Cambridge Connection Subway, from under Park st. station of Tremont St. Subway to Grove st., near Cambridge Bridge, 0.47 miles, opened March 23, 1912, costing $1,465,000; Boylston Street Subway, from Commonwealth ave., near Kenmore st., Back Bay, to Tremont St. Subway, near Charles st., 1.5 miles, opened October 3, 1914, costing $5,327,000; East Boston Tunnel Extension, from Scollay square to North Russell st., 0.41 miles, opened March 18, 1916, approximate cost, $2,450,000; Dorchester Tunnel, from Park st., Boston Proper, to Andrew square, South Boston, 2.26 miles, opened December 3, 1916, as far as South Station, on December 15, 1917 to Broadway, South Boston, and on June 29, 1918, to the Andrew Square terminal; trains of four or six cars are run in the Washington St. Tunnel, continuing on elevated track to Forest Hills, also in Dorchester Tunnel and connecting Cambridge Tunnel from Andrew sq., So. Boston to Harvard sq., Cambridge, while only single or double street-cars are run in the other tunnels and subways; amount borrowed to 1921 for the Dorchester tunnel, $10,750,000. Total cost of all subways and tunnels, about $36,995,000, incl. loan of $825,000 for new Arlington Station, against which a sinking fund of $5,818,710 has been accumulated from the revenue, payable mostly in 40 years from date of each loan (loans since 1911 payable in 45 years), annual interest averaging 3.8 per cent. These underground ways about 8.9 miles in all with total of 19.27 miles of single track were leased to the Boston Elevated Railway Company (which furnished the equipment) for term of 25 years (except Tremont Street 20 years) at annual rental of 4½ to 4⅞ per cent of net cost (except East Boston Tunnel which was at ⅜ of one per cent of all annual gross receipts of said company). In accordance with Chapter 741, Acts of 1911, the various leases were extended to July 1, 1936, the rental to be 4½ per cent of net cost after expiration of the first-term leases.

By Chap. 185, Special Acts of 1918, the powers of the Transit Commission, whose term expired that year, were transferred to the Mayor, Commissioner of Public Works and City Treasurer, or such person or persons, not exceeding three, as the Mayor might appoint. By Chap. 3, Ordinances of 1918, the Transit Dept. was established as a regular City department, to be in charge of three commissioners.

NET DEBT PER CAPITA IN LEADING CITIES (BY RANK).

New York, $183.87; Cincinnati, $169.13; New Orleans, $117.56; Boston, $113.72 (i. e. with population wrongly estimated at 738,901. Should be $106.39 with population estimated at 789,817 on Feb. 1, 1919); Baltimore, $100.54; Cleveland, $95.75; Pittsburgh, $91.44; Los Angeles, $87.61; San Francisco, $86.24; Philadelphia, $79.60. Figures are approximate, as population had to be estimated. (See U. S. Census Bureau's Financial Statistics of Cities, 1919, page 297.)

The per capita figures are high for New York, Boston and Cincinnati, as compared with other cities, because of their extensive investments in public service enterprises. Boston's debt for subways and tunnels being 38 per cent of the whole debt and the interest and sinking-fund dues payable from the revenue earned, it should be classed as investment-debt and kept separate from the debt for non-productive outlays met by taxation. Hence the per capita net general debt of Boston in 1919 was $67.32, not $106.39, assuming that the population was 789,817 on Feb. 1.

SETTLEMENT OF BOSTON.

Boston was settled in the latter part of August, 1630, by Puritan colonists under Governor John Winthrop. The name of the original settlement was changed to Boston from Trimountaine by order of the Court of Assistants on September 7 (O. S.), 1630. This date was moved forward by the New Style calendar in 1752 to September 17, the recognized date of the founding of Boston. The name, Trimountaine, had been given because of the three peaks of the most prominent hill, afterward called Beacon Hill, much higher then than now. By the Indians the place was called Shawmut. The name, Boston, was derived from the English town of Boston in Lincolnshire, the home of some of the leading colonists and promoters of the enterprise.

MEMORIAL ADDRESS

DELIVERED BY HON. JAMES M. CURLEY, MAYOR OF BOSTON, AT THE ANNUAL MEMORIAL CEREMONIES OF CAMBRIDGE LODGE 839, BENEVOLENT AND PROTECTIVE ORDER OF ELKS, GORDON'S CENTRAL SQUARE THEATRE, CAMBRIDGE, MASS., DECEMBER 3, 1922.

The annual memorial ceremonies of Cambridge Lodge, 839 Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, were held at Gordon's Central Square Theater, Cambridge, upon Sunday, December 3, under the direction of the officers of the lodge.

George D. Colgan, exalted ruler, was the presiding officer, assisted by Edward E. McGanty, esteemed leading knight, Daniel J. Doyle, esteemed loyal knight, Einar Evenson, esteemed lecturing knight, William H. Reardon, Jr., secretary, John H. Reagan, treasurer, John C. Curtin, tyler, Hugh J. Donahoe, chaplain, Charles F. Kirby, esquire, Raymond A. Fitzgerald, organist, Henry J. Conroy, inner guard, and James T. Whelan, John P. Brennan and Frank T. Evans, trustees.

The memorial address was delivered by Mayor James M. Curley of Boston, and was as follows:

This day is consecrated by Elkdom to the memory of those who have passed into the Great Beyond in answer to the summons of the Supreme Ruler.

We meet to pay our tribute of love and remembrance to our dead, comforted by the faith that the soul with which Almighty God endows each human being goes back to its Creator when its work on earth is done. Taught by the sacrifice of the Divine Nazarene nineteen centuries ago and inspired by its revelation and result, we know that death is but the gateway of a newer and higher life and not the end of all existence.

The long ages since the morning star first shone have been ushering into the world the countless billions of the race; they have lived and suffered and borne the evils that afflict humanity; yet the experience of life and the certainty of death have failed to teach man the one thing that is nearest to the heart of heaven, the brotherhood of man, the beauty of its spirit, the glory of its practice.

Elkdom has striven to teach and practise this doctrine and to show the world that contentment in life and reward in death are possible only through faith in God and our fellowman.

The trials and sorrows of life loom large in the living; yet how trivial and transitory they seem in the certainty of death. The philosophers and poets of all the ages have told us how ephemeral and futile life and its travails, its triumphs and its tears are; how the glory and greatness of earth shrivel at the touch of death.

Death is the leveler; the grave the inexorable democrat. There prince and peasant, rich and poor, victor and vanquished find absolute equality; rank and honor stand shorn upon its threshold and pass naked into the greater glory of eternal life.

Gray, writing his beautiful elegy in the city of the dead, said with singular felicity:

> The boast of heraldry, the pomp of power,
> And all that beauty, all that wealth e'er gave,
> Awaits alike the inevitable hour,
> The paths of glory lead but to the grave.

How splendid the lesson death teaches. How full of sweetness and consolation to the dead who lay down their burdens, to the living who survive in its promise of peace, in its appeal to those who realize that the grave is the gateway to freedom unending and fraternity everlasting.

Death, like its brother of a night, sleep, is the greatest gift of God to man, with its inevitability, its boon of equality, its perfect peace, its translation from life and its doubts and despairs into the radiance and glory of the nobler life in the companionship of God.

Faith in God, in the verities of life, in the certainty of death, and its healing, in the truths of the greater life it leads into—this is imperative for the salvation of the soul hereafter and the cleansing and strengthening of the soul while still here. This faith serves us well if it be made the fabric of our philosophy, banishing the terrors men associate with death, making it the physician that ends all pain and sorrow, whose healing reconciles us to the separation from loved ones, who pass on freed of earth's evils.

In the cool and silent presence of death the envious tongue of slander is stilled; rancor and hatred are for them we have loved no more forever; and the flowers we lay upon their last home, the memory of the better selves of the dead and the curtain drawn across the frailties that were human — these emotions and thoughts react on us who remain to our betterment.

Since first creation woke, birth, life and death have been the incidents of every generation; the forming of tender ties and the severing of sacred relations; the coming of new lives and the passing of the old; the making and breaking of friendships; the quick burying the dead; and each generation in some measure richer for the lives that have gone, better for deeds done. Man learns his lessons slowly and reluctantly, but he learns; and in time, in God's good time, he will apply his experience with wisdom and reap the rich harvest of perfect peace and brotherhood. Despite our doubts and questionings, our bickerings and battlings, our world is better than the world of our fathers, and the world of our children will be better than ours; but learning and experience must express themselves in practice, which is growth.

The friends we commemorate here today did their work and passed on, adding something to the wisdom of the world, as the dying coral insect adds something to the little world it helps to build. Wise or foolish, strong or weak, great or simple, no life lived out is ever wasted. The work of God is never futile.

So has it been since time began, and it is for us to try to so guide our steps that the world will be better for our living, that it will have a little more sweetness, a better understanding among men; so that when we, too, pass on men will remember us with affection, speak of us with honor, and recall that we tried to serve our day and generation by open hand and heart.

The philosophy of life and death has engaged the minds of men in all ages, for they are the greatest factors in the cosmos. Marcus Aurelius, who lived and died in the purple, kept before him all his days the teaching of the slave Epictetus, whose greatness of soul compelled the admiration and homage of the Emperor.

"Keep death and exile before thine eyes," said Epictetus, "with all else that men deem terrible, but more especially death. Then wilt thou never think a mean thought nor covet anything beyond measure."

The contemplation of death the inevitable, the inescapable, and of life and its ephemeracy have been the theme of the philosophers all down the ages, leading them to scorn the pomp and pride that perish and the glory that ends in ashes. Greek and Roman, Pagan and Christian, Gentile and Jew, Moslem and Buddhist, the great minds, the lofty souls, the seekers after truth in every time and place, found a common ground on which to stand, a common thought to lead them to their God, in the philosophy of life and death. And in contemplating death and realizing their own individual insignificance, they learned how to live, how to separate the dross of life from its gold and, greatest of all, they learned to understand the futility of human standards and to appreciate the oneness of humankind.

St. Thomas à Kempis, speaking of death, says:

"To fear death and not to avoid sin, which alone can make it terrible, is to fear it unavailably for salvation; for as Christians we ought to dread it so as to make the fear of it the motive and rule of a good life. The great secret of dying happily is to live always in the same state in which we hope to die and in which we desire that God may find us when our last hour shall have arrived. We should, therefore, do all the good and practise all the virtues now which we shall then wish to have done and practised. Endeavor to die daily to some one of all those things which, when thou departest hence, thou must leave forever. Happy the Christian who dies often in spirit e'er he quit the flesh. His death shall be holy and precious in the sight of God."

This ideal of conduct few reach up to; but in this age the ideal, spiritually elevated, is needed to bring to the generation that life has nobler purposes than pleasure and pelf and death has a grander promise than silence and annihilation.

Kipling, poet and philosopher of a new age, can sing his ideal of life beyond the grave and find it in work, the work that is for splendid results and not for rewards, in days and scenes where

> Only the Master shall praise us and only the Master shall blame;
> And no one shall work for money, and no one shall work for fame.
> But each for the joy of working, and each in his separate star,
> Shall draw the thing as he sees it for the God of Things as They Are.

Out of the past, back from the mystery of the grave, we can in imagination call to us the friends and brothers whose memories are still green, whose faces have not yet faded, and take counsel with them. They, too, will tell us that the betterment of life and the broadening of human brotherhood come only through the spirit we put into our work, through the nobility we bring to it, the generosity we put into it and the meaner things we discard from it. We read the character of men in their work, in its joyousness and thoroughness, in the measure in which it lightens the burdens of his fellows and adds to the sum total of the happiness of the community. Make the world better while you are in it; you can carry nothing beyond the barriers of death and the grave; but you can leave a legacy of work well done and human happiness increased that will be reflected in the spiritual glory your soul will carry into that nobler land where those we commemorate today stand waiting for us.

Make life useful and remember its limitations. Face death when it comes as a friend and liberator. It is ignoble to fear the inevitable. We came into the world naked; we go out of it as naked as we came. Let the memory of our dead inspire us to live wisely and cleanly and honorably, so that we may die bravely and like gentlemen. And let me ask you to carry away with you the philosophy of life and death that all the ages have concerned themselves with and which none has expressed more poignantly and succinctly than the old Jacobite poet, James Shelley, in the fine verses, entitled "Death's Final Conquest":

The glories of our birth and state
  Are shadows, not substantial things;
There is no armour against fate;
  Death lays his icy hands on Kings;
    Sceptre and Crown
    Must tumble down,
And in the dust be equal made
With the poor crooked scythe and spade.

Some men with swords may reap the field
  And plant fresh laurels where they kill;
But their strong nerves at last must yield,
  They tame but one another still.
    Early or late
    They stoop to fate,
And must give up their murm'ring breath
When the pale captive creeps to death.

The laurel withers on your brow;
  Then boast no more your mighty deeds,
Upon Death's purple altar now
  See where the victor victim bleeds;
    All heads must come
    To the cold tomb;
Only the actions of the just
Smell sweet, and blossom in the dust.

CIRCULAR LETTER NO. 21.

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor,
December 4, 1922.

To the Heads of Departments:

Gentlemen,—Under date of November 3, a communication was forwarded to you requesting the submission of the annual budget of your department not later than December 1. I have been notified by the Budget Commissioner that up to the present time he has received but a very limited response and I am extremely desirous that you give this matter your immediate attention.

My attention has been directed to the fact that there is a misapprehension with reference to the question of increases and I am desirous that this be cleared up at once. As stated in the previous communication forwarded to department heads, it is my purpose to restore the graduated sliding scale system where it has been adopted and that in no cases are increases to be made to persons receiving in excess of $2,000 salary. It is my purpose, however, that the individual increase shall in no case exceed $100.

The question of salaries being thus definitely settled, there is no reasonable excuse for further delay in the submisson of your budget. Kindly give the matter immediate attention.

Respectfully yours,

James M. Curley, Mayor.

WILL ATTEND CONVENTION.

Dr. Philip Castleman, Deputy Commissioner in charge of the Laboratory Division, has been authorized to visit Detroit, Mich., to attend a meeting of the Society of American Bacteriologists, December 26, 27. 28 and 29, inclusive.

OUR NATION'S OBLIGATION TO ITS CITIZENS.

ADDRESS OF HON. JAMES M. CURLEY, MAYOR OF BOSTON, DELIVERED AT A MASS MEETING OF THE CITIZENS OF MARLBORO, UPON THE SUBJECT OF CIVIC BETTERMENTS AND OLD AGE PENSIONS, PRINCESS THEATRE, MARLBORO, SUNDAY, DECEMBER 3, 1922.

Mayor Curley addressed a great mass meeting of the citizens of Marlboro, relative to the necessity of greater civic betterments, the payment of old age pension and the obligation of the nation to its citizens, at the Princess Theater, Marlboro, upon Sunday, 3d instant.

Mayor Curley declared:

In ancient days periodic famines afflicted the world, even as they do today among what we are accustomed to call the backward races, which is another way of saying the races or nations which are inefficiently organized nationally. The biblical story of the seven fat years followed by the seven lean years of Egypt and the prevision of Joseph which enabled Pharaoh to meet a national calamity, is merely a statement of the fact that the Egypt of those days was badly administered. Undoubtedly Egypt in the past had had its bad agricultural seasons and its good, dependent upon the overflow of the Nile, which annual phenomenon was caused by the melting snows of the Abyssinian mountains and the rains in the lands at the sources of the Nile. If the winter and rainy seasons of the lands south of Egypt were less normal the flooding of the Nile was less, and then the overflow of the river was reduced and was insufficient to water and fertilize the agricultural lands of lower Egypt, and meager harvests and national suffering resulted. When the seasons in the mountains of Abyssinia and tropical Africa were normal then conditions in agricultural Egypt were normal.

Joseph was shrewd and farseeing and he solved the question of short harvests and hard times by building storehouses and piling up grain in the good years and selling or doling it out in the bad years; yet his method, if good business, was unscientific administration, since it merely palliated and did not prevent the basic evil,—a shortage of water,—and since, while his methods did prevent the disease and death incidental to famine, they did not prevent the idleness and suffering, the waste and unemployment, the untilled and nonproductive fields precipitated upon the empire of Pharoah and which, before the lean years ceased, had transformed poverty into pauperism and eventually made the nation the chattel and slave of the rulers.

Joseph's training was not such as to teach him how to solve Egypt's problem permanently, and apparently the Egyptian administration, amply supplied with scientific knowledge and engineering skill, did not undertake the only solution possible—the damming of the Nile and the storage of water for use in the years when the natural overflow failed. Joseph did what a keen business man would do today —bought and stored grain for the days of scarcity—and Pharaoh's unscrupulous servants did what profiteers have done in all ages—grew rich on the necessities of the people. Pharaoh neglected his national duty, and if his people did not starve and die, they lost their personal liberty and Egypt was the poorer for the failure of agricultural and industrial production. Had Egypt had a national conservation commission and a scientific irrigation policy and system, the opportunity for cornering the wheat market would not have presented itself.

Modern Egypt, even under alien rule, has solved Egypt's problem, whatever the motives of those rulers may have been.

Wars, social disruption, the extortion of conquerors and the greed of adventurers and traders have precipitated famine and plague, death and desolation in India for long centuries; and though the rule of the British, during their nearly two centuries of occupation, has brought a peace that is too often a despair, it has not prevented the recurrence of famine and pestilence, the destruction of India's industrial life and the general impoverishment of the people. Something has been done; but in a debt-burdened country, held by large armies in the pay of an alien government, which looks upon India merely as a cow to be milked, a depository and market for British production, not much can be expected until financial pressure and some form of enlightened selfishness compel the British "Raj" to act.

Russia and her famines in the most fertile country in Europe constitute a warning to the world. Her evils are largely of her own making and they must continue until a government is created that will restore the reign of common sense and place the fabric of her civilization on a permanent basis, a government that understands the undying and enduring doctrine that production is wealth and the child of labor, wisely planned and directed, and that these can only function in peace and security.

Here in America we have our Joseph, our profiteers and our "corners" in the necessities of life; but we have also a people who are beginning to think and to ask why the richest, most prosperous and most peaceful land on earth has so many unsolved problems.

The crying need of America today is a national planning board with subsidiary state boards charged with the duty of formulating a program of activities designed to safeguard the vital interests of the people when industrial depression becomes general; for in a modern democracy, where industrialism grows more intense and intensive daily, industrial depression brings many of the same evils as short harvest and famine do in agricultural and less highly organized communities. The security of a democratic government and the happiness of its people depend in a large measure upon permanency of work and wages; and yet our inability or reluctance to face facts and conditions has bred a habit of waiting for the emergencies to arise and the calamities to impend before we act; and then our only solution of the problem is the unscientific wasteful and pauper-breeding practice of doling out charity to tide over the period of depression. We seem incapable of planning to prevent periods of depression, or, knowing the remedies, lack the courage to apply them; and until we get together a body of men with vision and financial gumption, men who realize that the future and its problems are merely a repetition of the past and its problems, and that everything we hope to get in better conditions, wiser methods and improved results must be paid for in money or labor or both, we will get nowhere.

The World War made necessary a scrapping not only of the agencies for the productions of goods but of the system through which they were produced. This substitution of modern machinery and methods resulted in an efficiency which today renders it possible to produce in a period of seven months the entire requirement of the nation for the full twelvemonth period. Failure to adopt a system of government aid for shipping, coupled with the adoption of a high tarrif program, renders competition impossible with nations whose commerce is subsidized and where goods are received free of duty. Industrial depression and general unemployment are a certainty in America through organized incapacity and the absence of scientific national planning. The time for a worth-while program by which the happiness and prosperity of the people may be safeguarded is now, rather than at some time within the next few years when depression will again compel a resort to the discredited and distasteful dole system. The Federal Government should set aside at least a billion dollars for the construction of national highways, for the improvement of waterways, the development of water power, fuel and mineral resources, so that when a period of depression comes a definite program of relief, through which the citizen may be aided without injury to his spirit of self-reliance or his Americanism, may be possible. The work in the nation might be well supplemented through a similar program in the state. The extent to which power companies have corralled natural resources and the abuses which are represented in the price charged for the product developed constitute an abuse that only can be corrected through an agency equally powerful financially. Individual or group competition in these fields of activity are well-nigh impossible and the only method of relief conceivable is that which may be secured through the instrumentality of the state. The development of reservoirs in anticipation of increasing demand for water supply, the importance of reforestation to safeguard the water supply and conserve the beauty of the state, are matters which unfortunately are given scant consideration until necessity compels action.

Boston, a subdivision of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, due to commercial stagnation and industrial depression, suffered more from unemployment than any other city in America per capita during the winter of 1921–22. A legislative enactment adopted in conformity with the old charity dole system provided a payment of approximately $37.50 per month for all unemployed survivors of the World War.

When the present Mayor of Boston was inducted into office in February, 1922, he found 3,362 ex-service men drawing soldiers' relief from the city treasury, a total of $115,000 being paid during the month of March, and if this ratio had been maintained for the full year it would have represented a total expenditure of $1,380,000. The financial loss was unimportant as compared with the moral liability — the transformation of poverty into pauperism, due to the promotion of a desire to secure pay without rendering service and the building up of an enormous army of mendicants, a menace to themselves and the nation. The prevailing custom in the city had been to construct all public works on a contract basis and largely through the padrone system with non-citizen labor. The Mayor decided to construct a section of the East Boston Tunnel on a day labor basis, giving preference to unemployed ex-service men. It was freely predicted that the unemployed soldier could not and would not accept this character of work.

Estimates were received from a number of contractors, and a record of comparative cost has been kept from the beginning with results most gratifying. Wherever possible, labor-saving devices were installed in connection with the prosecution of the work, and today, with the work more than 60 per cent completed, a saving over the lowest estimate furnished has been established, while the cost of administering the Soldiers' Relief Department has been reduced from about $115,000 per month to less than $50,000 per month and the maintenance of this ratio for the entire period required for the completion of the work will represent a total saving of more than three quarters of a million dollars in cash, while the benefits to the men in stamina and self-reliance will prove invaluable.

Contingencies that of necessity must recur should be guarded against. The City of Boston Planning Board has recently increased its membership from seven to two hundred, the additional members being recruited from every walk of life. To them is delegated the task of sifting the chaff from the wheat in the matter of public improvements, and likewise the molding of public opinion through which worth-while projects may materialize into serviceable attainments for the benefit of the municipality and its people.

Poverty has always been numbered among the pains and penalties of human life; yet poverty as a deliberate and chosen condition of life and living has been the ideal of many philosophies and religions which have taught that life on earth was merely a pilgrimage and preparation for a higher life, and wealth and its temptations a useless handicap on the journey. The philosophic and religious life of poverty was merely one of abstinence and discipline; it was guiltless of that dirt, destitution and degradation which are the incidence of that hopeless poverty which is penury, and, by its ordered regularity and organized prevision, was free from that specter which haunts the dreams of the worker, the possibility that hangs like a shadow over his future — an old age of dependence, charity and humiliation when years bring infirmity and inability to work.

The ideal of an accepted, organized poverty was possible in simpler days in a less complicated civilization among a voluntary society willing to conduct its life and living upon a basis of organized asceticism and abstention from riches, and was in effect an application to them of the principles of the "old age pension"; but in our modern civilization this ideal is as artificial as it is exceptional and bears little, if any, practical relation to the hard, hurried, cruel and fiercely competitive society in which it is set like an island of safety in a tempestuous sea. The poverty of 1922 is a real, ugly, repulsive fact, a somber feature of a civilization which, while calling itself Christian, is actually foundational in the most materialistic of doctrines, the law of the jungle, the law of tooth and talon — the lex talionis — the law of the survival of the fittest. The struggle of today is between man and machine, and the problem for us to solve is the restoration of man to his high place in the scheme of civilization, where he will cease to be looked upon as an industrial mechanism, to be discarded and scrapped when he ceases to be efficient.

Today, in America, industrial production in all lines has passed the limits of American consumption, and can supply the needs of our domestic markets for the year in seven months of work. This means we must find foreign markets for our industrial surplus or face idle mills and shops and unemployment, with its unhappiness, unrest, discontent and the melting away of the savings of productive days, and is a threat to the peace and stability of the republic. Moreover, this excessive activity of an industry, ruthless, high-speeded and savagely competitive spells physical exhaustion for the worker. Into this materialistic warfare comes the question of the old age problem and that other question—What is old age, industrially speaking? When does a man cease to be useful and usable in industry? These are vital not theoretical questions.

In many departments of activity, while men of forty or over may be continued in employment, many industries will positively refuse to employ a man of that age de novo. Unless the high grade workers of academic education and technical training have accumulated means to maintain themselves and their dependents when they have reached the age of economic expulsion, the elements of unrest and danger must be reinforced by an army of trained men—intelligenzia—that can lead the forces of destruction. This is what happened in Russia. The great body of workers upon whom the whole industrial fabric rests works for a daily wage, upon which they must live, support their dependents and make provision for old age. The sheer necessity of meeting life, with the incidence of idle days, the unproductive periods, due to trade depression, hard times, short times, and the inescapable vicissitudes of advancing years, physical infirmities and decreasing economic efficiency, make the task of the worker an impossible one; and he looks forward to old age with a species of terror, that engenders a pyschology that is at once dangerous to society and injurious to industry.

Every thoughtful man has an ideal of an old age of peace, security and contentment, to days of rest and decent ease, free from dependence and charity; and a Christian democracy can hold no higher standard of conduct than that which refuses to let the accident of poverty degenerate into the crime of pauperism, when the worker becomes the target of

> Organized charity scrimped and iced
> In the name of a cautious, statistical Christ, that destroys the self-respect of men and breaks the heart of the world. The government takes care of its soldiers, its trained killers and destroyers as well as defenders in peace and war. The soldier of peace and industry, the worker who is the source, the salt and sustenance of our civilization, must be taken care of when his days of efficiency are done, and that can be accomplished properly through an old age pension system.

There is nothing new, quixotic, utopian or visionary about an old age pension scheme. Germany carried out one successfully and acceptably from 1884 until war destroyed her and it. From motives of national safety a system exists today in Great Britain and Ireland, crude and not ideal, but still a move in the right direction.

This state, all states, and the great republic, with their wealth and resources, our democratic organization and our professed humanitarian principles, our vaunted idealism and trumpeted altruism, all lag behind the world of Europe, which found in old age pensions a safety valve for the pressure of conditions and traditions we are free from measurably. We ought to do it; we must do it, or face problems we may never solve.

It can be done. I have no plan to offer that will bring such a system into being. It is a question of ways, means, funds and administration, one for hard heads, open minds, hearts with human sympathies. Some have suggested as one way a tax on stock exchange transactions, or on activities that will not lay burdens on industry, commerce or agriculture. Let me suggest that the immense sums spent, and frequently wasted on so-called public charities if turned into a fund for old age pensions, would finance the scheme, without in any way embarrassing or crippling the hospitals, homes and orphanages we must always maintain, and which would eliminate the expensive and vicious machinery which has fastened the criminal disease of pauperism in our American civilization.

I think the suggestion is eminently worthy of every good man's consideration. Poverty we cannot abolish; pauperism we can; and by its elimination bring back the joy of living, the hope of peace and contentment, and, by transforming the psychology of old age terror into a psychology of restful happiness, put sunshine into the heart of the world, building up a security of outlook that makes for self-respect in the worker and public safety to the nation.

Is it not worth your thought, your serious thought, this plan that spells a future of security for men and country? Bolshevism, by whatever name you identify it, was born of economic injustice and social despair; and if we are selfish enough and unwise enough to permit the evil seeds of social unrest to take root and blossom on our soil we must expect to reap a harvest of evil.

Now is the appointed time. Let us move to the mountain top, where the outlook is upon a world made beautiful to live in by a beneficent Creator.

EXTENSION OF CONTRACTS.

An extension of time has been granted for completion of the contract made with M. DeSisto Company for laying and relaying water pipes in Senoma street, Roxbury, and Butler street, Dorchester, from December 1, 1922, to January 1, 1923. This request for extension is asked as the contractor was delayed from October 31 to November 13 waiting for the contract to be signed.

An extension of time has been granted for completion of contract with Antony Baruffaldi for building sewerage works in Maverick street, from 500 feet southeast of Jeffries street to Lamson street, East Boston, from December 2, 1922, to January 27, 1923, fifty-six days. Construction Company for building sewerage works in Western avenue and Everett street, Brighton, from December 2, 1922, to January 27, 1923, thirty-six days. Russo for building sewerage works in Beryl street, between Newburg street and Cornell street, and outlets in Brook street and private land, West Roxbury, from December 9, 1922, to January 6, 1923, twenty-four days. Construction Company for laying high service water pipes in South street, High street, Oliver street, Milk street, McKinley square, city proper, from December 18, 1922, to May 15, 1923. This request for extension is asked for the reason that the contractor was delayed by the nondelivery of specials ordered in the spring and not delivered until November 13, 1922. Work will not be allowed during the winter months due to the fact that it is inadvisable to have Milk street and McKinley square torn up under adverse conditions.

ENDORSE EAST BOSTON WORK.

Mayor Curley received the following letter addressed to Thomas F. Sullivan, Chairman of the Transit Department, by Prof. Samuel L. Conner of Tufts College, upon the 4th instant:

MEDFORD, MASS.,
December 2, 1922.

MR. THOMAS F. SULLIVAN, Chairman Transit Commission, 1 Beacon street, Boston:

DEAR SIR,—On Thursday afternoon, November 9, the senior class in railroad work at the Tufts College Engineering School had the privilege and opportunity to visit the work under construction at Maverick square, East Boston. They were received by Mr. Davis and were shown the details of construction and the methods employed to bring about the completion of the task at that location which is under your direction. The trip was a very enjoyable one, and the courtesies extended, and the privileges enjoyed by the members of the class and myself were such as to leave nothing but the most pleasant remembrances.

I wish to comment on the very fine system of procedure that has been worked out for carrying forward this particular work, and was much impressed with the esprit de corps of the entire personnel on the job. I followed rather attentively the general progress from one end of the work at Maverick square to the Commonwealth Pier and the supply yard, and throughout the entire length of the job I found a "going concern" in every sense of the word.

On behalf of Tufts College as a whole, and particularly on behalf of the Engineering School, of which I am a part, permit me to express my sincere appreciation of the many favors and courtesies which were extended to us at that time.

Very truly yours,
SAMUEL L. CONNER.

GRAND ARMY INVITED.

Mayor Curley addressed the following invitation to the Grand Army of the Republic, upon the 5th instant:

CITY OF BOSTON,
OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,
December 5, 1922.

MR. GEORGE E. HOSLEY, National Chief of Staff, Grand Army of the Republic, Boston, Mass.:

DEAR FRIEND,—The City of Boston is desirous of being honored with the convention of the Grand Army of the Republic in 1924 and is prepared to defray such expense as may be incurred in connection with the annual gathering.

Believing that the value of the patriotic lesson furnished America by the men, through whose service and sacrifice the Union was preserved intact while striking the shackles from a race of people, may be better emphasized if sent forth from Boston, we urge an acceptance.

In this hour of our national life when the sacred fundamentals of our government are being invaded by misguided, narrow-visioned fanatics who seek to supplant the beloved emblem of our country, the Stars and Stripes, with the black flag of Ku Kluxism, America needs a message such as only the Grand Army of the Republic, who saved the nation in another day, can furnish.

Boston seeks opportunity to welcome the old soldiers and their friends with open arms. Come in 1924. America will need your message.

Sincerely yours,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor

NOVEMBER LABOR REPORT.

The records at the Massachusetts Public Employment Office, 23 and 25 Pearl street, for November, 1922, show decreases when compared with corresponding records for the previous month, but a substantial gain when compared with the figures for November, 1921.

In November 20 per cent less people were called for by employers, 13 per cent less positions were filled and 7 per cent less persons applied for employment than in October; but when compared with November last year our records show an increase of 46 per cent in the number of people called for by employers, an increase of 36 per cent in the number of positions reported filled and a decrease of 24 per cent in the number of applicants for employment.

During the month, 1,446 service men (987 soldiers, 459 sailors) visited the office looking for work. Of these, 176 (127 soldiers and 49 sailors) were given introduction cards to employers and 145 (102 soldiers and 43 sailors) secured positions.

Males.—The demand for skilled tradesmen was slightly less than last month but the positions reported filled show an increase. The demand in the building trades decreased somewhat but it is still difficult to secure plumbers, plasterers and electricians. The demand in the metal trades was a little better and the positions have been easily filled. The demand in the steam trades has been good, but during the latter part of the month the supply was gradually depleted until at the present time it takes a few hours to fill the positions. The demand in the general trades was fairly good with a fair supply of applicants to fill positions.

In the men's unskilled department the demand in all lines has decreased. The demand for able-bodied laborers, which during the past six months has been greatly in excess of the supply, shows some decrease with a rather larger supply of applicants than at any time during that period. There is a large number of men having no trade who are looking for inside work but the demand is only fairly good and the places are quickly filled.

Boys for errands, offices and factories are being called for in large numbers. The number of positions filled in November increased 187 per cent over the number filled in November, 1921. The supply of boys does not equal the demand and there are a number of positions open.

Females.—The general demand for women workers has decreased considerably. The only demand for factory workers is that for Christmas workers and positions have been quickly filled. The demand for waitresses has been fair with a good supply for city positions, but it is rather difficult to secure help for out of town. The demand for attendants has improved slightly with only a fair supply of competent applicants on hand. During the past month a number of married couples have been looking for positions as attendants but only a few such positions have been filled. The demand for housework girls continues to be the dominant demand in the women's unskilled department with about three employers for every applicant. Day workers and cleaners have been in fair demand with nearly every position filled.

The daily number of persons called for in November, 1922, was 1,490 as compared with 1,021 in November, 1921; 1,353 in November, 1920; 2,410 in November, 1919.

The daily number of positions reported filled was 1,137 in November, 1922, as compared with 834 in November, 1921; 973 in November, 1920; 1,280 in November, 1919.

LAND OFFERED CITY.

The offer of a gift to the City of Boston is made by J. Murray Howe and associate owners, of their one half interest in a strip of land 10 feet wide along the southerly side of the new Stuart street, near Tremont street. This, with two other small ownerships, would enable the city to widen the neck of the triangle formed by the junction of Stuart and Eliot streets from 70 to 80 feet.

The triangle is about half as large again as either Bowdoin or Scollay square and is fed from the westward by Stuart street, 70 feet wide, and by Eliot street, now widened to 60 feet, while its exit at Tremont street is only the width of one street.

All of the land needed is now vacant, the old buildings on it having been destroyed in the Stuart street widening.

The improvement, besides giving valuable extra room for automobile movement, would prevent the construction of small, unsightly buildings such as are often erected on left-over strips.

The Board of Street Commissioners have the matter under consideration.

PROFESSOR MILLER INVITED.

Mayor Curley addressed the following letter to Prof. Edward F. Miller of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, upon the 5th instant:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor,
December 5, 1922.

Edward F. Miller Esq., Professor of Department of Mechanical Engineering, Institute of Technology, Cambridge, Mass.:

My dear Professor Miller, — The City of Boston, as a means of solving its portion of the ever-recurring fuel problem, has seen fit to install a system of oil burners in certain municipal departments and it is necessary that a system of operation of plants be established.

Provided you can devote the required time to this most important work, I should esteem it a very great favor and service, for which the City of Boston is prepared to furnish any reasonable recompense. In the event of your deciding to accept of this tender, I would greatly appreciate your conferring with Mr. James J. Mahar of the Schoolhouse Department, either orally or in writing.

Respectfully yours,

James M. Curley, Mayor.

PROTECTION OF HORSES.

Mayor Curley announces that as a result of conferences with Henry C. Merwin, president of the Boston Work-Horse Relief Association, 88 Broad street, Boston, he has appointed a committee to serve, with active co-operation with heads of municipal departments, in making the streets of Boston safe for horses during the severity of the winter weather. The members of the committee named by the Mayor and which are heartily indorsed by President Merwin are as follows:

Charles K. Bolton, 10½ Beacon street; John E. Bowen, 51 Sudbury street; William B. de las Casas, 88 Broad street; Edwin T. Frost, 28 Minot street; Henry C. Merwin, 88 Broad street; Miss Marion C. Nichols, 3 Joy street; Joseph J. Norton, City Hall; James H. Sullivan, City Hall; George F. Stebbins, 40 Court street; Allan J. Wilson, 137 High street.

Mr. Bolton is librarian of the Boston Athenæum and will take an active part in caring for the welfare of horses on Beacon street; Mr. Bowen is a member of the leading trucking firm of C. Bowen and has been prominent in the work for the protection of dumb animals for some time; Mr. las Casas is former chairman of the Metropolitan Park Commission and now secretary of the Boston Work-Horse Relief Association; Mr. Frost is head of of the Frost Forwarding and Transportation Company and prominent in service in behalf of dumb animals; Miss Nichols is the leading spirit in the recently formed Beacon Hill Community Association and has been allied with the extension of good works for many years; Mr. Norton and Mr. Sullivan are city officials associated with the Public Works Department; Mr. Stebbins is secretary of the Team Owners' Association and prominent in preventive work in behalf of dumb animals, while Mr. Wilson is former president of the Metropolitan Driving Club and prominent as a leading truckman and has been one of the leading exponents of the breeding of the American trotter, besides being rated as one of the finest amateur drivers in the United States.

Mayor Curley heartily indorsed this important work and will actively co-operate with the committee in every possible manner in order that the streets of Boston are made both passable and safe for use by horses during the present winter season.

CITY EMPLOYEES AT LODGE.

Three city employees were guests at the Wayfarers' Lodge on Hawkins street upon the 2d instant.

Mayor Curley wrote to Chairman Simon E. Hecht of the Overseers of the Public Welfare, making a few suggestions. The Mayor recommended that there be warmer porridge for breakfast, a little better brew of coffee, and either heavier coverings for the beds or a higher temperature in the morning hours at the lodge.

Secretary Chester Macomber of the Mayor's staff, and Herbert Sexton and Daniel Leonard of the Employment Bureau were the guests.

There were only nineteen sleepers at the lodge upon the evening named.

ACCEPTANCE OF YULETIDE ROAD.

CLAIM OF CITY DISMISSED.

The United States Supreme Court by a decision in the case of the City of Boston versus the Public Trustees of the Boston Elevated RailwayC ompany, upholds the right of the Trustees to apportion and collect deficits in the operation of the road against the cities and towns benefitting by its operation.

The opinion was delivered by Chief Justice Taft.

The case was brought before the courts by Ex-Mayor Nathan Matthews, acting for the then Mayor, Andrew J. Peters, in the form of a bill in equity. This was filed in the Massachusetts Supreme Court, July 18, 1919. It asked that certain provisions of the Boston Elevated Public Control Act be declared void and unconstitutional, and that the state be restrained from making an assessment upon the city of any part of the amount paid under the statute by the Commonwealth to the Elevated to make up the operating deficit.

The Massachusetts Supreme Court decided against the city, February 28, 1921. The city took the case to the United States Supreme Court and Attorney General J. Weston Allen argued for the Commonwealth.

In the decision to-day the court says:

"The plaintiff comes to this court because, as it says, the statute of 1918 of the Commonwealth, by which the Trustees took over and are now operating the railway, impairs the obligation of the contract of lease of its property in the tunnels and subways to the railway company and so violates the contract clause of the Federal constitution. It further contends that the imposition of a tax merely to aid a private corporation, as in the act of 1918 complained of, is not for a public purpose, and taxes collected therefor from it is taking its property without due process of law. Thirdly, it avers that vesting power in the trustees to fix the deficit in operation of the railway and to assess the city for a large part thereof is also taking its property without due process of law.

"What the Commonwealth did was to help the people of the towns which the railway served when the railway's finances threatened its collapse, by taking over the lease of the railway company. There was nothing in the contract of assignment which in the slightest degree impaired the obligation of the company to the city under the lease. Indeed it secured the performance of those obligations.

"The taxes collected were state taxes to achieve a state purpose, and Boston in its public and political character was a mere state tax agency for the collector. The taxpayers were to be called upon to bear the burden of the public purpose of the state in furnishing the important service of transportation in and between the communities in which they lived. If this was in accord with the State Constitution and statutes, as we must and do find it to be from the well-reasoned opinion of the Supreme Judicial Court, we cannot see that in any respect the levy of the tax for deficits impairs Boston's contract with the railway company.

"In disposing of this objection we have in effect disposed of those objections to the act of 1918 based on the 14th amendment. If the Constitution and laws of Massachusetts authorize the Commonwealth to operate a railway company for the public benefit, there is nothing in the 14th amendment to prevent.

"All we now decide is that even if the City of Boston may invoke the contract clause of the Federal Constitution to protect its rights under the lease as against infringing legislation by the Commonwealth, the act of 1918 does not infringe."

PROMOTIONS IN SCHOOL SERVICE.

At a meeting of the School Committee held upon the 4th instant the following appointments by promotion were made:

Sarah L. Cauley, Hyde Park High School; Frances L. Eager to the Abraham Lincoln School and Dorothy L. Glover to the Mary Hemenway District. The following selected from the eligible list were appointed: Elsie F. Eagan, Mary C. Matthes, Ellen E. Bryan, Alice M. McLaughlin, Marie O. Day, Barbara T. Raithel, Mary V. O'Keefe, Marie J. Manning, Margaret E. Devine, Lillian M. McCormick, Virginia K. de Haro, May A. Donovan, Mary A. Salmon, Francette E. Madigan, Agnes M. Lynch, Edna M. J. Snow, Isabelle J. Harvey and Mary E. Morgan.

The Board was authorized to permit two students of public school classes of the Massachusetts Normal Art School to be assigned to teach in the Prince District for observation and practice purposes. The sum of $8,000 was transferred to the appropriation of $50,000 for alterations in the John Marshall District. The new appropriation will be used to establish a school for the special class center.

Catherine Doherty was appointed temporary matron of the West Roxbury High School.

The Board was requested by the Schoolhouse Commission to secure use of the auditorium of Tremont Temple Wednesday, June 20, for graduation exercises of the Girls' High School, and on Thursday, June 21, for the English High School graduation.

Generose Pagliuca was appointed clerk of the Newsboys' Trial Board. Helen L. Buckley was appointed assistant in the office of the superintendent.

NEW TRAFFIC RULES.

Additional changes in traffic rules, tending to lessen congestion upon lower Tremont street have been put into effect. Also, by request of fire officials, new parking rules on Boylston street were enforced.

Drivers who direct their vehicles along Tremont street from Boylston street are not permitted, by a new ruling, to turn to the left up Park street. All traffic up Park street must come from the other direction. Vehicles coming along West street or Winter street from Washington street toward the Common may no longer be turned to the right, but must be swung to the left, toward Boylston street.

By request of Fire Commissioner Theodore A. Glynn and Fire Chief John O. Taber, vehicles will not be permitted to stop on Boylston street between Tremont street and Park square or on the Common side of Boylston street beyond Park square between 8 a. m. and midnight, except to take on or leave passengers or goods. On Boylston street, between Tremont street and Washington street, vehicles may stand on the southern side of the street, but on the other side may stop only to receive or deposit passengers or goods between 9 a. m. and 5 p. m.

The public parking space on Charles street which accommodates more than 1,500 cars, may now be used without time limit, and the one-way rule on Codman and Carruth streets, Dorchester, has been repealed for the present, pending consideration of the advisability of restricting a thoroughfare in the neighborhood for the use of heavy vehicles.

RED CROSS ADDRESS.

Mayor James M. Curley addressing more than a thousand persons from an army truck on Boston Common at the disaster relief demonstration which opened the annual roll call of the Boston Metropolitan Chapter at noon upon Armstice Day, declared:

"The purpose of a government in a republic, as I see it, is the enactment of laws to promote the happiness and well-being of the entire people. Republics, however, are rather weak in the matter of precedents. They must, as it were, feel their way. There is no good road to guide them. And as a consequence worth while legislation represents long-continued intelligent, active labor and thought on the part of the far-sighted and highly intelligent element in the community or the country.

Hopes for Future.

"I hope that the day may come in America when there will be no service for a charitable organization to perform, when through the instrumentality of government we will be able to solve substantially every one of the human problems that are solvable, upon the equitable solution of which depend in so large a measure the happiness and well being of the American people.

"We are prone to condemn our government because of its laxity, because it does not move with sufficient speed. We appreciate that 125 years is a long time to wait for a live republic to have a mothers' aid law under which the city or town may take the place of the head of the household. We appreciate that more than 140 years and probably ten years additional will be required to bring about an old age pension to rob the toiler of the horrors of pauperism and the poorhouse when his hands have lost their cunning and his mind is no longer alert and active.

Need for Red Cross.

"There are certain accidents against which it is extremely difficult and in many cases well nigh impossible to guard. There is no law by which we can determine when there will be a fire, or flood or famine in our land or in any other portion of the civilized world. As the individual takes life insurance upon his own person for the protection of his dependents, as the city provides a police force for the preservation of order and for the protection of life and property, as the Federal government provides an army and a navy for the protection of the rights of the people and the territory and the honor of the flag, and the maintenance of government, so it has become necessary for some emergency organization to be held in reserve for use whenever a crisis presents itself or whenever anything unanticipated or unexpected occurs in the nation or in the world.

"As a consequence, as a means of alleviating human suffering and human misery, the Red Cross organization has come into being in the world. It performs a function that can- not be delegated, it is held in reserve for the fulfillment of obligations that cannot be anticipated. Under these conditions, since its purpose is to serve all the people of the world, without regard to race, creed or color, we owe it to ourselves as individuals who cannot determine what the morrow will bring forth, we owe it to humanity to do all that is possible for humanity, to do all that is possible to promote the success of this organization by enrolling as members and by doing everything for it our circumstances will permit. I join with the officials of this organization in praying for hearty public co-operation and the success of the Red Cross."

FLAG ORDER ISSUED.

Mayor Curley issued the following instruction upon the 6th instant:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor,
December 6, 1922.

Mr. John M. Casey, Chief Licensing Division, Boston:

Dear Sir,— My attention has been directed to the fact that, in reply to the protest made by the former State Commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars against the absence of the American flag, at a meeting held recently at Symphony Hall, in behalf of recognition of Soviet Russia, the speaker declared that it was due to the neglect of the committee in charge of the affair.

The neglect, bordering on absolute disrespect, was in this case emphasized because of the international character of the affair, and should not again be permitted, for, unfortunately, there are too many persons who are willing to accept of all the privileges and opportunities that the country represented by the flag afford without any due regard for either flag or country.

In my opinion it would be advisable to adopt a regulation requiring the management of each licensed hall to display the American flag whenever a public meeting is held.

Respectfully yours,
James M. Curley, Mayor.

TO OMIT AND SUBSTITUTE WORK.

The Alco Construction Company have been directed to omit and substitute the following work under contract for paving Huntington avenue, southeast side, from Gainsborough street to Brookline line, Back Bay. Items ordered: Omit the recutting and laying of granite block on concrete to base in tracks, dummy and brows as per Item 5, and substitute the hauling of block from Massachusetts avenue lot and laying on concrete base with grout joints. Price to be paid the same as that bid for doing recutting, etc., $2.90 per square yard. Estimated cost of omitted work, $5,220; estimated cost of substituted work, $5,220.

TRANSFERS IN APPROPRIATIONS.

City Auditor Rupert S. Carven announces the following transfers in appropriations in departments of the City of Boston and County of Suffolk, indorsed by Budget Commissioner Charles J. Fox, and approved by his Honor the Mayor:

Boston Sanatorium,

Boston, November 23, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—The position of pathologist at the Boston Sanatorium has been vacant some time because the trustees were unable to find a satisfactory person for the position. The position has been filled now for about two months. The work of a pathological department requires various assistants. Without these no proper work can be done. The trustees hoped that persons for these offices might be found at the hospital among the patients whose services could be utilized, at least until the beginning of the new year. This has been found to be impossible. The trustees, therefore, request that the following new positions be established: A technician at the rate of $1,000 a year; a diener at the rate of $720 a year. (These positions to be filled now.)

A part of the work of the department has been temporarily done by "supervisor" at the hospital without additional pay. The position of "supervisor," if it included such work, would become a more important office than at present, and demand higher pay. The trustees wish to increase, therefore, the pay of "supervisor" from the present rate of $850 a year to $1,150 a year.

If these changes are allowed, it will be necessary to make transfers within the budget for the change in salary. The trustees, therefore, request the following transfers to pay for these positions up to February 1, 1923:

From the appropriation for A-1, Assistant Physician for Diseases of Children, $336.66, to the appropriation for A-1, Technician, $166.66; A-1, Diener, $120; A-1, Supervisor, $50.

Without these positions, the department of pathology would be very badly handicapped. As you are doubtless aware, all pathological departments in the city have such positions. These positions were not put into the budget for the present year because of the extreme doubt of the ability of the trustees to fill the position of pathologist this year. As stated above, this position was filled, and the amount of salary necessary for it was allowed and transferred July 12.

Yours very truly,
James J. Minot,
Secretary.

Transferred by City Auditor, with approval of Mayor, December 6, 1922.

Collecting Department.

Boston, December 1, 1922.

Hon. James M, Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Sir,—The following transfer is requested within the appropriation for the Collecting Department for the year 1922–23:

From the appropriation for A–1, Personal Service, Secretary at $2,000, $67.93, to the appropriation for A–1, Personal Service, Clerk at $1,100–$1,500, $67.93

Owing to the death of the former incumbent, the position of secretary was abolished and the duties delegated to the present stenographer. The net result of this transfer will be to effect an annual saving of $1,600.

Respectfully yours,
William M. McMorrow,
City Collector.

Transferred by City Auditor with approval of Mayor December 1. 1922.

Hospital Department.

Boston, November 29, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—You are aware that a special appropriation of $25,000 was granted for extension of the sprinkler system in buildings now sprinkled, and to complete the installation by sprinkling such buildings as have not been sprinkled in the past. Bids for this work were received and opened at the hospital on November 21, the results of which you already know. The lowest bid was that of C. H. Cronin, whose total bid was $27,031. The trustees have taken no action, due to the fact that there was not sufficient money provided to award the contract. If the contract is to be awarded to Mr. Cronin, there will be needed approximately $4,000. This is to cover the difference between the lowest bid and the amount appropriated for the completion of the sprinkler system, and to pay the bill of the Grinnell Company, amounting to $697.77, for the necessary survey, specifications and blueprints in connection with the work; also to provide such engineering and inspection fees as may be necessary. Therefore, if the contract is to be awarded to C. H. Cronin, I respectfully request, on behalf of the trustees, that $4,000 be appropriated, in order that the contract may be awarded at the earliest possible moment.

Yours respectfully,
Joseph P. Manning,
President Board of Trustees.

Transferred from Reserve Fund to Sprinkler System, Main Hospital, $4,000, by City Auditor with approval of Mayor December 1, 1922.

Law Department.

Boston, December 4, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Honored Sir,—I respectfully request that the following transfer be made in the Law Department appropriation:

From the appropriation for A–1, Permanent Employees, 1 Stenographer at $1,100 per year, $20, to the appropriation for B–39, General Plant, $20.

This transfer is necessary to meet bills rendered for typewriter inspection, clock service, etc.

Yours respectfully,
E. Mark Sullivan,
Corporation Counsel.

Transferred by City Auditor with approval of Mayor December 6, 1922.

Market Department.

Boston, December 2, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—I most respectfully desire your approval to transfer $300 from B–31, Extermination of Insects, to A–3, Unassigned.

This is made necessary by the employment of men to be paid by the hour.

I also desire your approval to transfer $125 from B–8, Lights and Power, to E–10, Electrical. This is made necessary on account of charge of electric lamps by the Edison Electric Illuminating Company.

Yours respectfully,
Patrick H. Graham,
Superintendent of Markets.

Transferred by City Auditor with approval of Mayor December 1, 1922.

Park Department.

Boston, December 1, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Your approval is respectfully asked for the following internal transfers in the Park Department:

From the appropriation for A–1, Personal Employees, 1 Curator at $3,000 per year, $50.93, to the appropriation for 1 Head Keeper of Animals at $1,700 per year ($2,000), $50.93.

From the appropriation for A–1, Personal Employees, 1 Curator at $3,000 per year, $254.73, to the appropriation for 1 Advisor on Animals at $1,500 per year, $254.73.

From the appropriation for A–1, Personal Employees, 1 Curator at $3,000 per year, $27.09, to the appropriation for A–2, Temporary Employees, $27.09.

From the appropriation for E–13, General Plant, $150, to the appropriation for E–9, Machinery, $150.

The reason for the above requests are as follows:

On account of the resignation of the curator, additional duties have been given to the head keeper of animals, and an increase from $1,700 to $2,000 per year is recommended. It also necessitates the appointment of an advisor on animals at $1,500 per year. The sum of $27.09 is needed for temporary employees.

The request for an additional $150 on machinery materials will be needed to pay the expenses to the end of the fiscal year.

Very respectfully yours,
James B. Shea,
Chairman.

Transferred by City Auditor with approval of Mayor December 1, 1922.

Police Department.

Boston, November 16, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,

Respectfully,
Herbert A. Wilson,
Police Commissioner.

Transferred by City Auditor with approval of Mayor December 1, 1922.

From the appropriation for C–3, Electrical, $100, to the appropriation for C–6, Stable, $100.

Reasons for above transfers:

POLICE DEPARTMENT ORDERS.

General Order No. 169.

A Trial Board, consisting of Captains Grant, Dailey and Rooney, having heard by reference a complaint against Patrolman Rudolph L. Trent of Division 9, charging him with conduct unbecoming an officer, reported to the commissioner a finding of guilty. In accordance with which the said Patrolman Rudolph L. Trent was on November 17, 1922, dismissed from the Police Department.

Due notice of such dismissal, with the reason therefor, was duly and specifically given in writing on November 17, 1922, to the said Rudolph L. Trent.

On the twenty-first day of November, 1922, the said Rudolph L. Trent requested in writing a hearing as provided by the General Laws, and the Police Commissioner set down Wednesday, November 29, 1922, at eleven o'clock a. m., at the office of the Police Commissioner, as the time and place for said hearing and duly notified the said Rudolph L. Trent.

The said Rudolph L. Trent did on November 28, 1922, by notice in writing, waive his right to a public hearing, which was set down as above stated, and it is hereby ordered that the said Rudolph L. Trent should stand dismissed from the Police Department of the City of Boston.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

Herbert A. Wilson,
Commissioner.

General Order No. 170.

A Trial Board, consisting of Captains Grant, Hickey and Rooney, having heard by reference the several complaints of Capt. Richard Fitzgerald against Patrolmen John J. Biggins, Cornelius F. Crowley and John W. O'Brien of Division 9, charging them with neglect of duty, has reported to the commissioner a finding of guilty. In accordance with which, it is hereby ordered that the said Patrolmen John J. Biggins, Cornelius F. Crowley and John W. O'Brien each perform two hundred and ten hours' punishment duty.

"Neglect of duty" is a charge which covers many different violations of the rules of the department. In this instance, it means that Patrolman Biggins on the morning of October 30, 1922, at the request of former Patrolman Rudolph L. Trent of Division 9, gave to him two cartridges; that Patrolmen Crowley and O'Brien knew of the giving of the cartridges to former Patrolman Trent by Patrolman Biggins; and that none of these three officers reported that act to their commanding officer at the earliest opportunity as it was their duty to do.

I wish to call the special attention of the members of the force to the serious nature of the offences charged in the above complaints, although it might seem a minor matter to give ammunition to a brother patrolman. It must be fully understood that when a police officer is in need of extra ammunition, he should apply to his commanding officer for the same, and should occasion arise where an officer is obliged to borrow any ammunition from a brother officer, he should report that fact to his commanding officer at the earliest possible opportunity. The case in which former Patrolman Rudolph L. Trent was implicated might have resulted disastrously for some innocent person on the night on which the shooting occurred, and in this event, these patrolmen would no doubt have been involved in more serious difficulty.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

Herbert A. Wilson,
Commissioner.

General Order No. 171.

A Trial Board, consisting of Captains Harriman, Goff and Hickey, having heard by reference the complaint made by Capt. Bernard J. Hoppe of Division 20 against Patrolman Norman P. Cross of the same division, charging him with conduct unbecoming an officer, in that on the twenty-fifth day of November, 1922, the said Patrolman Norman P. Cross, while on duty, during his lunch hour did take one glass of intoxicating liquor, has reported to the commissioner a finding of guilty with a recommendation that he be reprimanded in General Orders.

I regret at this time that it is necessary for me to bring to the attention of the force what I thought I had, by General Order No. 106, dated August 22, 1922, explained fully and explicitly to the members of the Police Department.

The use of alcoholic liquors by a member of the Police Department in order to keep him fit for service on a cold day is a dangerous practice. At this time I am taking the recommendation of the Trial Board in the matter of Patrolman Cross because of his previous good record and the somewhat trying circumstances under which he worked, together with the fact that he was not intoxicated and was in condition to attend to his crossing, but his act was an infraction of section 10 of Rule 36 of the Rules and Regulations of the department and consequently cannot be overlooked.

It is hereby ordered that Patrolman Norman P. Cross be reprimanded in General Orders.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

Herbert A. Wilson,
Commissioner.

General Order No. 172.

It has come to my attention that members of the department at times make recommendations to the District Attorney or his assistants or to a judge of the Superior Court regarding the disposition of their cases. Frequently officers confer with defendants' counsel regarding their cases and the officers agree with such counsel to make a certain recommendation and do make it, many times to the embarrassment of the court and District Attorney's office. This practice must be discontinued and recommendations will be permitted by any member of the department only when requested by the District Attorney or his assistants or the court.

All officers summoned to the District Attorney's office or to the Superior Court with cases must make sure whether the defendant has given his true name or an alias, whether or not the defendant has a previous record and if he has, to make sure that they have certified copies of the conviction in each case, the same to be ready to be presented to the District Attorney's office or court.

An officer summoned to appear in the District Attorney's office or Superior Court on a certain day and time and having a case in the lower court on the same day, must arrange with one of the instructors of his division, or other officer, and if in Central Court with the officer of rank detailed to said court, to have his lower court case continued or looked after properly until he is excused from or is through in the Superior Court.

All officers summoned to the District Attorney's office or to the Superior Court must make themselves familiar with the testimony of each witness so that they will know the essential facts in their case. As far as possible officers should avoid putting before the Grand Jury witnesses who will repeat the testimony of a previous witness.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

Herbert A. Wilson,
Commissioner.

General Order No. 173.

Rule 47, section 1, of the Rules and Regulations of the Police Department is hereby amended by striking out the whole of said section and inserting in place thereof the following new section which shall be known as section 1:

1. Revolvers will be furnished to all members of the force, to be carried loaded when on duty. Each member shall be held responsible for the perfect condition of the revolver furnished to him. He must see that it is clean, loaded and ready for use; and should it need repairs, he must so report at once to his commanding officer. Extra cartridges will be furnished from time to time to members of the department upon requisition being made to their commanding officers for the purpose of testing their police service revolvers or of replacing expended cartridges or cartridges likely to have become defective. No ammunition of a kind other than that used and supplied by the department shall be used by any member of the department or held in his possession except by permission of his commanding officer. Members of the force shall familiarize themselves with the handling and the work of their revolvers, and they shall carry when on duty no revolver not of a pattern authorized by the commissioner.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

Herbert A. Wilson,
Commissioner.

General Order No. 174.

A Trial Board, consisting of Captains Grant, Rooney and Skillings, having heard by reference a complaint against Patrolman Frederick A. Minor of Division 10, charging him with neglect of duty and conduct unbecoming an officer, reported to the commissioner a finding of guilty. In accordance with which the said Patrolman Frederick A. Minor was on December 1, 1922, dismissed from the Police Department.

Due notice of such dismissal with the reasons therefor was duly and specifically given in writing on December 2, 1922, to the said Frederick A. Minor.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

Herbert A. Wilson,
Commissioner.

General Order No. 175.

The Superintendent of Police is hereby directed to make the following details for duty at the city election in this city on Tuesday, December 12, 1922:

1. Three patrolmen for duty in the office of the Board of Election Commissioners, City Hall Annex, from twelve o'clock noon, Monday, December 11, 1922, such detail to continue until all ballots cast at the election have been returned.

2. An officer of rank above that of sergeant for duty at the City Hall Annex, to supervise the police detail, from four o'clock a. m., Tuesday, 12th instant, until relieved.

3. The necessary number of patrolmen from the several police divisions to attend the several polling places in this city on city election day, to preserve order and protect voters in the full exercise of their rights.

4. Two patrolmen, from Division 18, to report at office of Board of Election Commissioners at three o'clock a. m., Tuesday, 12th instant, and there to receive ballot boxes, ballots and other paraphernalia required for the election in Ward 24, and deliver same on motor vehicle, furnished by the Election Commissioners, to the station house of Division 18.

5. Twenty-five sergeants, one to a motor vehicle, to report at office of the Election Commissioners, City Hall Annex, Court square, at four o'clock a. m. (excepting the sergeants for Wards 21 and 23, who will report at 3.30 a. m.), Tuesday, December 12, 1922; thence to proceed in such vehicle with ballot boxes, ballots, etc., to the several precincts in their respective wards (Ward 24, excepted) and deliver same to the police officer detailed in each precinct.

6. Nine patrolmen from Division 18, one patrolman from Division 19 and one patrolman from Division 17 to report at the station house of Division 18 at 4.30 a. m., Tuesday, December 12; thence to proceed in a motor vehicle to be provided for the purpose with the ballot boxes and other paraphernalia and distribute the same in the various precincts of Ward 24.

7. One patrolman to each of the 274 precincts to report at five o'clock a. m., Tuesday, December 12, to receive ballot boxes, etc., from sergeants detailed on motor trucks, in such cases provided; such detail to continue until the ballots are counted and the result declared. They are then to bring the ballots and returns to the Election Commissioners' office.

8. Cards with the ward and precinct number and location of voting booth printed thereon have been forwarded to the several police divisions, on which the division commander will write the name, the division number and the number of the officer detailed at 5 a. m., December 12, at the voting booth of each respective precinct on his division. This card, to be given to the officer so detailed at the voting booth, will be retained in his possession until delivered by him to an employee of the Board of Election Commissioners, who will arrive accompanying a sergeant on motor vehicle from the Election Commissioners' office on the morning of December 12 with ballot boxes, ballots, etc., as hereinbefore stated. This card, when returned by such employee to the office of the Election Commissioners will be its receipt that the ballot boxes, ballots, etc., have arrived at their proper destination.

9. In the case of Ward 24, such cards, after having been properly filled out by the division commander, will be given to the two patrolmen who are to report at the office of the election commissioners at three o'clock a. m., Tuesday, 12th instant, as herein stated, and are to be delivered by them to the Election Commissioners on receipt of the ballot boxes, ballots, etc.

10. On receipt by the patrolman from the sergeant, detailed on motor vehicle, as herein provided, of registering ballot box, voting lists and such other documents as may have been received from the Election Commissioners, the patrolman detailed at polling place will deliver same to the warden or clerk of the precinct, allowing no person to take or handle them before such delivery, and hand the key of the registering ballot box to the warden. On delivery of ballots to the warden, the patrolman will take from him a receipt for the ballots, which receipt will be returned to the Election Commissioners.

11. After the warden has opened the box and allowed the election officers and the public to see that it is empty, the box is to be again locked and the key given to the patrolman who is to retain it until after the polls have closed, except that, at the request of the warden, the patrolman may allow him to open the box for the purpose of pressing down the ballots, in order to make room for more ballots, after which the patrolman will see that the box is again locked, and the key returned to the police officer.

12. The patrolman will obtain from the warden copies of poster, which will be sent to the latter, in relation to smoking and the use of liquor in polling places, and post same in conspicuous places where it may be easily read. Tacks will be sent for the purpose.

13. The warden will deliver to the patrolman detailed at the polling place for his use at that place a copy of the descriptive voting list, which must be returned to the warden at the close of the polls.

14. When the polls are opened, the patrolman will mark in the place indicated on the tag attached to the key the figures which the register shows before any ballots are cast.

15. At 4 p. m., Tuesday, December 12, when the polls close, one sergeant will report in each of the twenty-six wards (Ward 24 excepted), to meet motor vehicle at last point of morning distribution; thence to proceed to each of the several precincts in his respective ward, and receive registering ballot box (which must be locked) and key thereof, voting lists envelope, signed by the warden and other election officers, receipts for ballots, unused ballot envelope (containing unused and spoiled ballots), stamps for marking spoiled ballots, carry them to the Election Commissioners' office and deliver same to some member of the Board of Election Commissioners.

16. When the polls are closed, the patrolman will mark on the same tag the figures which the register shows after all ballots have been cast. He will then hand the key to the warden, who will open the box and take out all the ballots to be sorted and counted. The warden will then cause the voting lists, including the list used by the police officer, to be sealed up in an envelope and the envelope certified by the signatures of himself and the other election officers, and the same returned to the Election Commissioners, as described in section 15 of this order. The patrolman will not allow this envelope to be put into the ballot box. The sergeant, who will report on motor vehicle, will keep it about his person until delivery at the office of the Election Commissioners. The unused and spoiled ballots are then to be put in the envelope for unused ballots, and the envelope sealed and certified.

17. When returning from polls, all motor vehicles must drive to the easterly side of City Hall Annex, Court square, where ballot boxes will be conveyed by chute to the basement.

18. It is important that the patrolman sees that the voting lists envelope is signed by the warden, clerk and all the inspectors. The patrolman will also see that the special book for signatures of voters is returned in the registering ballot box.

19. In case a patrolman is detailed to relieve another after the close of the polls, the commanding officer will see that he is instructed as to the duty of bringing the official returns, the box of ballots cast, and the press return to the Election Commissioners' office as soon as they are delivered to him by the election officers.

20. When the ballots have all been counted, the ballots thus counted, tally sheets and nothing else shall be placed by the warden in the leatheroid box sent for that purpose, which must be sealed up and signed by all the election officers. The patrolman will particularly see that this box is properly sealed up and that all the election officers have signed their names to the certificate on the box. The patrolman will then bring the box, official return, press return, and stamps for marking defective ballots to the City Hall Annex, Court square, and deliver same to the Election Commissioners. The patrolman is directed not to allow the official return or record book to be placed in the leatheroid box.

21. After the close of the polls a vehicle, to be provided for the purpose, will be sent to the various precincts in Ward 24 to bring police officers with regular ballot boxes, unused ballots, etc., to the station house of Division 18, from which place only two police officers need accompany the motor vehicle with the regular ballot boxes, unused ballots, etc., to the office of the Election Commissioners.

22. While the polls remain open, an officer of rank will visit the polling places in each division at stated intervals, to be designated by the captain, and in case of any disturbance will report the fact to the commanding officer of the station house without delay. If additional men are needed beyond the number available in that division, the officer in charge will communicate immediately with headquarters.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

Herbert A. Wilson,
Commissioner.

At the request of the City Council and under direction of the Board of Trustees, there was prepared a typewritten list containing 8,075 titles relating to United States History—a short title list of books in the Public Library of the City of Boston.

The following exhibitions were on view during various periods of the month: (a.) Photographs, prints and publications dealing with the great Boston Fire of 1872 and other conflagrations in the history of the city. (b.) An exhibit of models and drawings of modern scene designs executed by a group of American artists working in the theater. This collection was made by Miss Eva Purdy of the Detroit Museum. In addition there were examples of stenciled fabrics made for pageant productions, and a collection of books and prints on stage scenery and decoration. (c.) An interesting exhibit of books and prints relating to Gay's "Beggar's Opera" was shown, as well as forty photographs of artistic merit by Mr. Hamilton Revelle. In connection with the lectures on forestry and the Oberammergau Passion Play, prints and photographs were shown. During the month of November the supervisor of the Music Division, in co-operation with the Extension Division of the State Board of Education, made arrangements for a series of seven lectures on the Russian opera to be given in the Lecture Hall of the library early in December.

Appended will be found statistics from the Catalogue and Shelf Departments and from the bindery; also a report of volumes added during the month to the system, and volumes issued for home use, also a list of lectures and classes held at the Central Library Lecture Hall during the month.

CITY PROVIDES COAL.

More than 2,000 families in Boston have taken advantage of the foresight of Mayor Curley in securing coal for them and have made purchases from the City Fuel Department in the four days that the coal has been placed on sale this week. As the result of the sales $28,350.50 in cash has been deposited to the credit of the committee.

Sales for Monday amounted to $5,463.30; Tuesday the sales were $9,669.25; on Wednesday they were $6,583.25 and on Thursday $5,525.45.

The coal arrived in Boston last week on the S. S. "Key West" of the Roosevelt line of steamers. The work of unloading was begun on Sunday, three thousand tons being placed in coal pockets at the navy yard and the remainder either at Medford street, with the Metropolitan Coal Company, or at the old Bradford-Warren coal yard upon Albany street.

On Thursday deliveries began and it is expected that most of the orders taken up to that time will be filled by Saturday afternoon and the citizens made warm and comfortable.

Mayor Curley desires jail sentences rather than fines meted out to tenement section coal peddlers, some of whom have been merely fined for defrauding dwellers in the poor sections, in the matter of prices, quality and quantity.

A communication from Sealer of Weights and Measures, Charles B. Wooley, informed the Mayor that his department has already secured court fines in half a dozen cases for conviction in short-weight cases.

The letter also recommended that tenement families go to the nearest big coal yard and buy there, on cash and carry basis, what fuel they need, rather than buy it from wagon peddlers in 100-pound lots, for which the peddlers exact a much higher rate.

Sealer Wooley states that tenement dwellers are being gouged for their fuel at the rate of $25 per ton, forced as they are to buy coal in 100-pound lots from unscrupulous peddlers. Not only have many of the peddlers given them short weight, but Wooley's inspectors, who examined some of the peddlers' coal, found that there was only about 700 pounds of real coal to the ton of it—the remaining 1,300 pounds being made up of slate and bone and coal dust.

One of the large coal companies, not named in the Wooley letter, has preferred to sell coal to these peddlers at $18 per ton, rather than to the householders at $16 per ton, the letter claims. But the letter praises the large dealers generally, because of their readiness, at his request, to furnish all who come 100-pound bags of hard coal at 70 and 75 cents per bag. The peddlers are exacting prices of $1 and $1.25 per hundredweight for the same grade of coal.

Mayor Curley addressed Sealer Wooley the following communication:

Office of the Mayor,
December 7, 1922.

Mr. Charles B. Wooley, Sealer, Weights and Measures Department, City Hall Annex, Boston:

Dear Mr. Wooley,—I beg to acknowledge receipt of your communication setting forth the fact that many dealers are delivering coal which does not represent more than 700 pounds of real coal to the ton, the remainder being slate and bone, and that certain other dealers are charging as high as $25 per ton for coal sold by the hundred weight, or less.

In my opinion the dealer who would take advantage of a situation like the present, either to cheat the public on the character of fuel that is being sold or to charge an exorbitant price, should be punished by a jail sentence, and I beg to suggest that you wait upon the chief justice of the Municipal Court and request that as a further measure of protection to the public, where the public is cheated either in weight or quality, that in place of a fine a jail sentence be imposed.

Sincerely yours,
James M. Curley, Mayor.

TRANSFERS TO PUBLIC WELFARE DEPARTMENT.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, November 27, 1922.
To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—The Overseers of Public Welfare have requested an additional appropriation in the sum of $124,000, which, in their opinion, will be necessary to provide for the requirements under dependent's aid and mother's aid for the remainder of the fiscal year. The Soldiers' Relief Department, due in large measure to the establishment of the Municipal Employment Bureau and employment of a large number of World War veterans upon the transit extensions at East Boston, has sufficient balance on hand to make possible a transfer of $72,000 from Soldiers' Relief to F-10, Mother's Aid, the remainder of $52,000 to be transferred from the Reserve Fund.

I accordingly recommend the adoption of the accompanying order.

Respectfully yours,
James M. Curley, Mayor.

Director of Public Celebrations,
Boston, November 15, 1922.

Christmas, 1922.

At a meeting of the Public Celebrations Association, held Monday evening, November 13, tentative plans were made, subject to your Honor's approval, to conduct a more important and co-ordinated celebration of Christmas, on the night of December 24, than has heretofore been attempted. The particular effort in view is to gather together the large singing groups for general carol singing throughout the city, and to alternate their programs at the Parkman Bandstand between the hours of 10 and 12 p. m. in conjunction with a band. We also suggest that a specially designed and simple Christmas card, extending the season's greetings to all strangers in Boston at that time, be written especially by your Honor, and issued to all hotels to be placed in guests' rooms.

These are the main points, and the following estimate will indicate the rest of the program:

Christmas Tree—Park Department.

Band	$232 00
Mayor's cards	400 00
Fountain illumination	100 00
Placards	30 00

COMPLETION OF BRIDGE, ALLSTON.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, November 27, 1922.

To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I transmit herewith communication received from the Commissioner of Public Works in reply to the order passed by your honorable body wth reference to the delay in completing the new bridge over the Boston and Albany railroad tracks at Cambridge street, Allston.

Respectfully,
James M. Curley, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Public Works Department,
Boston, November 24, 1922.

To the Honorable the Mayor:

I return herewith order of the City Council, relative to the reason for the delay in building new bridge over the Boston and Albany Railroad tracks at Cambridge street, Allston.

This contract was approved on June 22, 1922, and provided for completion by December 30, 1922. The Boston Bridge Works, immediately upon signing the contract, placed an order for steel with two companies—Carnegie Steel Company and the Bethlehem Steel Company—two of the best and biggest in the country, the total amount required being about 650 tons, of which only 196 tons have been received up to date in spite of every effort of the contractor to expedite delivery.

Similar conditions exist as regards the contract for Chelsea South Bridge. This delay is not so serious as the work of providing the foundations is progressing rapidly.

From information received, the principal difficulty in getting steel is the shortage of cars in the Pittsburgh district, which is very serious and particularly so since so many cars have been devoted to the perhaps more important service of shipping coal.

As the matter stands today it looks as though work on the Cambridge street structure cannot begin before February 1, 1923, as it will take at least two months for fabrication in the shop, after the steel is delivered, to have it ready for erection.

Yours respectfully,
Jose h A. Rourke,
Commissioner of Public Works.

INFORMATION ASKED AS TO ELECTRIC RATES.

Coun. WATSON offered an order—That the Law Department and the special counsel representing the city in the case of the City of Boston against the Edison Illuminating Company of Boston for a reduction in rates, etc., before the Public Utilities Commission, inform the City Council forthwith the status of the hearing in detail and what results have been obtained.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, I have waited a long time for the close of the hearing on the rate case on the part of the City of Boston against the Edison Company. At a former meeting I had Mr. Dwelley here, one of the experts employed by the city, and in a general way he told us why the delay in this rate case was made possible. He said that there was certain information asked for by the city's attorneys a long time ago, very, very important information, and that the Edison Company had failed to furnish that information up to the time he appeared here in the Executive Committee. He said that the attorneys for the city tried to get the Public Utilities Commissioners to compel the Edison Company to furnish information, but they didn't show any particular interest in hurrying up the hearing a particle. That may be the reason for the delay. It is true that there has been a reduction in rates voluntarily made by the Edison Company of about 17 per cent. It is true that the $110,000 we have appropriated has brought results in a minor way, and I am satisfied that if we continue the result finally will be that we shall get electricity for at least 7 cents per killowatt hour in Boston to the consumer. Even that is a high price as compared with the prices in other large cities. I have no intention today of dwelling at any length on the advisability or practicability of the city entering into the lighting of its own streets and furnishing the public with electricity. My information and my opinion is that not only is it possible and practicable to do it, but that it would be a great benefit to the public. But it does seem to me that the Edison Company, with its powerful ramifications and its ability to do things in a very substantial way, has been able to stop and retard any movement along the line of public ownership of the Edison Company. My purpose today is twofold in introducing this order—first of all, to try to keep awake or arouse from slumber the public concerning the encroachment upon the people's rights by the great public service corporations. It is unfortunate that I have to make this statement two weeks before election, because it will be misconstrued by many people. Those who know me will not question my motives, but those who are perhaps not friendly to politicians or to public officeholders will say that it is a campaign speech. Be that as it may, conditions are such as to compel me to spread on the records of the Council a statement about conditions that should not exist. The members read in the Sunday papers that about five or eight weeks ago the Edison Electric Illuminating Company, that gigantic monopoly, appeared before the Public Utilities Commission and had a hearing upon their petition for additional capitalization, and that recently that petition has been granted. You will remember that years ago they were able to get legislation on Beacon Hill prohibiting the City of Boston from laying wires under the streets, under our own streets and into our own buildings, to serve electricity to ourselves or to those who might want to buy it from a city plant in the Annex. They succeeded in doing that because of their power. They are greater, more powerful, than the city. I have repeated that time and time again, and I am going to continue my agitation, whether I am re-elected to this body or not, and hope some time to see the day when Boston will be removed from the control and domination of these public service corporations. My purpose today is to keep what little interest there is awakened, so that people will understand their own danger. I am continually preaching this on the floor of the Council, wherever I go, in my own home and among my friends. The reason for the great unrest we see at the present time is because the public has become satisfied that the privileged class can get what they go after, although they are few in numbers, and that the many can get very little. That sounds like the talk of a firebrand, it sound socialistic, but it is the absolute truth and cannot be denied. The few with influence can go and get what they want, and the many cannot. You can see it in this coal situation. Families with a large number of children in their homes have to fight to get a ton of coal from the Fuel Administrators, while right out through the Back Bay or in the influential suburbs you will see five, ten, fifteen and twenty-five tons of coal being dumped into a house of some one of financial standing. Now, we all have to face this question. The radical spirit is rife in the country. We desire to get away from the evil influences that have been handling our political affairs, that have been becoming stronger hourly. As a result, you can see the overturns in the recent election. LaFollette, a man who was going to be driven out of the country because of his attitude in the war, has been returned to the United States Senate from Wisconsin by 200,000 majority, even though the neighboring State of Minnesota had denied him the right to speak in public. Senator Newberry of Michigan has been compelled to resign from the Senate, and a Democrat has been elected in his place, for the first time in fifty years. Frazier, from North Dakota, has been elected. And so I might go along the line. Beveridge, a radical, was nominated and then defeated by a radical in Indiana. The king of reactionaries, Senator Lodge of our own state, has just been re-elected by an extremely narrow margin. The people want a change, and when they cannot get it through the Legislature, through their representatives, they lose faith in the country and go out and start radical movements of the rankest type. You read in the paper this morning about Debs, a sincere man, whose ideas do not agree with mine, but a man whose sincerity we cannot deny, a Socialist of the deepest dye. He was received in a hall by 4,000 people, and many were outside who could not get in, and he was cheered for an hour. By whom? By radicals, by people who feel that the ordinary man cannot get a square deal. So the whole story is this. This radical feeling, this unrest, this "so-called Bolshevist spirit, is brought about, fellow members, by reason of the lack of confidence of many in the future. The Public Utilities Commission, after having heard for a few days the petition of the Edison Electric Illuminating Company for the right to issue 54,067 shares of stock, representing in round figures $8,000,000, for the purpose of building a new plant in Weymouth, against the protest of the City of Boston, were permitted to issue that within less than four weeks of the hearing. But when it comes to a question of giving some reduction in rates so as to benefit the many rather than the few, the influential rather than the uninfluential, the hearing goes on and on without coming to a conclusion. What is happening in connection with this proposed issue of additional stock by the Edison Company. Let me tell you. Fifty-four thousand sixty-seven shares of stock are to be issued at $150 a share, amounting to about $8,110,000. Then what happens? The par value is $100. That stock will be issued to the pets, the privileged few interested in the Edison Company. President Edgar gets $60,000 a year. He is in the privileged class in that organization, and of course he benefits by this sort of thing. This stock is to be issued at $150 a share, when the par is $100. Not only that, it is issued at $150 a share when the price in the market is $176. That will mean $26 profit for every single share that they buy. And outsiders cannot buy it. What do those figures mean? They mean that the $26, the difference between the $150 for which it is sold and the $176 which represents its market price, will go to these specially favored few. That will amount in all to more than $1,000,000. That is what the Public Utilities Commission does. The Edison Company wants to build a plant at Weymouth, and let me tell you something about that. I am told, and I believe I am right, and I don't think they will dare to deny it, that the contract for building the Edison plant at Weymouth has already been let without competition to Stone & Webster. There is the story—a little, close corporation, and this Edison Company not only sells electricity, but they are going to sell steam. The Post of Saturday said:

"The Edison Electric Light Company of Boston has gone into the steam heating busines on a large scale. This winter the company will heat a big section of the business district of the city by steam."

That is, they are going to do this heating of buildings with the surplus steam from their plant. The first thing you know they will be in the meat business, in the grocery business, in other kinds of business. I am going to conclude by repeating this: For some time the people have been crying to get action before the Public Utilities Commission in the matter of the reduction of rates. Nothing doing! The attorneys for the city have been weeks and weeks trying to get information from the Edison Company, trying to prove their claims against the Edison Company by the company's own witnesses, and the Public Utilities Department will not compel them to furnish the information. But when the Edison Company goes there with a petition for the right to issue additional stock, they have the right given them to issue 54,067 shares of new stock at $150 a share, netting $8,110,000, giving a profit of $26 a share to every one of those 54,000 shares sold by the Edison Company to themselves, because they will sell it to themselves. The public are not permitted to buy it, but it will be bought up by this little ring in the company. It will simply be a means for them to add millions to the millions they already have, God forgive them,—they cannot carry it with them,—but the Public Utilities Commission within four weeks after that petition is presented permits them to issue that stock, putting into the pockets of the favored few about $1,200,000. They will buy the stock at $150, when it is selling on the Stock Exchange at $176. There is no getting away from that; it is as plain as the nose on your face. And the par value is $100. I am going to say this, and it cannot be successfully denied, that the Edison Electric Illuminating Company, through the exorbitant charges to consumers of Greater Boston and of Boston in particular for electricity, is able to pay $60,000 a year to its president, when they could get a man as good as he is for $10,000. I don't believe any man who walks is worth more than $10,000 on any company's pay roll. That is how socialistic I am. Ten thousand dollars ought to be the limit. They have got anywhere from 70 to 100 on the pay roll getting salaries from $10,000 a year up to $40,000 a year. There has been an effort to find out what their pay roll was, the salaries that are being paid, and it cannot be done. The Public Utilities Commission will not compel them to furnish the salary list, showing the salaries that are being paid. There are men receiving $10,000 and more who do not appear on the pay roll at all, some traveling in Europe who are getting more than $10,000 a year. Why? Because they are pets of the powers that be or pets of somebody on Beacon Hill, people whom they can reach when they need them. Then, they are paying out over $400,000 a year in legal fees. I regret to say that, by the ability of the counsel of the company to delay and hold up the matter before the Public Utilities Commission, there is danger of the city being compelled to drop its case for lower rates, because I am afraid that the Mayor is getting discouraged because of lack of action on the part of our attorneys in the matter and may feel that he will have to shut it off. I trust and pray that he will not. I stand ready to vote every dollar that is necessary to bring the Edison Company to their knees. It may not mean a saving in great amounts to the people immediately, but in the course of ten years it will come back tenfold, and I only trust that the Mayor will see through their game and not be discouraged by this delay. Delay means nothing to them. They can spend $100 against the city's dollar, and not feel it. I am afraid that the Mayor does not understand what they are up to. This delay is for the purpose of discontinuing a case, so that the consumers will not get lower rates. We have already saved $800,000 by our agitation. They reduced the rate from 12 cents, not including coal and other charges, to 9½ cents, and if we win our case before the Board and there is a refund of the money paid under the coal clause by the city it will mean $50,000 a year, which for four years will amount to $200,000, and that added to the $800,000 will mean we will save $1,000,000. True, it will cost over $100,000, but I hope and trust that the Mayor will not be discouraged by the lack of speed on the part of our attorneys in the case. The delay is not their fault, but the fault of the Public Utilities Commission and the Edison Company. They think that if they can delay the thing and delay it it will tire the other fellow out. I ask a suspension of the rule that my order may be put through at this time, and I do hope that my fellow members will not lose interest in this matter. It is vital. If we lose this case against the Edison Company, we will be worse off than when we started, because if they can beat us after the fight we have made we can never get started again.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

LEASE OF CITY LAND IN WEST ROXBURY.

Coun. FORD offered an order—That his Honor the Mayor be and he hereby is empowered for a nominal consideration to execute and deliver a lease to Fred P. Davis of 1,200 square feet of land on Washington street, in that part of Boston called West Roxbury, for a term of five years, reserving to the City of Boston the right to cancel said lease by delivering to said Davis, or his legal representatives, thirty days' notice of such cancellation; said lease to be satisfactory in form to the Law Department. No building is to be placed on said land except in accordance with plans approved by the Commissioner of Public Works as to the position of any building to be erected on said land and as to the construction of said building.

Coun. FORD—Mr. President, so that the Council will understand what the order means, I want to say that Mr. Davis is in the monument business in West Roxbury, Roslindale. He has a place of business on Washington street, just beyond Forest Hills. The land there is owned by the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad. He wanted to extend his little place, which is about as large as the enclosure inside these desks here, building a little shack or a somewhat larger building on the right of his present place of business, a small establishment. The land is owned by the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad. When he wanted to build he ran into this proposition, that Stony brook ran through there, and, of course, the City of Boston has some sewerage rights in Stony brook. He could not build this building without the City of Boston releasing its right or executing a lease, for a nominal consideration. The city has no real interest in the land at all, except in that easement for sewerage purposes. So the only thing he could do was to get in touch with the Public Works Commissioner. He was referred by him to the Law Department of the City of Boston. Mr. O'Malley handling the matter. I conferred with Mr. O'Malley last week, Thursday. Mr. O'Malley pointed out that he thought the proper thing to do was not for the city to release any rights at all, but to execute an instrument such as is suggested here, and Mr. Day agreed with him in that. Under it, if approved by the Mayor and the Council, he will have a right to erect a little building there satisfactory to the Public Works Commissioner; then if the city for any reason wishes the building to be removed, he will have to tear it down in thirty days. So the city is in full possession of all its rights. I thought I would make this statement to the Council to show that the city is not giving anything away. It is simply desired to give this man a chance to expand his little place of business in that place in a way satisfactory to the Mayor, the Public Works Commissioner and the Law Department of the City of Boston. So, if there are no further questions, I move a suspension of the rule so that the order may be passed and sent along to the Mayor.

Coun. WATSON—I understand that this is all agreed upon by the Public Service Commissioner, the Law Department and the parties in interest?

Coun. FORD—Yes, sir. I consulted the Mayor and he sent me to the Public Works Commissioner, and he sent me to the Law Department. I then consulted with a representative of the Law Department, Mr. O'Malley, and this order is the result of the conference with the three officials combined.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, I would not attempt to doubt what the gentleman states, but I prefer to look into the matter and to see the layout.

President BRICKLEY—Do you want it in Executive Committee?

Coun. WATSON—That will suit me.

The order was referred to the Executive Committee.

LEASING OF CITY BUILDING.

Coun. FORD offered an order—That the Superintendent of Public Buildings, with the approval of the Mayor, be authorized to lease, for a nominal consideration, to the Major Michael J. O'Connor Camp No. 4, United Spanish War Veterans, the building at 456 and 458 West Fourth street, formerly the house of Ladder 5, to be used for a headquarters for said organization, on the condition that said camp will provide accommodations in said building for the members of Post 32, G. A. R., and Command No. 19, Union Veterans Union, satisfactory to the Superintendent of Public Buildings.

Coun. FORD—Mr. President, this is for the Spanish War Veterans, and I think the other veterans are going into the same building. It is satisfactory to the Superintendent of Public Buildings, and being a military matter I think it should be passed under a suspension of the rule.

The rule was suspended and the order was passed.

TRIBUTE TO GENERAL EDWARDS.

Coun. GILBODY offered the following:

Whereas, Maj.-Gen. Clarence R. Edwards will be retired this week from the military service of the nation; and

Whereas, This esteemed and beloved soldier and gentleman has been a potent force for good since he has made his headquarters in this city before and since the war, and has proven himself to be a foremost exponent of the military principles and ideals of America as commander of many of the youths of Boston on the battlefields of France in 1917-18, thereby endearing himself to the heart of each and every member of his command; be it

Resolved, That we, the members of the Boston City Council, on behalf of the men, women and children of our great city, do hereby express our sincere regret over the loss of his military service to our nation, state and city and extend to him the heartfelt thanks of the people of the city for said service.

Ordered, That the City Clerk send an attested copy of these preambles and order to Maj.-Gen. Clarence R. Edwards.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

RECESS TAKEN.

The Council voted at 3.06 o'clock p. m., on motion of President BRICKLEY, to take a recess subject to the call of the President.

The members of the Council reassembled in the chamber and were called to order by the President at 4.32 o'clock p. m.

Coun. HAGAN in the chair.

Report accepted; order passed.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE REPORTS.

Coun. FORD, for the Executive Committee, submitted the following, viz.:

1. Reports on petitions (referred today) for permits for children under fifteen years of age to appear at various places of amusement—that permits be granted, viz.:

Mme. Maybelle Lyman, Copley-Plaza Ballroom, December 18.

Amelia Burnham, Mechanics Building, December 18.

Reports accepted; permits granted on the usual conditions.

2. Report on message of Mayor and orders (referred November 20) transferring $5,525 to appropriation for the House of Correction—that the orders ought to pass.

The question came on the acceptance of the report and the passage of the order.

Coun. MORIARTY—Mr. President, the commissioner when he was here said that he had $5,000 there which could be transferred, that had been appropriated for an engine, and I felt that it would be better to allow him to transfer that money than to take away the $5,000 from the food appropriation for Long Island. We have just taken action now on the Overseers of the Poor Department. They are going to spend $1,434,000. We have given them two transfers within the last ten weeks. The doctor has appeared here today, and I think the percentage that he has figured on this appropriation is not a fair percentage, as forecasting the number of people that are possibly going to Long Island this winter. In this matter I feel that we should not figure on what somebody alse may do if a certain emergency arises. It is not a question of what the Mayor or somebody else may do in such an event. I don't feel that we should put the Mayor in the position of having to take care of those people. We have already taken care of them in the budget, and I feel now that, having voted that money, it should stay in the budget. What do we find? We find that they have picked up a number of men and women in our city for using drugs. They have sent them to Deer Island and, in order to give those drug fiends better food than others, they are going to take away from the food of the unfortunates at Long Island. I am not taking the doctor's word for everything, although I have as much regard for him as anyone has; but we had another doctor down there, and we found by investigation of this Council that, notwithstanding his being a doctor, the place was walking, alive, and that the poor unfortunates there were mistreated in every way, even in the matter of their food, even in the matter of their bathing. Yet a doctor was in control at that time, and had been in control for ten years, developing a place which was the worst place within this country to which to send anybody. Well, they come along now and propose to take $5,000 from money that we appropriated in the budget at the beginning of this year. The doctor who has come here today and who is now at the head of the department did not compile the budget that we passed this year, but I have information that the food that is being given to the inmates at Long Island today is not as good as was given them there last year. That information was given me since the last meeting, and that is my reason for not appropriating or transferring the money at the request of the doctor. I feel that if there are to be any favors extended as between the man who has contracted the drug habit and the poor unfortunate who is at Long Island, my sympathy is with the unfortunate at Long Island more than with the drug addict. Now, the doctor has said that they are not going to use the engine for which an appropriation was provided, that he has bought storage batteries and has no intention of using the engines. So there is $5,000 there that he is satisfied to take for this purpose. As long as he has himself told the Council that he would be satisfied to take it and use it for this purpose, I believe we ought to take the doctor at his own word and allow the money in the food appropriation at Long Island to stay there. Certainly if we don't get the engine down there until next year nobody will suffer. In so far as percentages are concerned, the doctor tells us that the percentage going to Long Island has increased 9 per cent in the last nine months, where it should have decreased. If it has increased nine per cent in the last nine months, according to my way of looking at the matter, as we are approaching the time of year when the big increase comes—November, December and January—there will be a larger increase than 11 per cent. Still, as he has told you, he has only prepared to take care of that 11 per cent with the expenditure of $5,000, and if there is more than 11 per cent, in his own words, he will not have money enough to take care of them. Where it is simply a question of making one out of two possible transfers, where there are two appropriations of $5,000 each, either of which can be used, and one is for food and another for an engine that will not be supplied, I certainly have no question in my mind as to the transfer for which I want to vote. I feel that the money that was appropriated for the engine is the amount that should be transferred from the budget for this purpose. I hope the matter will be referred back to the committee.

Chairman HAGAN—The question is on the acceptance of the report and the passage of the order.

Coun. MORIARTY—Mr. President, I move recommittal to the Executive Committee.

Coun. Moriarty's motion to recommit was declared lost.

Coun. Moriarty doubted the vote and asked for the yeas and nays.

The motion to recommit was lost, yeas 3, nays 4:

Yeas—Coun. Ford, Gilbody, Moriarty—3.

Nays—Coun. Donoghue, Hagan, Lane, Watson—4.

Chairman HAGAN—The question comes on acceptance of the report and passage of the order.

Coun. DONOGHUE—Mr. President, I simply want to say, in connection with this proposed transfer, that in my opinion it is merely a matter of bookkeeping, any way. If there is $5,000 down there for an engine, and it can be transferred to food for the inmates of Long Island, if it becomes necessary at a later date to furnish more food in connection with the care of the inmates on Long Island, and the Commissioner of Institutions says that he wants the money that now stands for the engine transferred for that purpose, it can be done. My sympathies are with the unfortunates in both institutions, Deer Island and Long Island. I think we ought to provide enough money to take care of both classes of unfortunates, those who are afflicted with the drug habit and the other unfortunates as well. Now, certainly if this money is not provided for them by means of transfer, they are going to suffer at Deer Island. As I say, it is merely a matter of bookkeeping. Let us transfer either item: It is immaterial to me which transfer item we pass, as in any event we will have the other one to fall back on, anyhow. I simply want to vote to take care of the unfortunates in an adequate manner, the inmates of Deer Island and those of Long Island. While on my feet I wish to say a word in view of what has been said by the councillor opposite (Coun. Moriarty). He said that awhile back conditions on Deer Island were most deplorable, referring to another doctor. Let me say that I, after listening to the evidence at that time, differed with him then, and I differ with him now. It is merely a matter of personal difference of opinion between him and myself. He thought conditions were very bad in the institutions at that time, while I personally thought they were all right and other members of the Council thought as I did. I thought the move was more political than anything else.

Coun. MORIARTY—Mr. President, as long as conditions at Long Island have been brought out, I want to say that when we lifted a bed down there at Long Island at that time and let it drop, vermin dropped all over the floor. If my brother on the other side who now says that conditions then were satisfactory to him had made the personal investigation I made he would have found out what I found out. I want to say to him that I made a personal investigation of conditions on Long Island, went through every room on Long Island, and that conditions were such there that they were unfit for cattle, let alone human beings. If that was satisfactory to other members of the Council, and if it was considered political, let me simply say that I am responsible for it and that I like to play that kind of politics. I want to say that the doctor there, Dr. Donlon himself, said in evidence, in answer to a question I put to him at Long Island, "Doctor, in what way can this island be cleaned up?" "By firing me and everybody else in power." That was his answer to my question. When he came here he tried to protect himself by the soldiers' preference act. The soldiers' preference act was put on the statute books for the purpose of taking care of worthy soldiers, and in view of his treatment of those at Long Island I could not see that he was a worthy soldier. I want to repeat that the evidence that I saw was evidence that I obtained through personal investigation of conditions on Long Island, and that that was what influenced me more than what was presented here in evidence.

Coun. DONOGHUE—I want to say further that I also personally investigated conditions at Long Island with other members of the Council, when we went down there. Of course, the only thing I could base my opinion on was what I actually saw myself. I did not see any of the conditions that Coun. Moriarty speaks of. Had I seen any such conditions my attitude would have been different, there is no question about that. But the conditions that I saw were all right when I saw them. Therefore, I felt that I should give the benefit of the doubt to the man in charge of the institution, because when I went there conditions were absolutely all right. Previous to that, of course, I don't know what happened. I do not doubt what Coun. Moriarty saw or what he didn't see, but my vote had to be governed by what I knew myself from my own actual observation. And when I spoke about political conditions I made no reference to any member of this body; but all of us know that political conditions, in so far as Dr. Donlon was concerned, had existed in that department for years. He had been fired and hired at least two or three times prior to my advent in the Council or that of Coun. Moriarty. I still feel that politics always existed, in so far as Dr. Donlon's conduct of the Long Island hospital was concerned.

The report was accepted and the order failed of passage (six votes being required for passage), yeas 5, nays 2:

Yeas—Coun. Donoghue, Ford, Hagan, Lane, Watson—5.

Nays—Coun. Gilbody, Moriarty—2.

Coun. Moriarty—Mr. President, I move a reconsideration.

Coun. FORD—Mr. President, I second the motion.

Reconsideration prevailed.

Coun. MORIARTY—Mr. President, I move recommittal to the Executive Committee.

Coun. FORD—Mr. President, I second the motion.

The matter was recommitted to the Executive Committee.

A communication from Commissioner Joseph A. Rourke of the Department of Public Works was as follows:

Boston, December 14, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Permission is respectfully requested to have work done, without advertising, for placing a permanent pavement over the high pressure fire pipe trench in Pearl street, between Franklin and High streets, to the Mt. Pleasant Contracting Company, at an estimated cost of $1,500.

The reason for this request is due to the fact that the high pressure fire trench in Pearl street is adjacent to two other public service corporation trenches and all the trenches will have to be repaved at the same time for a proper job. The Mt. Pleasant Contracting Company is doing the work for the public service corporations.

Respectfully yours,

Joseph A. Rourke,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Respectfully yours,

Joseph A. Rourke,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Supply Department.

Upon December 16 the Mayor approved a contract with the B. F. Sturtevant Company for furnishing to the Ferry Service of the Public Works Department one generator. A communication from Superintendent Frank P. Rock of the Supply Department was as follows:

Boston, December 14, 1922.

MORE TRAFFIC MEN NEEDED.

A conference was held at the office of the Mayor upon the 21st instant at which were present Police Commissioner Herbert A. Wilson, Budget Commissioner Charles J. Fox and City Auditor Rupert S. Carven to consider the question of providing better police protection. It was the contention of the Police Commissioner that in addition to the 150 men at present doing traffic duty, at least 100 additional men should be added to this force. In view of the number killed this year in Boston, to date, namely, 105 as against 88 in 1921, and in view of the further fact that the total number killed in the entire State was but 520 this year as against 544 in 1921, it is imperative that additional necessary protection be provided.

The approximate cost of maintaining an adequate traffic force by the addition of 100 men would represent at the maximum, in salary and equipment, including uniforms, approximately one half million dollars. The addition of this sum would be equivalent to an increase in taxes of about 35 cents per thousand of valuation. The present revenue from automobile fees is approximately $6,000,000 annually and, in the event of a gasolene tax being adopted, the revenue to the state would approximate $10,000,000.

Provided that a bill was enacted allowing an allotment to the cities and towns of one fourth of the total collected by the city and state for automobile and gasolene fees, as proposed, Boston, under the state tax apportionment, would receive about sufficient money to provide a traffic squad that would be adequate to properly safeguard the public highways.

The situation, in the opinion of his Honor the Mayor, is sufficiently critical to justify the acceptance by the Budget Commissioner of the proposed increase of the 100 men requested by the Police Commissioner, but the final approval of the Mayor will depend entirely upon the action by the Legislature.

It was the contention of the Police Commissioner that the requested increase is in keeping with the action taken in many of the larger cities of America—the increase in New York alone being 800 additional patrolmen, and this increase was largely in response to the demand of the Chamber of Commerce and the business men of New York. The same character of demand is being made daily to the Police Commissioner of Boston and to the Mayor. The appalling list of killed and injured certainly justifies serious consideration by the state authorities of the very reasonable request for a portion of the fees levied by the state upon the agency responsible for the present condition, namely, motor vehicles. The cooperation of the Chamber of Commerce, the Massachusetts Safety Council and the Boston Conservation Bureau, and all other agencies interested in the welfare of the public, and the future of the city, is cordially invited.

COASTING ON JULIAN STREET.

The Board of Street Commissioners have ruled that the order of the Board, dated December 14, 1921, approved by the Mayor December 19, 1921, designating certain public ways in the City of Boston as streets where coasting may be permitted, be and the same hereby is amended as follows:

To add to the Dorchester paragraph of said order: Julian street, from Howard avenue to Rand street.

FOR BETTER GAS REGULATIONS.

Mayor Curley in aiming to end the toll of human life by gas asphyxiation caused by faulty fixtures, and what he regards as low quality illuminating gas, has again raised the question of better protection for gas users.

Building Commissioner John H. Mahony represented the Mayor in a conference at the State House with Chairman Henry C. Attwill of the Department of Public Utilities and brought back word that Mr. Attwill will draft a measure for submission to the incoming Legislature to provide corrections of what are regarded as present evils.

One would give the Building Department authority to compel installation of a type of gas tube that would not dry-rot so quickly as it is claimed many of those now used do. It would also lodge with the state the duty of licensing gasfitters, as it now licenses plumbers and electricians.

The City of Boston now licenses gasfitters, but there is no agency to inspect household gas equipment and to condemn such paraphernalia as has become dangerous.

PORT OF BOSTON BILL.

Mayor Curley has directed the Boston agents of his Industrial Commercial Bureau to confer with Corporation Counsel E. Mark Sullivan relative to the drafting of a bill by which the Legislature would appropriate from $25,000,000 to $30,000,000 for the Port of Boston.

Mayor Curley acted in consequence of consultation with officials of the Chamber of Commerce's Maritime Bureau.

It is expected that the Interstate Commerce Commission will soon help the Port of Boston along, by abolishing the lond-standing adverse freight differentials against this city. At least, the bill is being drafted in this hope.

It will provide for a new Union Station, to be used only by passenger trains, and to be situated probably upon the Boston & Albany's spacious in-town train yards in Boylston street. It will contemplate the electrification of all railroads within twenty miles of Boston, and will create a belt-line service, linking up now separated freight terminals along the waterfront, with the aim of expediting freight shipment and taking from Boston's crowded streets great numbers of vehicles now used in freight transportation across the city.

SALE OF PUMPING STATION.

The Mayor has granted permission for the sale of the old pumping station building, Austin street, Hyde Park, the property of the Water Service of the Public Works Department, to Patrick F. Russo, for the sum of $200.

THE CITY CHRISTMAS TREE.

Mayor Curley will officially illuminate the municipal Christmas tree upon Boston Common at the Parkman Bandstand, Christmas eve, Sunday, 24th instant, and Santa Claus will greet the children of Boston.

Arrangements for musical and other features are being made by the Christmas Committee of the Public Celebrations Association, in co-operation with City Director O'Connell of Public Celebrations.

Christmas carols will be sung and a nativity pageant, arranged by the Community Service, will be enacted. Christmastide selections and other appropriate pieces will be played by the band. The Frog Pond will be illuminated.

Charles L. Burrill, chairman; Frank Chouteau Brown, Edward L. Curran, William Carroll Hill and James H. Phelan comprise the Christmas Committee.

Director O'Connell states that several requests have been made to have neighborhood Christmas trees and celebrations. He said that, with time to prepare such a plan, under local committees, may be tried next year.

TO BAR FILMS.

Mayor Curley would bar presentation of any Roscoe Arbuckle moving picture films in Boston. The local Board of Censorship, consisting of the Mayor, Police Commissioner and Municipal Court chief justice, has final determination upon such questions, but the Mayor feels free in advance to state his position.

"I believe all Arbuckle films henceforth ought to be barred, notwithstanding the action of Will H. Hays. They ought to be barred not only for protection of public morals, but for the protection of that industry—one of the most important today in America.

"The public has already taken its position upon the Arbuckle case, a position that is courageous, timely and imperatively necessary.

"The position taken is absolutely tenable, and departure from it would be indefensible."

WATER PROTECTION.

Mayor Curley sent the following letter to Commissioner Joseph A. Rourke of the Public Works Department, upon the 19th instant:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor,
December 19, 1922.

Joseph A. Rourke, Commissioner of Public Works, Boston, Mass.:

Dear Sir,—The damage resulting from a break in the main supply pipe of the Boston water system might prove as disastrous as a conflagration and in my opinion should be placed in the same category; first, in reason of the injury resulting from the breaking of the main, and second, from the menace represented by the inability to secure water with which to extinguish a fire.

In my opinion it would be advisable for you to confer with the Fire Commissioner and the chief of the department with a view to placing in the hands of the district chief in each of the fire districts a chart showing the location of water gates, and it might be well to consider the advisability of requesting the public in the event of a break to ring the nearest fire alarm box.

The breaking of the main on Beacon street last night was providential as far as its location was concerned from the standpoint of financial loss, for had it been located in a more congested center a loss representing many hundred of thousands of dollars might have resulted. In view of the fact that every minute may represent a loss running into thousands of dollars, I believe it would be advisable to adopt some definite program other than that which has been in force for the last hundred years, namely, of depending upon one emergency water crew to take care of possible breaks throughout the entire city.

Respectfully yours,
James M. Curley, Mayor.

CITY COLLECTOR EXPLAINS ERRORS OF PREDECESSOR.

City Collector William M. McMorrow has addressed the following communication, explaining the errors of his predecessor in office:

Boston, December 21, 1922.

G. L. Fisher & Company, 140 Dudley Street, Boston, Mass.:

Gentlemen,—Your letter to the Mayor, dated December 20, 1922, has been referred to me for reply.

It appears that the street apportionment for 1921 on the property at 3 Stratford street, West Roxbury, was paid on October 31, 1921, when my predecessor held the office of City Collector. Payment was credited in the special assessment book but was not credited in the ward manuscript. This payment should also have been credited in the ward manuscript at the same time that it was credited in the special assessment book. The advertisement was made from the ward manuscript and had not the error been made by a clerk, while my predecessor held office in October, 1921, the advertisement in the City Record of December 16, 1922, would not have appeared. However, I regret exceedingly that an error of this sort should have been made and desire to apologize to you. The advertisement has been corrected and will not appear in the City Record of December 23 or in the issue of December 30.

I trust that errors of this sort in the future will not occur and I am making a special effort in the department to see that posting in the future is made in both ledger accounts.

Very truly yours,
William M. McMorrow,
City Collector.

The City Record publishes the letter of City Collector McMorrow at the earnest personal request of Mr. Fisher.

DISCONTINUANCE OF HIGHWAY.

The Mayor has approved the order of the Board of Street Commissioners for the discontinuance of a small part of Dorchester avenue as a highway, on the northwesterly side, about one hundred and sixty-five feet north of the Fort Point channel drawbridge, South Boston.

The highway named Dorchester avenue is hereby discontinued on the northwesterly side, about one hundred and sixty-five feet north of the Fort Point channel drawbridge. Said part of said highway as hereby discontinued is bounded:

Southwest by the southwesterly line of said Dorchester avenue as it existed previous to this discontinuance, eighty-four and 30–100 feet; northwest by the northwesterly line of said Dorchester avenue as it existed previous to this discontinuance, eighty-four and 30–100 feet; and east by the westerly line of said Dorchester avenue as hereby established, one hundred fifty-five and 46–100 feet on a curve of one hundred sixty-two feet radius, containing ten hundred and sixty-four square feet, more or less.

No betterments are to be assessed for the making of the aforesaid improvement.

NEW HOTEL PROPOSED.

Mayor Curley announces a $7,000,000 commercial hotel, with theater annex, to be located in the vicinity of the junction of Tremont street and Shawmut avenue, is being planned.

The Mayor attended a conference of American Bonding Company salesmen at the Hotel Somerset, in conference with W. J. McDonald and other promoters of the plan outlined their campaign to the salesmen.

The Mayor is particularly impressed with the idea that $5,000,000 worth of bonds for the enterprise may be absorbed in Illinois and Indiana.

"Eastern pioneers built up the great West. Now Westerners are investing their money in the upbuilding of the East, because our own capital, here at home, is so stagnant and appears so to have lost heart about Boston's future," Mayor Curley declared.

GOOD CHEER FOR INMATES.

Mayor Curley, accompanied by Dr. David J. Johnson, Institutions Commissioner, will visit Long Island and Deer Island upon Sunday, 24th instant, to convey a message of good cheer to the inmates.

The members of the Boston City Council, also accompanied by Commissioner Johnson, will visit both Long Island and Deer Island today (Saturday), and also extend a message of good tidings.

An arrangement has been made wherein the 750 men, women and children at Long Island will receive small gifts, 750 parcels of candy and toys. Cigars will be presented the men and some of the elderly women who enjoy an occasional smoke. Every child will be remembered by a toy. Both at Long Island and Deer Island there will be appropriate Christmastide ceremonies.

ACCEPTANCE OF STREETS.

The locations, directions, widths and grades of the private ways, in West Roxbury district, have been approved and designated as follows:

Billings street, from Hamilton street to Prospect street.

Oakmere street, from Hamilton street to Prospect street.

Caledonian avenue, from Hamilton street to Prospect street.

TO MAKE REGISTRY SELF SUPPORTING.

Mayor Curley is determined that the office of Registry of Deeds should be made self-supporting.

Registrar Fitzgerald has asked the Mayor to find $3,200 somewhere for him so that he can provide expenses for his department for the remainder of this fiscal year, to January 31.

So far this year there have been entered at the Registry 62,719 records of transfer, as against a 470,009 total at this corresponding time a year ago.

The Registry's annual income now is $80,000, a sum well below its annual expenditures. Most of the difference Boston taxpayers are compelled to make up. Mayor Curley desires the fees increased 100 per cent, so that the total income would be $160,000.

VISIT OF INSURANCE OFFICIALS.

Mayor Curley has received advices from insurance authorities in Birmingham, England, that A. L. Hunt, general manager, and E. William Phillips, actuary, Wesleyan and General Assurance Society of Birmingham, and which is one of the largest in England, will visit Boston in April, 1923, to study life insurance methods prevailing here.

Messrs. Hunt and Phillips will incorporate a report relative to the life insurance methods pursued in the United States and which they will present to the leading insurance representatives of Great Britain.

CITY'S CHRISTMAS GREETING.

Charles L. Burrill, Chairman of the Public Celebration Association Christmas Committee, has recommended to Mayor Curley and Director of Public Celebrations O'Connell that greetings be extended by means of municipal Christmas cards to be distributed on Christmas morning to the guests of the principal hotels in Boston.

The committee have also recommended that the same greeting be conveyed upon the screens of the downtown motion picture theaters by means of a film to be especially made for the purpose.

Both the recommendations have been approved by Mayor Curley, and are being carried out by the committee, under the supervision of Director of Public Celebrations J. Philip O'Connell.

ACCEPTANCE OF MIDVALE ROAD.

The location, direction, width and grade of the private way designated as Midvale road, leading northeasterly from Corey street, for a distance of about 310 feet, West Roxbury, has been duly approved.

Items ordered: Locating buried shut-off gate on Faneuil street, Brighton, also on account of defective branch casting and removal of Lowry hydrant on Kilsyth road, Brighton. The estimated cost of extra work being $45.

ABATEMENT OF ASSESSMENTS.

In the matter of the applications for revision of assessments, levied on account of the construction of sewerage works, the Board of Street Commissioners, acting under the provisions of chapter 359 of the Acts of the year 1906, and deeming it just and proper that such action should be taken upon said applications,

Ordered, That the amounts hereinafter specified, being the annual apportionments of said assessments for the years specified below, be and the same are hereby abated.

POLICE DEPARTMENT ORDERS.

General Order No. 180.

It is with profound regret that I announce to the department the death of Capt. Thomas Ryan. He has been connected with the Police Department since February 1, 1869, when he was appointed a police officer and assigned to Division 4. He was promoted to the grade of sergeant in July, 1876, and in October of the same year was assigned to clerical service in the office of the Chief of Police. In 1883 he was appointed clerk to the Chief of Police, and five years later, in 1888, resigned from the force to take the position of clerk to the Board of Police and chief clerk of the Police Department. In 1906 he was reinstated as a member of the force with the rank of captain, and has served continuously since that time as chief clerk of the department, being also treasurer of the Police Relief Association.

It has been my good fortune to have known Captain Ryan for a number of years and as Police Commissioner, I have found him to be a man of sterling character and high ideals, and a fine executive officer. He gave the best that was in him to his city for a period of more than fifty years. His steadfastness to duty and devotion to his work at all times can be testified to by all who came in contact with him, and he performed loyal and faithful service to the end. His death will mean a distinct loss to his hosts of friends both in and out of the department.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

Herbert A. Wilson,
Commissioner.

General Order No. 181.

A trial board consisting of Captains Harriman, Goff and Hickey, having heard by reference a complaint against Patrolman William F. E. Gately of Division 5, charging him with conduct unbecoming an officer, reported to the commissioner a finding of guilty. In accordance with which the said Patrolman William F. E. Gately was on December 1, 1922, dismissed from the Police Department.

Due notice of such dismissal with the reason therefor was duly and specifically given in writing on December 1, 1922, to the said William F. E. Gately.

On the fourth day of December, 1922, the said William F. E. Gately, by his attorney, requested in writing a hearing as provided by the General Laws, and the Police Commissioner set down Tuesday, December 12, 1922, at eleven o'clock a.m., at the office of the Police Commissioner, as the time and place for said hearing and duly notified the said William F. E. Gately, and at the request of counsel for the said William F. E. Gately said hearing was continued and set down for Tuesday, December 19, 1922, at the same time and place.

The said William F. E. Gately was present at the said time and place with counsel and was heard with his witnesses. Whereupon, after hearing the case, the Police Commissioner found the said William F. E. Gately guilty of conduct unbecoming an officer, and further found that the said William F. E. Gately should stand dismissed from the Police Department.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

Herbert A. Wilson,
Commissioner.

EXTENSION OF ZOOLOGICAL GARDEN.

Mayor Curley received the following letter from Chairman James B. Shea of the Park Department relative to the extension of the Zoological exhibits at Franklin Park:

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Mr. Mayor,—With a view to improving the Zoological Garden exhibits so as to furnish greater interest in the Zoo, I have made as thorough an investigation as possible of the conditions now existing at Franklin Park, and desire to suggest certain improvements and additions. These investigations were carried on, not only at our own Zoo, but led me to investigate the present conditions at the Bronx Park and to interview the various animal and bird collectors in New York and Philadelphia.

Actual orders have been given only for the purchase of a few birds and some small monkeys. The present time is too early in the season to purchase such animals as we desire, as they have been gotten rid of by their owners before the winter set in, in order to escape the cost of feeding; but it is necessary to immediately make arrangements for deliveries in the early spring. So far as we are able to, inquiries will be sent out to various collectors, and when answers are received, the department will ask for such money as is necessary to make the purchases. The animals and the cost of installing suitable shelter and accommodations for the same are as follows:

Elephant House.
Rhinoceros, purchase price, maximum....	$7,000
Necessary changes in the elephant house to secure accommodation for the same,	3,500
This animal is one of the most interesting to be found in any Zoo, and the extra cost for maintenance will be only for the cost of food for the animal.
Lion House.
One female lion........	1,200
Two tigers	2,000
One female leopard........	500
The cost of the maintenance for the above will be only for the amount paid for food.
Deer and Elk Range.
Two zebra	1,600
A number of African antelopes........	2,000
The extra amount needed for the fences and shelter for the above will be........	3,500
Bird House.
Extra birds, including pelicans, cranes, flamingos and other birds from tropical climates	1,500
The extra cost for maintenance for the above will be only for the amount of the food consumed.
Total........	$22,800

It is quite possible that some of the animals contained in the list above might be contributed by some public spirited citizens or organizations. At your suggestion I have already consulted with Mr. Richard Grozier of the Boston Post relative to the purchase of the rhinoceros mentioned in the list, and in my interview, pointed out the fact that all of the exhibits now at the elephant house, namely, the two elephants, "Molly and Tony" and the baby hippopotamus "Happy," were contributed through the efforts of the Boston Post, and that if the rhinoceros could be presented to the Zoo in the same way, it would be a fitting climax to the splendid work which has already been accomplished by that newspaper. Mr. Grozier and Mr. Dunn, the city editor, promised to take the matter up with me again after the Christmas holiday season was over, and begged me to assure your Honor that they were mindful of the consideration which you, and the Park Department have extended to them in making this request, and that they would like to go through with the proposition if they felt sure it would meet with public indorsement.

The Board will be glad to confer with your Honor later as to the matter of inducing others to contribute suitable exhibits to the Zoo. Meanwhile, if any suitable animals or birds can be secured to advantage, I beg to assure you that the Board will do everything in its power to improve the Zoo.

Very respectfully yours,

James B. Shea, Chairman.

TRANSFERS IN APPROPRIATIONS.

City Auditor Rupert S. Carven announces the following transfers in appropriations in departments of the City of Boston and County of Suffolk, indorsed by Budget Commissioner Charles J. Fox and approved by his Honor the Mayor:

Finance Commission.

Boston, December 11, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Sir,—The Finance Commission desires to make the following transfers between the items of its budget on account of the investigations in which it is now engaged:

Transfer from B-1, $1,400, to B-29, $1,400; from B-28, $2,500, to G-2, $2,500.

Very truly yours,

Michael H. Sullivan,
Chairman.

Transferred by City Auditor, with approval of Mayor, December 18, 1922.

Fire Department.

Boston, December 15, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—I respectfully request that the following transfers be made in the Fire Department appropriation for the year 1922-23:

From A-1, Permanent Employees, item Privates, to item Commissioner, $37.84.

From A-1, item Operators, to item 5, Assistant Operators, $900.

From C-5, Motorless Vehicles, to B-15, Motorless Vehicle Repairs, $2,100.

From D-3, Fuel, to B-37, Photographic and Blueprinting, $2,500.

From D-3, Fuel, to C-3, Electrical, $545.

From D-3, Fuel, to C-9, Office, $280.

From D-3, Fuel, to C-13, Tools and Instruments, $3,780.

From D-3, Fuel, to E-10, Electrical, $1,200.

When the estimate for this department was prepared there was an Acting Fire Commissioner without salary, and it was not known just how long he was to continue in that capacity, so that a sufficient amount was not allowed to carry this item through the year.

The transfer to "5 Assistant Operators" is due to the fact that there was taken from this item the salary of one operator whose promotion was delayed from April to October, causing a deficit in this item and a surplus in item "2 Operators."

Transfer to B-15: The original idea was to buy the hose pungs outright, but the ones bought were not wholly satisfactory so we propose to have runners built and equipped with our own hose wagon bodies which will carry the necessary appliances and equipment.

Transfer to B-37: These films are to be used for educational and entertainment purposes in the department houses, schools, civic centers and other places, which will place before the public the efforts of the department and the administration to educate them along the lines of fire prevention and conservation. They will include intimate views of the activities in the Repair Division, the receiving and sending out of alarms from the fire alarm office, the proper method of sending in an alarm, the opening of the box door, the pulling of the hook inside and the response of the department. There will also be shown bad and menacing conditions in building construction and in building contents, all of which the department is always striving to remedy; the fire college and the other schools maintained by this department to educate the members to familiarize themselves with all conditions and contingencies which might arise that they may wage a successful battle.

Transfer to C-3: At the present time we carry in stock but two fire alarm box sections, which is way below the point of safety. Three boxes have been broken within two weeks, which is the cause of the low number.

Transfer to C-9: The Fire Alarm Branch requires a new eighteen-drawer filing cabinet and four-drawer letter file to expedite action. It has outgrown the present method wherein valuable seconds are lost. The contents of these cabinets are referred to immediately upon receipt of alarms, so it can easily be realized that seconds are vital.

Transfer to C-13: This is to provide for fourteen thawing devices at a cost of $270 each, which are to be carried on the pumping units. They are used for thawing out frozen hydrants so that water may be had at a fire.

Transfer to E-10: There has been no provision made for spare electrical parts for the high pressure stations. Duplicate parts on hand are very necessary in order to avoid any serious delay in the event of failure in any part of the equipment.

Very truly yours,

Theodore A. Glynn,
Fire Commissioner.

Transferred by City Auditor, with approval of Mayor, December 18, 1922.

Institutions Department.

Boston, December 12, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—I respectfully ask that transfer of funds within appropriations granted be allowed as follows for reasons stated.

Boston Almshouse and Hospital.

From the appropriation for A-1, Permanent Employees, First Assistant Resident Physician at $1,600, $601; 2 Assistant Resident Physicians at $1,100, $174, to the appropriation for B-18, Cleaning, $775.

From A-1, Physicians at $1,800, $100, to C-10, Library, $100.

From A-1, Physicians at $1,800, $500, to C-12, Medical, Surgical, Laboratory, $500.

From A-1, Physicians at $1,800, $344; 6 Internes at $600, $149; 1 Radiologist at $1,000, $316; 1 Meatcutter at $1,000, $30; 1 Electrician at $1,500, $161, to D-5, Medical, Surgical, Laboratory, $1,000.

Item B-18: Transfer of $775 is requested to pay Deer Island for laundry work as the repairs to laundry at Long Island are not yet completed.

Item C-10: On account of change in plans for the Training School, incidental to the appointment of a new superintendent of nurses, approximately $100 additional will be needed for books.

Item C-12: This transfer is requested on account of a marked increase in the X-ray work. Plates and films for that purpose are paid out of this item.

Item D-5: More medicines have been dispensed during the past year on account of a new admittance ward where all inmates are carefully examined and treatment prescribed.

Central Office.

From the appropriation for C-4, Motor Vehicle, $75; C-10, Library, $25; D-11, Motor Vehicle, $50, to the appropriation for B-14, Motor Vehicle Repairs and Care, $150.

From D-1, Office, $40, to B-39, General Plant, $40.

From Child Welfare, B17, Care of Persons, $500, to Central Office, B-22, Medical, $500.

Item B-14: The principle reason for need of additional funds on this item is an accident to our Ford sedan. The matter has been referred to the Law Department and it is hoped that the city will be reimbursed for necessary expenditure for repairs.

Item B-39: A larger amount has been needed for repairs to typewriters than was anticipated, and transfer of $40 is therefore respectfully requested.

Item B-22: The expenditure on this item depends upon the number of applications for commitment of insane cases, which has increased about 20 per cent during the past year. Examinations are paid for at the rate of $3 each.

Child Welfare.

From the appropriation for B-17, Care of Persons, $200, to the appropriation for B-5, Cartage and Freight, $200.

The additional amount requested on B-5 may be accounted for by increase in rates and because of increase in number of transfers of children.

House of Correction, Deer Island.

From the appropriation for A-1, Permanent Employees, 5 Engineers at $6 per day, $100, to the appropriation for B-42, Educational and Recreational, $100.

From A-1, 6 Firemen at $5.50 per day, $800, to C-7, Furnishings and Fittings, $800.

From A-1, 6 Firemen at $5.50 per day, $100, to D-5, Medical, Surgical, Laboratory, $100.

From A-1, 6 Firemen at $5.50 per day, $75, to D-9, Educational and Recreational, $75.

From C-5, Motorless Vehicles, $250, to D-1, Office, $300.

From B-31, Extermination of Insects, $50; B-31, Extermination of Insects, $50; D-7, Veterinary, $50, to D-13, Chemicals and Disinfectants, $150.

From A-1, Permanent Employees, Officers, $2,500, to C-16, Wearing Apparel, $2,500.

From D-10, Agricultural, $800; Boston Almshouse and Hospital, A-1, Permanent Employees, 1 Electrician at $1,500, $558; 1 Head Farmer at $1,200, $65; 4 Watchmen at $800, $173; 1 Carpenter at $1,000, $81; 1 General Mechanic at $1,000, $79; 1 Male Supervisor at $1,400, $54; Institutions Emplyoees, Male, 3 at $800, $465; 6 at $600, $152; Institutions Employees, Female, 7 at $480, $360; 5 at $460, $414; 1 Superintendent of Nurses at $2,000, $262; 1 Assistant Superintendent of Nurses at $1,300, $455; 40 Pupil Nurses at $300, $1,082; B-39, General Plant, $5,000, to D-2, Food and Ice, $10,000.

Item B-42: At the time the budget estimates were passed an arbitrary cut of $100 was made on B-42, which covers expenditures for a moving picture operator at the rate of $11 for a performance. I respectfully ask that this amount be restored by transfer.

Item C-7: The principal reason for transfer of funds for "furnishings and fittings" is increase in population (about 34 per cent). Sheets, pillow cases, blankets, spreads, etc., are paid for out of this item.

Item D-5: An additional sum of $100 is needed on D-5 to cover cost of medicines on account of minor ailments. There has been an increase in population and there is a smaller number being transferred to Long Island for treatment than last year.

This transfer was requested in our letter of November 15, but was held up by the Council on account of a question in regard to food.

Item D-9: Since the drug addicts have been isolated it has been necessary to have two chapels. This transfer is to cover candles, etc., for religious services.

Item D-1: A transfer of $300 to D-1 is needed for two reasons, first, because it has been found necessary to have more books and printed forms for the keeping of proper records than was anticipated, and second, because a prisoner who has been helping out with much of the printing during the past year and a half has been replaced. There is no one to take his place, and consequently all of the work must be done at the Printing Department.

This transfer was requested in our letter of November 15 but was held up by the Council on account of a question in regard to food.

Item D-13: In order to comply with the requirements of the state boiler inspector, it has been necessary to use boiler compound instead of soda ash. An additional sum of $150 will therefore be needed on D-13.

This transfer was requested in our letter of November 15 but was held up by the Council on account of a question in regard to food.

Item C-16: This transfer is made necessary on account of unexpected increase in population. The average number of prisoners this year has been about 34 per cent greater than that of last year.

Item D-2: It is estimated that transfer of $10,000 will be needed for food. Of this amount $5,000 was requested in our letter of November 15, but was not passed by the Council on account of some question about taking that amount from the Long Island food item. I agreed to take the amount from B-39, Long Island, where we decided to get along without an engine, but transfer was still held up. We are now arranging to take $5,000 from B-39 and the balance from savings on the pay rolls.

There have been a number of contributing causes for lack of funds on D-2. First there has been an increase of about 34 per cent over the average population of last year; second, the number of sheep and cattle had been reduced to such an extent that it was necessary to purchase considerably more meat than last year; and third, it has been deemed advisable to furnish better food in the treatment of drug addicts.

Steamers "Monitor" and "George A. Hibbard."

From the appropriation for A-2, Temporary Employees, $27, to the appropriation for B-8, Light and Power, $27.

From Child Welfare, B-17, Care of Persons, $1,500, to Steamers, B-39, General Plant, $1,500.

Item B-8: Transfer of $27 is made necessary on account of use of extension lights while steamer was undergoing repairs at the wharf, and on account of additional lighting at the end of the pier.

Item B-39: Transfer of $1,500 will be needed to help meet expense on account of hire of the steamer "Neptune" to take the place of the "Monitor" until such time as the new steamer is ready for use.

We have endeavored to anticipate as far as possible in this transfer amounts needed to cover expenditures for the remainder of the year.

Very truly yours,

David J. Johnson,
Commissioner.

The reason for the foregoing request is that we were obliged to provide blueprints, specifications, etc., on account of furniture equipment for the clerk's office, Superior Court, Civil Session, there being no budget items covering these expenditures in the original budget.

From Laborers, 10 at $4 per day, $600; A-3, Unassigned, $200, to C-13, Tools and Instruments, $800.

Reasons for above transfers:

Bridges, Repairs, etc. It was necessary for the safety of travel to do repair work on jobs that were not anticipated at the time the budget was made up, namely, Western Avenue Bridge, Dorchester Avenue Bridge and Summer Street Bridge over the Reserved channel.

Permanent Employees (Engineers). It was expected at the time the budget was made up that these men would be employed on special work more than actually was the case.

Permanent Employees (First Assistant Drawtenders). Too much slack allowed for in the budget.

A-2. Temporary Employees. It was necessary to employ a number of temporary carpenters to keep the bridges in safe condition.

C-13. It was necessary, in order to carry on the work effectively, to purchase certain engineering tools and instruments.

Respectfully yours,

J. A. Rourke,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Street Laying-Out Department.

Boston, December 11, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—The Board of Street Commissioners respectfully requests that the following transfers be made within the maintenance appropriation of the Street Laying-Out Department for the current year:

From 13 Junior Engineers at $2,000 per annum, $250; 23 Transitmen at $1,760 per annum, $300, to 12 Rodmen at $1,200 per annum, $550.

From 1 Chairman at $4,500 per annum, $250, to B-39, General Plant, $250.

From 2 Designing Draughtsmen at $1,900 per annum, $80.88; 1 Transitman at $1,400 per annum, $52.72; 1 Transitman at $1,392-$1,400 per annum, $26.72; 1 Conveyancer at $1,500 per annum, $156.49; 1 Transitman at $1,300 per annum, $67.67, to D-1, Office Supplies, $384.48.

From C-13, Tools and Instruments, $125, to D-1, Office Supplies, $125.

The appropriation for D-1, Office Supplies, has been exhausted and we are transferring into the same the several amounts which will be unused in different classifications for A-1, Personal Service, and C-13, Tools and Instruments.

The appropriation for B-39, General Plant, has been exhausted and additional money will be required for traffic signs for the balance of the year.

The shortages and excesses in the appropriation for A-1, Personal Service, have been caused by variation in the amount of work charged to the Highways, Making of, loan, which it is impossible to estimate accurately at the beginning of the fiscal year.

Respectfully,

Joseph F. Sullivan,
Secretary.

Transferred by City Auditor, with approval of Mayor, December 19, 1922.

Municipal Court, Brighton District.

Boston, December 15, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—In view of the retirement of Court Officer, B. Franklin Sanborn, on December 5, 1922, and the fact that our present budget has no item for the purpose of taking care of pension, his Honor Judge Thomas H. Connelly respectfully requests that $40 be transferred from the appropriation for this court under heading B-4, Transportation of Prisoners, and $51.66 be transferred from the appropriation for this court under heading A-2, Temporary Employees, Special Justices, to take care of said pension under heading F-7, Pensions and Annuities, thus making the total of $91.66 that is required for the purpose of said pension for the remainder of this fiscal year.

Yours very truly,

Daniel F. Cunningham,
Clerk.

Transferred by City Auditor, with approval of Mayor, December 19, 1922.

Registry of Deeds.

Boston, December 18, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

My dear Mr. Mayor,—The business of this department during the current year has been the largest in the history of the office. The increase during the last quarter has been greater than at any other time, and there is no indication of any let-up. At the close of business December 15, 1922, the entry book showed there had been 62,719 documents entered as compared with 47,009 documents recorded on the corresponding date in 1921. These figures speak for themselves. It will therefore be necessary to have additional funds provided at once to carry on the work until the end of the fiscal year.

Under A-1, "Copying Plans," the whole appropriation of $2,400 has been exhausted, and in order to keep this work going during the next six weeks I request a transfer of $300.

Under A-1, "Copyist—Piece Work," after deducting the amount contained on the pay roll sent to the Council today for approval, there is a balance of $318.73, and to pay the copyists for the work to be performed until the date of the next pay roll, I request a transfer of $1,700.

Under date of September 20, I requested a transfer of $5,500 to A-3, "Unassigned," and you allowed the sum of $3,000. I have not been able to do all the work that the service requires with this limited appropriation, but the absolutely essential work of keeping up with the transfers day by day on the indexing and paging has consumed all but $161.91 of this sum of $3,000. The absolute needs of the service require an additional amount of $1,200 for "Unassigned," and I, therefore, request a transfer of this amount.

Very truly yours,

William T. A. Fitzgerald,
Register.

Transferred by City Auditor, with approval of Mayor, December 20, 1922.

RUSH CASE TO BE RE-OPENED.

Mayor Curley, as the result of an earnest appeal to Speaker Frederick H. Gillett and the members of the Congressional delegation of New England, has succeeded in securing a reopening of the case of Capt. William R. Rush, U. S. N., who has been recommended for advancement to the rating of Rear Admiral of the United States Navy, by an order of Hon. Edwin Denby, Secretary of the Navy.

At a hearing before the Committee on Naval Affairs of the House of Representatives, relative to the Rush case, Rear Admiral Thomas Washington, U. S. N., Chief of the Bureau of Navigation of the Navy Department, appeared before the committee and disapproved the recommendation for the advancement of Captain Rush.

Mayor Curley, in a demand for fairness to his old-time friend, Captain Rush, demanded the case should be reopened, in so far that Secretary Denby might have opportunity to be heard, and noted the impropriety of a bureau chief appearing in committee and disapproving the recommendation of his chief, the Secretary of the Navy.

Mayor Curley is in receipt of the following communication from Speaker Frederick H. Gillett of the House of Representatives, and which is self explanatory.

Speaker's Room,
House of Representatives,
Washington, D. C.
December 19, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Mr. Mayor,—Your letter received, and I am very glad to have the presentation of your views with reference to the retirement of Captain Rush as an admiral of the navy. I have talked with members of the committee upon the subject, and I understand that the subcommittee of the Committee on Naval Affairs which considered the bill reported it adversely to the full committee by a unanimous vote, after hearing Admiral Washington and others. Arrangements have been made, however, to have the bill reconsidered by the subcommittee and a meeting held at which Secretary Denby will appear and express his views, so that I think you may feel assured that the merits of the bill will receive most careful consideration.

Yours respectfully,

F. H. Gillett.

CAMBRIDGE AND COURT STREET WIDENING.

His Honor the Mayor has forged another important link in the ambitious street program which he has inaugurated by authorizing the City Planning Board to take such steps as were necessary, in co-operation with the Board of Street Commissioners and the Law Department, to prepare a bill for presentation to the 1923 Legislature, providing for the widening of Cambridge and Court streets from Charles street to Scollay square.

This improvement has been agitated by both public and private interests for years and is especially important at this time in view of the plans under consideration for the reconstruction of Harvard Bridge. Inasmuch as this bridge has already been declared practically unsafe for public travel, its demolition, even though accompanied by the erection of a temporary structure, will force a large volume of traffic over the Cambridge Bridge and through streets which, at the present time, are entirely inadequate to the demands which would be made upon them.

Not alone is the widening of Cambridge and Court streets at this time almost a necessity, but the proposed improvement possesses many attractive possibilities as a convenient means of entrance to and exit from the downtown section of the city. Automobile traffic from many of the outlying suburbs would make use of the widened thoroughfare; heavy teaming and trucking will be only too anxious to utilize its advantages; while its physical connections with subways, tunnels and elevated railroads portends a use of the street so extensive as to afford the 1923 Legislature ample argument for the passage of the bill.

Other arguments which have been advanced in favor of this improvement are that it would give a new impetus to real estate values which have depreciated in this section of Boston for the last fifteen years; and that it would decrease the number of accidents enormously, besides improving and making more attractive the whole neighborhood.

FINANCE COMMISSION.

Boston, December 19, 1922.

To His Excellency the Governor and the Honorable the Senate and House of Representatives in General Court Assembled,

To the Honorable the Mayor and City Council of the City of Boston:

Under the charter amendments of 1909 establishing the Finance Commission (see sections 17 to 21, inclusive, of chapter 486 of the Acts of 1909) the commission is charged with the duty to investigate from time to time any and all matters relating to appropriations, loans, expenditures, accounts and methods of administration affecting the City of Boston or the County of Suffolk, or any department thereof that may appear to the Commission to require investigation, and to report thereon from time to time to the Mayor, the City Council, the Governor or the General Court.

On April 10, 1922, the Mayor of the City of Boston sent to the City Council a loan order for $70,000 for the establishment of a playground at Baldwin place in the North End of the City of Boston. The order was rejected by the Council on June 5, 1922.

On July 31, 1922, the president of the Council, who had voted to reject the order on June 5, introduced an order for the same amount and for the same purpose. The order received the unanimous vote of the Council on July 31, 1922, and again at its final passage on August 14, 1922.

On October 7, 1922, the city took certain lands in Baldwin place by eminent domain in accordance with the terms of the loan order above referred to. On November 8, 1922, upon receiving deeds of conveyances of the land from the owners, the city paid them $62,600. Complaints were received by the Finance Commission concerning the passage of the loan order, which convinced the commission that an investigation was necessary. The commission began taking evidence on November 13, 1922, and beginning November 20, 1922, and on thirteen days thereafter the commission conducted public hearings on the matter and had the evidence taken verbatim.

In addition to the executives and to the legislative bodies to which the Finance Commission is directed to report the results of its investigations, it was advised by Attorney-General Atwill, in a letter dated November 15, 1917, that whenever an investigation conducted by the commission disclosed evidence which seemed to show that a crime might have been committed, it was proper for the Finance Commission, if indeed it was not its duty, to bring to the attention of the official having the duty of prosecution of such crime the facts disclosed by its investigation.

The Finance Commission is of the opinion that the evidence taken in this investigation should be presented to the District Attorney, and accordingly has this day delivered to the District Attorney for Suffolk County a copy of the evidence taken at the public hearings and a copy of this report.

Respectfully submitted,

Michael H. Sullivan,
Chairman.
Courtenay Guild,
John F. Moors,
J. Waldo Pond,
The Finance Commission.

HEALTH DEPARTMENT REPORT.

Mayor Curley has received the following report from Dr. Francis X. Mahoney, Health Commissioner of the City of Boston, for the month of November, 1922:

City of Boston,
Health Department,
December 18, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—In compliance with your letter requesting monthly reports, I have the honor to submit the following report of the special activities of the Health Department for the month of November, 1922:

Medical Inspection.

An increase in reported cases of communicable diseases occurred during November, and while it does exceed the number of cases for the preceding month, it is not alarming in any way. In fact, the number of cases does not approach the reported number during this season in other years. Chicken pox increased quite perceptibly during the month, a total of 183 cases being reported as against 58 in October. Special attention is paid to these cases. A visit in the first instance is paid to each such case by a medical inspector, who has in mind always the possibility that a reported case of chicken pox might be an unrecognized case of smallpox. In all cases of chicken pox reported in adults the chief medical inspector visits for the same reason. The sudden outbreak of chicken pox is largely due to the fact that many cases have occurred in which parents have neither called a physician nor taken any precautions for the protection of others. Diphtheria cases increased to 253 as compared with 223 reported in October.

During November one death from rabies occurred in a Boston hospital, the deceased being a nonresident patient.

Laboratory Examinations.

Four thousand six hundred forty-six total examinations were made during November by the Bacteriological Laboratory; 712 of these cases were made in quadruplicate and 3,934 in duplicate.

Food Inspection.

The most important individual task undertaken in this connection during November was the supervision of poultry arrivals for Thanksgiving sale. Almost the entire field staff was engaged on the two days preceding Thanksgiving and until late on Thanksgiving eve in the market district and the suburban districts in seeing that the public was offered no food that was not wholesome and fit for use as food. An indication of the unusually high quality of the poultry offered for sale may be found in the fact that slightly more than 100 pounds were seized and condemned. The careful character of the inspection was indicated by the fact that but one complaint was received from the entire city.

During November a certain distributing concern was stopped from passing out samples of a nationally known laxative tablet. Although the distributers defended the practice as legal on account of deliveries of the samples being made directly in hands of adults at each house, the situation, after conference, was orally presented to the Law Department of the city, which returned an opinion that the practice was distinctly a violation of the law governing such matters. The distributers then withdrew.

Administrative.

The latter part of November developed a situation with reference to ventilation and overcrowding of street railway cars that seemed to invite a conference with the Trustees of the Boston Elevated Railway with a view to the adoption of corrective measures. Such a conference was held, with the general manager representing the trustees, and it appears that said conference will be productive of improved service.

Schick Work.

Up to November 30 and since May, 1922, 26,000 children in the City of Boston have been Schick tested.

Respectfully,

Francis X. Mahoney,
Health Commissioner.

SAFETY IN CHRISTMAS OBSERVANCE.

Fire Commissioner Theodore A. Glynn has issued a message relative to the safe observance of the holiday season. The statement of Commissioner Glynn is as follows:

About this time of the year the children, and a good many grown-ups too, only they won't admit it, are impatiently counting the days until Christmas. Above all other days, Christmas should be an occasion of universal cheer. It should be, and yet, in many households it is likely to become a time of tragedy because of death or injury from fire, if care is not exercised. That is a grim thought to associate with the Yuletide, I know, and I hope sincerely that people will understand my position. I am speaking because it is my plain duty to do so, especially since my own experience is backed up by some statistics received yesterday from the National Board of Fire Underwriters, from which I learn that an average of one in every ten Christmas fires last year resulted in a fatality. Moderate carfulness will not detract one iota from the fullest enjoyment of the day.

The Christmas tree is an old and beautiful symbol and one that should be preserved, but it becomes none the less symbolic when it is made safe; and it cannot even approach to safety so long as it is decked with lighted candles. If the tree must be illuminated, colored electric lights are more ornamental and usually far safer. Of course, a bright light focused on the tree, in a darkened room, is a safe method and gives, perhaps, the most pleasing effect.

"It is not only on the tree, however, that candles are dangerous," continued the Commissioner, "placing them in windows, where there are inflammable curtains and decorations, is extremely dangerous. All open flame lights are dangerous. I am laying particular stress on the candle, though, because of late, it seems to have come back into fashion, and into our fire records."

I have made no mention of the fact that fire insurance protection may be voided by the introduction of hazards not contemplated under the policy; such, however, is the case, and this possibility supplies a further reason for carefulness.

Here are a few additional precautions which I urge the public to observe in homes, in stores and elsewhere:

Make sure that Christmas trees are securely set up, so that they will not topple over, and keep them away from heating and lighting fixtures. Use metal tinsel, flake asbestos and powdered mica for snow effects, instead of paper clippings and cotton. Smokers should be extremely careful with matches and smoking material while near trees and decorations. Evergreens should be removed immediately after Christmas before they have completely dried out.

Avoid toys requiring alcohol, gasolene or kerosene for their operation, and also flimsy motion-picture machines using inflammable films.

If Santa Claus is to be present at the celebration, persuade him to avoid the use of long cotton whiskers. His costume should be partially fire-proof by spraying upon it a solution of waterglass obtainable at any drug store.

If anyone's clothing catches fire, he should be promptly rolled in a rug or woolen cloth in order to smother the flames. Keep the flames away from the face.

Merchants should free their places of business from rubbish and paper accumulations, and should insist that employees keep all exists clear.. It is difficult to keep stock rooms tidy during the busy holiday season, I realize, but it is well worth the extra effort.

"Finally," said the Commissioner, "let every individual to his utmost not to spoil the merriment of the day. No one wishes to hear the chimes of Christmas converted into the jangle of the fire alarm."

An important matter was taken up by the Fire Commissioner in conference with the chief of department relative to the tremendous congestion in our downtown section during the holiday season and as a result of this conference a detail of the whole inspection force of the Fire Prevention Bureau was made and instructions given for these men to co-operate with the department store managers and the police for safe and sane conditions during the holiday period.

The area to be covered is Washington street, Temple place, Avon street, Winter and Tremont streets, Tremont Row, Bedford street, Hawley and Summer streets. This will include all of the department and other stores in this area.

These inspectors will be supervised in their work by inspecting officers detailed by the department officials for this purpose and reports of activities will be forwarded daily to headquarters. The work will be continued up until and including Saturday, December 23.

All of the managers in the large stores throughout this district have been conferred with and they, being well aware of their moral responsibility, are co-operating with the fire forces to the fullest extent to provide for any emergencies that may arise within or without the congested section at this time.

MAYOR URGES NEW ENGLAND APPOINTMENT.

Mayor Curley addressed the following telegram to Hon. David I. Walsh and Hon. Henry Cabot Lodge, United States Senators, upon the 19th instant:

The Boston Globe this day published a story which would indicate that it is the purpose of President Harding to replace the lone New England member of the Interstate Commerce Commission by a Western lame duck and in view of the fact that the commercial and industrial future of New England is at stake in the matter of a decision on the question of differentials, I trust that you will insist that some New England man be selected.

James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston.

The Mayor received the following telegram from Senator Walsh:

Washington, D. C.,
December 19, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Telegram received in full sympathy with your suggestion that New England man should be appointed member Interstate Commerce Commission. Personally, I strongly favor the reappointment of Eastman, present, experienced and able member.

David I. Walsh.

REPORT UPON STATE CONFERENCE.

Mrs. Margaret Gookin, Miss Sophie M. Friedman and Mrs. J. J. Hurley, members of the Board of the Overseers of Public Welfare, have presented the following report, in compliance with chapter 274, Acts of 1914, of the Massachusetts State Conference of Social Work:

The Nineteenth Annual Massachusetts Conference of Social Work was held in Greenfield November 13, 14 and 15, 1922. The conference was opened by the chairman of the Citizens' Committee, and a cordial welcome was given the delegates by the chairman of the selectmen of the town. Mr. Parsons, president of the conference, addressed the meeting on "Social Legislation," showing Massachusetts as a unit or a community in its welfare for citizens and for education, giving to rural localities its standard of public relief, legislation in regulation of almshouses looking to need of its inmates, segregating sick and insane, and also properly caring for feeble-mindedness. Our courts for juveniles are generally a probation system which started in Boston, and were by legislation placed in all sections and communities of the state. Social work he described as that democratic power which instead of pulling down the thrones of the high and mighty brought up to a high level those of the community who were handicapped or unfortunate.

The next speaker was Mr. Homer Folks, president of the National Conference of Social Work, who paid a great compliment to the men and women of Massachusetts who have been pioneers in the country in social work, showing what social and public welfare work has done for such contagious diseases as smallpox, yellow fever and typhoid which so ravaged mankind, making for health, longer life and human life. He also spoke of the progress made in the control of tuberculosis, Massachusetts leading in this great work for humanity. Reports of the social and industrial conditions in Franklin County given at this meeting were very interesting and unique.

Tuesday afternoon, social clinics and mental hygiene, in other words, feeble-mindedness, was discussed by Doctor Fernald of the Massachusetts School for Feeble-minded at Waverley. He told of Massachusetts feeble-minded schools especially for children in school who are thought to be feeble-minded who can be examined and their condition ascertained.

Mr. Lothrop of the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Children spoke on the law dealing with families where children are found to be neglected.

Mr. Bardwell of the State Board of Charities spoke about the conditions and improvements in caring for people in almshouses.

The meeting held Tuesday evening was entirely by the state department. Payson Smith, Commissioner of the State Department of Education, spoke about the policy of the state in educational lines, which is being adopted by many states; its control and supervision of all educational work, beside the pensioning and retiring of teachers; public libraries; immigration and Americanization. It may be summed up in University Extension, vocational education, and also the Department of the Blind.

Dr. Klein spoke of mental hygiene and mental diseases. There are 21,000 inmates in the institutions for mental diseases, causing a larger appropriation than any other state department, $8,000,000. Its department are investigation, registration, education and supervision, and also research work for such types as epilepsy, infantile paralysis and loco diseases. It has also many outside clinics.

Sanford Bates of the Department of Corrections opened his remarks by telling of the co-operation of the State Departments of Mental Diseases; State Board of Health and Public Health in the work of caring for our unfortunate prison inmates. They provide schools and industrial work in our prisons; a parole department, and financial aid for prisoners' families when in need. Penology has gone through a revision in the past seventy-five years, as it has undergone a change in treatment and care of prisoners in the last ten years.

Doctor Kelley spoke of the State Board of Health as a governmental department, and said the first public board of health in this country was created in Massachusetts. The first bureau for inspection of food in this country was in Massachusetts. The department has eight divisions and eighty-four workers, and the sanitary division of the Board of Health is the best in the country.

The business meeting was held Wednesday morning, followed by an address by Robert W. Kelso, secretary of the Council of Social Agencies, Boston, who spoke of the advance in social work and family welfare, the chief aim being the relief of people in their homes rather than destroying society by breaking up homes. They also consider mental, moral and physical condition, always looking toward the improvement of the condition in health. He claimed that religion in all its different forms is as essential to stimulate and keep together the family and make for health as it is to rebuild a broken-down family. He mentioned the work of the physicians in these families, medical and surgical; the free clinics and organizations, public and private, who voice the need and care of poor families. Recreation is another stimulant, and is useful for the parents as well as the children, for all work and no play is not good for anyone. Hospital social service is now a permanent feature in social work. Children's work is not caring for the surviving infants and children alone, but the care before birth and at birth.

The Massachusetts Relief Officer Association held an extra session on family relief, at which family relief was discussed at great length. The family budget if adhered to by the recipient of aid would give the best results from the relief given into the family. It was pointed out that a truthful statement on the part of the applicant for relief would benefit not only the applicant but also the visitor, who has still further to investigate the untrue story.

Very truly yours,

Mrs. Margaret Gookin,
Miss Sophie M. Friedman.
Mrs. J. J. Hurley.

NO DAMAGE SUSTAINED.

The Board determines that no person sustains damages in his estate by the making of the public improvement, consisting of the discontinuance of a small part of Dorchester avenue, as a highway, on the northwesterly side, about one hundred and sixty-five feet north of the Fort Point channel drawbridge, South Boston, and awards no damages therefor.

NEW SUFFOLK COUNTY LEGISLATION.

There has been prepared by direction of Mayor Curley by the Law Department of the City of Boston, a bill to compel Chelsea, Revere and Winthrop to bear a proportionate share of the County of Suffolk expenses. These communities have always insisted on being included in Suffolk County, but have so far successfully resisted in bearing any part of the expenses of the government.

In 1913 a special committee of the Legislature reported a bill providing that the expenses should be apportioned on the basis of assessed valuations, Boston to retain control of executive affairs, but the executives of the other three communities to be consulted in the preparation of the annual county budget. The bill was opposed by the three communities on the ground that either they should be entitled to continued exemption or, if obliged to contribute, the county government should be transferred to a tribunal in which they should have representation.

The bill would have established the share of the three outlying communities at approximately $43,000. As the major part of this would have been used in maintaining a county tribunal, the Legislature refused to accept the proposal and the argument against taxation without representation sufficed to prevent any transfer of the cost from Boston.

Budget Commissioner Charles J. Fox reported to Mayor Curley that, if the three communities continue to oppose any apportionment of expense, it would be well for them to bear in mind that their assessed valuations are increasing at a more rapid rate than in Boston, and, therefore, their share of the county expenses, as determined in the bill of 1913, is correspondingly increasing. If they had accepted that bill their percentage of burden would be 4.125, but, owing to the increase in valuations, their share today would be 5.27.

Since 1831 Boston has spent for county government $60,435,317, less income from the county departments of $13,021,155. To the total net expense of $47,435,317 should be added the cost of erecting, extending and furnishing the Court House in Pemberton Square, $4,443,840.15; the cost of erecting a new hospital building and modernizing the plumbing system at the County Jail, $306,000, and the installation of a new power and heating unit at the County House of Correction, costing approximately $20,000. The grand total would therefore be $52,205,157.86 since 1831.

"While it is impossible to calculate definitely the portion of this amount chargeable to Chelsea, Revere and Winthrop, it would seem reasonable to assume that their share would be in the neighborhood of $2,000,000," Mr. Fox says.

ARCHITECTS FOR CITY GARAGE.

Messrs. Mulhall and Holmes, architects, 248 Boylston street, Boston, have been engaged to prepare plans and specifications for, and supervise the construction of, a garage to be built by the Public Works Department, upon Albany street, at the city yards, to house motor and horse drawn vehicles. The rate of compensation agreed upon is 6 per cent of the cost of construction, in accordance with the rules of the American Society of Architects.

WM. M. McMORROW,
Collector of Taxes for the City of Boston.

INCOME TAX (STATE) ON INTANGIBLE PROPERTY.

In accordance with Chap. 269, ss. 2 and 11, General Acts of 1916, intangible personal property (except bank stock) ceased to be subject to assessment and taxation in 1917 and thereafter. In place of that tax an income tax was established, amounting to six per cent per year on income derived from such intangibles, subject to various specified exemptions.

Owing to the exemption from tax of intangible personal property, the total valuation of personality in Boston decreased from $328,929,679 in 1916 to $162,545,343 in 1917, a loss representing $2,945,000 in taxes. By sec. 23 of said Chapter 269, it was provided that the State Treasurer should pay to each city or town an amount equal to the difference between the personal property levy in 1915 and that of 1917 computed at the 1915 tax rate. If the income tax collections exceeded the amount required for such distribution, the excess was also to be distributed, this in proportion to the State tax imposed on each city or town in 1917. The amount of income taxes paid by the State to the City of Boston under said statute for 1917 was $3,704,855; for 1918, $4,085,175; for 1919, $3,017,133 and $620,735 for Schools; for 1920, $3,754,237 and $644,703 for Schools; for 1921, $3,182,205 and $660,122 for Schools. Total for the five years, 1917 to 1921, inclusive, $19,669,165. In 1917 the total distribution in Metropolitan District outside Boston was $3,198,281 or $506,574 less than in Boston alone. Total for whole District (incl. Boston) $6,903,136 or 61.64 per cent of total for $6,909,1336 or 61.46 per cent of total for State, and $1,423,401 in excess of the total shrinkage in taxes on personalty from 1916 to 1917 in the District due to the new law exempting intangible property.

GENERAL PROPERTY TAX PER CAPITA IN LEADING CITIES (RANKING FROM HIGHEST).

Boston, 46.11 (as corrected); Pittsburgh, $45.67; Los Angeles, $45.48; New York, $39,29; San Francisco, $36.06; Philadelphia, $35.31; Chicago, $32.97. (See U. S. Census Bureau's Financial Statistics of Cities, 1920, Preliminary Reports.)

The Mayor trusts that this step will mark the termination of the double fare controversy and inadequate transportation facilities which have so long been a perplexing problem to the people of the Hyde Park district of Boston.

Each authorized issue shall constitute a separate loan, and such loan shall be payable in not more than twenty years. Sect. 4. This act shall take effect upon its acceptance by vote of the city council of the city of Boston, subject to the provisions of its charter, provided that said acceptance occurs prior to December thirty-first in the current year.

Former City Treasurer George U. Crocker, trustee of the land where was located the old Revere House in Bowdoin square, has informed Mayor Curley that his clients are ready to cede to the city, without consideration, a strip of land as wide as may be necessary for the proposed widening by the city of Court and Cambridge streets, passing the site.

Mr. Crocker stated that he had no doubt the trustees would confirm the offer, because of the greatly enhanced value which would accrue to the remaining property.

Mayor Curley in replying to Mr. Crocker stated the offer was most commendable and instructed Chairman John H. L. Noyes of the Board of Street Commissioners to send department agents to query owners of other properties abutting the proposed widening, to see whether their public spirit will influence them in making a similar tender of land frontages to the city.

Alfred Davenport, President of the Boston Board of Fire Underwriters, has addressed a letter to its members as follows:

"The present congested condition of the streets in the center of the City of Boston constitutes a menace to the protection of property through possible interference with the operation of the Fire Department apparatus. With the increasing number of automobiles this condition will become worse rather than better. Eventually drastic action will be taken to remedy this condition unless there is a sincere voluntary and effective effort made to bring about an improvement.

"No one is more concerned or more desirous of relieving our streets of their congestion than the men in the insurance business. Yet the insurance district is one of the bad examples of congested areas of the city. On nearly any day solid lines of cars may be found on one and sometimes both sides of narrow streets in the insurance district. A casual investigation would seem to indicate that some of these cars are unnecessarily on the street, or in the city at all.

"With a view of forestalling and postponing what may come in the way of drastic action, and a desire to co-operate as much as possible with the Fire Commissioner and the Police Commissioner, I am taking this opportunity of calling the situation to your attention, hoping that you may see your way clear to aid in keeping the streets of the insurance district as free from cars at all hours of the day as is within your power.

"If the insurance interests would co-operate sincerely and effectively in this effort we would be able to set an example to the rest of the city which would reflect most creditably upon our business."

The Mayor is in receipt of the following communication from the City Planning Board:

City of Boston,
City Planning Board,
December 29, 1922.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—The City Planning Board has been in conference with Assistant Corporation Counsel Pakulski and with the Board of Street Commissioners with regard to your Honor's proposed street program for the 1923 Legislature, and is in hearty accord with its provisions looking toward the adoption of a comprehensive plan.

At the same time it begs leave to submit the following minor suggestions with a view to perfecting the measures now under consideration. The extension of Portland street from Hanover street to Washington street means the cutting of a 50-foot street through a triangular block which is only 160 feet approximately at its widest point. This leaves a narrow strip scarcely available for building purposes and decidedly unattractive in appearance on either side of the proposed extension. In the opinion of the City Planning Board it would be better to take the entire triangular area, which would permit of a proper outlet from Portland street and at the same time afford opportunity for regulation of traffic at this point.

The City Planning Board is glad to note the provision for a new street from the corner of Tremont and Eliot streets to Washington street at a point at or near Beach street. This is in effect the second step in the proposed western artery, and the only regret the Planning Board has in the matter is that it is not carried to Philip square at least, thus linking up with the street system on the east side of Washington street.

In connection with the Cambridge and Court street widening the City Planning Board would urge upon your Honor the necessity for the extension of Causeway street from Merrimac street to Cambridge street at Blossom street. The construction of a 60-foot street across this district would afford a much needed opportunity for traffic in the vicinity of the North Station, to secure convenient and adequate outlet through Cambridge street to points west of Boston.

In this connection, also, the Planning Board understands that your Honor has already given favorable consideration to the widening of Cambridge and Court streets to 100 feet instead of 80 feet. This the Planning Board heartily approves.

With regard to Summer street, including bridge across the Reserve channel from the army base to the Strandway, the City Planning Board feels that this should be at least 80 feet, and preferably 100 feet, instead of 70 feet as specified in the draft of the legislative bill.

Very truly yours,

Frederic H. Fay,
Chairman, City Planning Board.

Hon. Harry M. Daugherty, United States Attorney-General, Washington, D. C.:

Dear Sir,—I beg to acknowledge receipt of your communication under date of December 11 and received this date, December 26, in response to the request for an investigation of conspiracy on the part of the packing interests to corner the turkey market during the Thanksgiving season.

I beg you will accept of my appreciation for the expeditious manner in which not only your department has acted on the request at this late date for facts with reference to a complaint made more than thirty days ago, but also convey to the Postmaster-General my appreciation for the business-like manner in which the Post Office Department is conducted, your letter dated December 11 having been received this day.

Your request that I submit information and evidence on the question of manipulation of prices of turkeys thirty days after the complaint was made is most amusing and should rank high as one of the bon mots of the Christmas season.

Respectfully yours,

James M. Curley, Mayor.

LOWER RATE FOR GAS.

Mayor Curley received the following letter from President Barnum of the Boston Consolidated Gas Company upon the 28th instant:

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—I inclose copy of notice I have just sent to the State Department of Public Utilities:

December 28, 1922.

To the Commission of the Department of Public Utilities:

This is to notify you that at a meeting of the directors of the Boston Consolidated Gas Company this morning, it was voted to reduce the price of gas 5 cents per thousand, to take effect on bills rendered on and after February 1, 1923.

Boston Consolidated Gas Company,
D. D. Barnum,
President.

Reduced from $1.30 to $1.25 per thousand feet.

This reduction is a saving to our customers, based on the past twelve months' sales, of over $400,000, and is possible at this time on account of the increased sales of gas by the company. How long this increase will continue, we do not know, but we consider it good business as suggested by you in your letter of August 23 to share with our customers the benefit of these increased sales while they last, and are therefore putting this reduction into effect with the hope that we will be able to continue it. If, however, conditions revert to those of the previous year it will be necessary for us again to change the price, making it the same as it has been during the past six months.

Very truly yours,
D. D. Barnum,
President.

REJECTION OF CLAIMS.

Hon. E. Mark Sullivan, the Corporation Counsel, states the Law Department has disapproved ten claims against the city, in seven of which no amounts were specified, and the other three aggregated $100,313.75 and are classified as follows:

Against the Institutions Department, one, amounting to $100,000; against the Park and Recreation Department, two, in which no amounts were specified; against the Public Works Department, six, in four of which no amounts were specified, and the other two amounted to $313.75; against the Transit Commission, one, in which no amount was specified.

All these claims have been disapproved for the reason that there appeared to be no legal liabliity on the part of the city.

SNOW REMOVAL.

Mayor Curley instructed Acting Public Works Commissioner Edward F. Murphy to make plans for the immediate removal of snow in the down-town section.

The following men and equipment have been placed at work upon the removal of snow:

Three hundred single teams; 50 trucks; 50 double teams; 1,500 men.

WINTER SERVICE FOR FIRES.

Fire Commissioner Theodore A. Glynn announced that in the event of necessity if the motors cannot move through the snow the apparatus of the Boston Fire Department will be moved to fires on runners and wheels. All arrangements have been made for meeting an emergency of this kind and the worries of the chief officers of the department are now no greater than they were previous to the installing of motors in the department.

The Commissioner declared the horse-drawn hose wagons, taken out of commission when motors were installed, were all converted into pungs. This was done by taking the bodies with all their equipment off the running gear and mounting them on specially built runners, making a much better piece of fire-fighting machinery for snow service than the department ever had before.

In the old days when it was necessary to put the department on runners, common pungs were used. On the new pungs, all extinguisher carriers, brackets for axes, rakes and other equipment were left as they came from the wagons, even to the clothes baskets on the top and the large deck guns.

Fifteen of these pungs have been completed and ready for service. Arrangements were also made with the Jordan Marsh Company, S. S. Pierce and other firms which have heavy pungs suitable for Fire Department work, for the loan of these vehicles if needed.

For the transporting of these pungs to fires, Commissioner Glynn and Chief John O. Taber will begin by recalling 111 horses turned over by the Fire Department to the Park Department, Department of Public Works and other municipal departments when their places were taken by motors. These horses are all trained fire horses and can be placed in the fire stations at an hour's notice.

To supplement the horses from the city departments, the chiefs in the fifteen districts have already arranged with contractors and business houses in their districts for the use of horses in case of an emergency. More than 200 horses are listed and can be readily obtained.

Many of the stations which have been equipped with motor apparatus have been stripped of stables and stalls, but if horse-drawn ladder trucks and hose pungs are put into these houses, picket lines will be set up back of the apparatus and the horses bedded down on the floors.

The putting of horse-drawn trucks and pungs in a station will not mean that the motors will be taken out of commission, as the horse-drawn machines will be used as auxiliary machines and will respond with the motors and get into places where the motors would become stalled.

According to chief officers of the department, the Boston Fire Department is better prepared to meet inclement weather troubles than ever before.

APPEAL FOR SOLDIERS.

Mayor Curley has issued an appeal in behalf of the stores at the corner of Boylston and Berkeley streets, where goods made by disabled soldiers in the hospitals are for sale, as follows:

"A group of patriotic and philanthropic women have established a store for the sale of goods manufactured in the various hospitals throughout the state by disabled soldiers. The establishment in question is located at Berkeley and Boylston streets. The price of the articles on sale is lower and the quality is as good as may be obtained anywhere. The lack of proper business training has resulted in an accumulation of a large stock with a limited demand.

"In view of the fact that the major portion of the proceeds is devoted to the benefit of men maimed in the World War, I respectfully request that publicity be given in order that an appreciative and generous public may have opportunity to buy, either for their friends or for the benefit of some charitable organization, some of the goods that with proper advertising would find a ready market."

PERMITS APPROVED.

The Mayor has approved the following applications received from the Board of Street Commissioners:

John E. Malloney et al., 85 Radcliffe street, Ward 19, one car.

Emma J. Olson, 6 Stafford street, Ward 17, one car.

Margaret A. Darling, 38 and 40 Burton street, Ward 26, two cars.

Hedwig N. Gruhn, 58 Ainsworth street, Ward 23, two cars.

Millie C. Hughes, 36 Easton street, Ward 26, two cars.

Mary J. Townsend, 32 Woodbine street, Ward 16, two cars.

Charles Wolbarst, 29 Brinsley street, Ward 19, two cars.

Eastern Steam Laundry Company, 941 Massachusetts avenue, Ward 11, acetylene and oxygen.

Pilgrim Laundry Company, 65 Allerton street, Ward 12, acetylene and oxygen.

Edison Electric Illuminating Company, Carson street, Ward 1, erect four poles.

Thompson & Speare, 126 Broad street, Ward 5, area.

MAYOR WOULD AMEND LAW.

Mayor Curley favors changing existing buildings laws, so as to permit the erection of structures 125 feet high in the business district of Boston.

The Mayor so declared to the City Planning Board Zoning Committee in session at City Hall, upon the 27th instant. He said he has requested City Building Commissioner John H. Mahony to draft a new Boston building law for submission to the incoming session of the Massachusetts Legislature, with this end in view.

Better ventilation, better lighting and better fire protection may be realized by this change, Mayor Curley believes, if a setback is arranged for every five or ten stories, as is done in New York city for structures resembling the Woolworth Building.

LIP-READING CLASSES.

The second term of the free evening class in lip-reading for deaf and those of impaired hearing opens Tuesday, January 2, in the library of the English High School, Montgomery street. The class for beginners meets every Monday and Thursday, and the advanced class meets every Tuesday.

These lessons, under the auspices of the City of Boston, are free to all residents. A small tuition fee is charged for nonresidents. Experienced teachers of the deaf will have charge.

LIBRARY EXHIBIT.

An exhibition of the little known craft of stained glass is being shown in the Art Department Exhibition Room of the Boston Public Library.

Many excellent examples of stained glass work, reproducing the wonderful old twelfth and thirteenth century cathedral windows of France, both in photographs and water color studies, made by Mr. Charles J. Connick during his recent stay in Europe, will recall the many old cathedral windows in France.

The various stages in the evolution of a window are represented by water color sketches made to scale, full size black and white cartoons, actual medallions showing the radiant quality of light shining through pure color, and photographs of many completed windows which have been made by Mr. Connick.

The exhibition supplements Mr. Connick's talk about the stained glass craft at the library on Thursday evening, December 28. His talk will be illustrated by many remarkable autochrome photographs of the old cathedral windows, modern English work, and Mr. Connick's own work.

ADDITIONAL COASTING PRIVILEGES.

The order of the Board of Street Commissioners, dated December 14, 1921, approved by the Mayor December 19, 1921, designating the following public ways of the City of Boston as streets where coasting may be permitted: Weld Hill street, Walk Hill street and Anawan avenue has been revoked and amendment made as follows:

To strike out from the West Roxbury paragraph of said order the following:
